Vegetables To Plant In Home Gardens

During the hot summer and late fall most people neglect their gardens from the standpoint of producing vegetables for their home. The 1st to 15th of July the following vegetables with leading varieties are listed below:

- Irish Potatoes—Lookout Mountain, Irish Cobblers (from cold storage).
- Corn — Stonewall Evergreen, or Country Gentleman.
- Beans: (Snap bush) Bountiful or late Refugee.
- Tomatoes: (plants) Stone and Ac-

Sprays To Use

If you have worms boring into your tomatoes and the fruit rotting, vines showing blight, or leaf spots, I would advise spraying thoroughly with the following spray:

3-4 ounce of calciumarsenate, 1-2 ounces builders' lime, 6 to 8 teaspoons Bordeaux mixture per gallon, and 3 gallons water.

For watermelons that show burning of leaves near the base of the plant a disease known as anthracnose, spray thoroughly with Bordeaux mixture, using 6 to 8 teaspoonfuls per gallon. Begin spraying melon vines when they begin to run and spray every 10 days until the melons are three-fourths grown.

Plant Lice: Spray with nicotine sulphate, using 1 tablespoonful per gallon of water and spray the plant thoroughly. The little green plant lice on vegetables and trees, or shrubs cannot be poisoned with arsenate of lead, but with nicotine sulphate which may be bought at any drug store. This will control the lice if spraying is done thoroughly.

The boll weevil is still doing damage in the county and I find that squares are beginning to drop from the effects of the puncture. Sweetened poison continues to be used freely, and I would advise you to use it within the next few days if you expect to get the best advantage, or results from this mixture. Cotton is growing so fast that within the next few days Calcium arsenate dust will be the only satisfactory method of weevil control. Quite a bit of dusting will be carried on next week. Splendid results have been obtained by the use of poisoning this year.

The Short Course As a 4-H Club Girl Saw It

On Thursday, the 13th of June, six happy Laurens county 4-H club girls met in Laurens to go to Winthrop for the short course. I was among the fortunate six to receive this trip.

Mr. Riddle and Mr. Burns, two very reliable and efficient taxi drivers, carried us over to Winthrop. We arrived at 4:30 P. M. This was my first trip to Winthrop and as those beautiful grounds came into view I was filled with awe. Our state college for girls is a beautiful place.

The first thing we did was to register, then we were shown to our rooms, where we rested until supper. That evening we saw Mary Pickford in "My Best Girl." On the 14th our real work started, and you have heard being-as busy as bees, well, that is just what we girls were for one week. Miss Gilliam, our agent, had gone ahead to Rock Hill, so she made us feel very much at home and introduced us to many new girls. Soon we were one big family. The women who went for this short course were real mothers to us and I want to thank them for their kind thoughtfulness.

I hardly know how to tell of the many things we learned. Miss Biggs gave an interesting talk on "The 4-H Girl's Wardrobe." We learned from her just how to buy clothes so as to have suitable dresses for every occasion. After Miss Biggs told us how to buy, we went to another lecture on "The Properly Groomed Girl," by Dr. Nelle Cooper. She told us how and when to wear the clothes we had bought. I enjoyed very much "The Watch Miss Rit Dye" demonstration. In this we were taught how to dye clothes successfully. In other words we learned how to make a brand new dress from an old one.

Next we saw our programs "A New Fad, Room 28," so of course we wanted to know what the new fad was. When we left room 28 we know how to make beautiful paper belts. Then in the study of industrial arts we made attractive little foot-stools, which we were allowed to bring home with us.

I visited the museum, went on the art tour, and heard nature talks, all of which proved very interesting. Then, too, I found the hours of swimming and recreation very pleasant. Miss Gilliam, ever thoughtful of our interest and pleasure, carried us for a visit to the city of Rock Hill, where we again enjoyed the movies.

But I believe I enjoyed most of all the meeting and mingling with the two hundred and fifty girls from all over the state of South Carolina. That alone was indeed worth the trip.

On Friday morning we looked out to see Mr. Burns and Mr. Riddle ready to bring us home. We arrived in Laurens about 2:30 P. M. We thank Mr. Cannon who helped to make our trip possible, also Miss Gilliam, who kindly directed and cared for us while at Winthrop.

I am sure we all want to remember the farewell words of the editors of the Palmetto Short Course. Daily News: "There is nothing finer than being able to work and live together happily and profitably."

Hight Lights On the State Short Course

I regret that every woman in Laurens county could not enjoy the privilege I have just experienced—a trip to the short course at Winthrop. Due to not being organized in club work the delegates from our county could not participate in the votings in the council meetings. However, we did receive an inspiration and hope that next year we may climb up among the other counties in the state.

The most unusual feature about the program was its variety and broadness. The general theme was "The Well-Dressed Family, about which was centered health, food, clothing, general appearance, and recreation. We found that no family could be well-dressed if the health of every individual was not good. Since good health comes as a result of proper diet plenty of recreation and well-balanced meals must be had.

Another asset in being well-dressed is the proper care of the hair, nails, and skin. With all these carefully guarded then the individual must select clothing suitable to the individual in line, color and cost. This brought us to the climax where each woman cut and fitted a cotton dress for herself. Each of the two hundred and fifty women used the same pattern, but when they were finished so much originality had been used that no two were alike. The dresses proved very reasonable, the entire cost being one dollar.

There were specialists in each of these various lines, from big corporations who had carefully studied the subject and were able to give out valuable information. I do not feel that the actual value of my trip could be estimated from a money standpoint, because I feel that the contact with such fine women from over the state, the new ideas developed, and the large amount of information given has an inestimable value.

I hope that next year Laurens county, through her organization, can carry to Winthrop a report that we will be proud of. This can only come through the co-operation of every farm woman in this county. Then let us all back Miss Gilliam in this work, in order that our county may stand out.

Mrs. Pluss Brown.

Marketing Specialist Visits the Laurens Curb Market

Miss Jane Ketchen, marketing specialist from Winthrop college, met with the club market in Laurens Saturday morning. Her chief aim was to set forth the standards of organization of club markets under the supervision of home demonstration work. She also gave helpful suggestions as to how to improve and enlarge the market.

I feel that the women of this county have done an excellent piece of work in this club market for the past three years carrying on the market without a leader. We hope to re-organize this club within the next few weeks, and would like to hear from any one in the county who would be interested in selling produce through the market. It is the aim of the market to give to the people of Laurens fresh, and canned vegetables, dairy products, and poultry products at market prices. The market is open from 7:30 until 10 o'clock every Saturday morning.

PLEASE IN FAVOR OF ORGANIZATION

Tells Mill Workers To Run Own Affairs In Speech At Anderson. To Run for Senate In 1930.

Anderson, June 29.—Cole L. Blease, South Carolina's junior U. S. senator, told Anderson mill workers, at a meeting last night, that he was in favor of any organization of labor among cotton mill operatives in the state.

The senator said he was "heartily in favor" of any "legal" organization of the cotton mill people in the state, but he did not favor those organizers preaching lawlessness, communism or I. W. W. ism. He was against "any Yankee trash running around down here stirring up devilment," Senator Blease declared.

"I would be a traitor to the mill operatives of my state," he shouted, "not to call their attention to the dangers of communism, that places all laborers, white or black, on the same equality. You should organize yourselves, among yourselves. You can get consideration at the hands of manufacturers without having to send up North to get a committee to go in and talk with the officials."

He opposed the Whettler resolution in the senate to investigate textile mill condition, Senator Blease said, "because it was an attempt to bring a group of senators from states that never owned cotton mills into the South for the sole purpose of holding up this section to the ridicule and contempt of the nation and to drive out what industries we have and prevent others from coming."

"I am in favor of an investigation if it is conducted by the department of labor or the department of justice, but I will never vote for a senatorial investigation of mill conditions," he added.

Senator Blease said he would be a candidate for re-election to the United States senate next year.

The ACE OPEN COIL SPRING

Strongly made to support heavy people... yet so flexible that it responds to the weight of a child... An assurance of sound sleep

THE ACE OPEN COIL SPRING is the finest spring of its type that it is possible to produce. It contains more coils than most springs—and every coil is made of specially tempered steel to assure just the right resiliency. Small "governor" springs prevent all sideways. There can be no rocking or tilting. The frame is of rigid steel. Top is finished perfectly smooth. There is no other spring that offers so many advantages at anywhere near its low price.
