International Sunday School Lesson for August 4
BELSHAZZAR'S FEAST
 Daniel 5:17-28

Serious elements of weakness were operating among the Chaldeans, and the Medes from the north were campaigning against the capital. At this very time they were encamped about the city. But Belshazzar was intent on his self gratification. In this he was in accord with the courtiers, all of whom should have been alert to drive back the invading army.

As an expression of their indifference a royal banquet was arranged, and it was participated in by 1,000 lars, with their wives and concubines. When the brain of the king ceased to function normally as its action was distorted by alcohol, always a poison, he tried to think of some excess in rivalry that would surpass the last occasion. Then he ordered that the gold and silver vessels be brought, which had been taken as booty when the temple at Jerusalem had been destroyed about 49 years before. These were filled with wine and the already intoxicated crowd was invited to drink therefrom as they followed the king's example. It would be hard to think up a grosser act of flagrant impiety. Revelry broke loose in wilder manner than ever.

Sobering came suddenly, however, as in consternation they saw what appeared like just a man's hand writing on the wall. When none could interpret the meaning, the wise men and magicians were called in. They, too, were helpless, though the king promised great wealth for the meaning of those three words. In this plight the queen, possibly the widow of Nebuchadnezzar, reminds that Daniel had been able to give the meaning of dreams, and once when the kings could not even recall the dream itself.

Daniel is summoned. It is interesting to note that he was not participating in the licentious wild banquet. Not for the sake of the reward but as the spokesman of God he will announce the interpretation, though it will not be pleasing to the great audience assembled. It is of value to know various languages but it is of decidedly greater importance to understand the language of God in whatever tongue the utterance may be given. Our Great Teacher is always seeking to speak to his children through the very routine of life as well as by special approaches.

Three words stood out on the plaster. They referred to time, weights and measures. The interpretation indicated utter failure of Belshazzar's rule.

Lawrence Bolt Granted Bail

Greenwood, July 29. — Lawrence Bolt, Laurens county farmer, charged with the murder of his wife, Anna Tumblin Bolt, at their home in the Hickory Tavern section on June 14, was granted bail in the sum of $3,000 here today by Circuit Judge C. C. Featherstone upon application of Wilson and Sullivan, attorneys for the defendant. Solicitor Homer S. Blackwell consented to the amount on the circumstantial evidence introduced at the coroner's inquest.

Judge Featherstone's order provides that the bond be signed by not less than two nor more than five sureties in aggregate amount.

Bolt was arrested soon after his wife was fatally shot early on the morning of June 24. He made a voluntary statement before the coroner's jury, declaring that Mrs. Bolt shot herself after a quarrel with him at the breakfast table when she told him to leave home.

ATTEND MEET IN FLORENCE

Officers of Local Association Go To Pee Dee City for State Building and Loan Convention.

The annual convention of the South Carolina Building and Loan League held this year at Florence in conjunction with the Southeastern Building and Loan group was attended from Clinton by Wm. P. Jacobs, who, as president of the league, presided over the convention. Accompanying Mr. Jacobs, who is also secretary-treasurer of the Clinton Building and Loan association, were Messrs. R. C. Adair, vice-president and director; John F. Norris, assistant secretary-treasurer, and A. W. Brice. The convention was well attended and featured by a banquet given by the Florence people at which Dr. D. W. Daniel of Clemson college, was the principal speaker.

The address of President Jacobs before the assembly was the key note speech of the convention and outlined the progress of building and loan in South Carolina through the past year, and offered recommendations for the operation of building and loan for the future.

Rock Hill was selected as the next meeting place.

At the meeting of the Southeastern Building and Loan group covering and attended by representatives from associations in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee, H. C. Wooten of Hickory, N. C., was elected president; Mrs. Walter Miller of Jacksonville, Fla., 1st vice-president; Wm. P. Jacobs of this city, 2nd vice-president, and Horace Russell of Atlanta, Ga., secretary-treasurer. The Southeastern group will next meet in Palatka, Fla.
