Dusting for Boll Weevil Continues
As a Success

During the past week, O. C. Lewis, Clemson college student, whose headquarters are with the Planters Produce and Storage Co., Florence, has spent his second week in the county assisting the county agent in boll weevil work. Again we have proof of the statement that weevils can be controlled in cotton. About 1600 to 1700 acres were inspected, with an average of 6-10 per cent infestation where poisoning has been carried on, with 40 per cent infestation where no poisoning was done. One of the best results on poisoning that I know of was found on the farm of Rush Rowland, Sandy Springs section. On July 19th an inspection was made of a field on his farm, which ran 94 per cent infestation in one spot, and an average of 47-1-3 per cent. On August 2nd I rechecked this same field after two applications of poisoning was used and squares picked up. The average infestation for this field was 2-3-4 per cent. If Mr. Rowland can get results you can too.

Red Spider

For the past two weeks a number of calls have come to this office stating that the red spider is damaging cotton. The spider is a very small reddish spinning mite on the under side of cotton leaves. These spiders suck the sap from the leaf and will cause the leaves to turn reddish in color and later on shed off. In case you have red spiders use 1 gallon of lime sulphur solution, the material that is used to spray peach trees in winter, to 100 gallons of water and spray thoroughly, or take 1 pound of cooking flour and mix thoroughly with 1 gallon of water and bring to a good boil. Then dilute with 9 gallons of water, and spray the cotton thoroughly. Yard violets and polk stalks are plants where the red spider starts.

Lice On Cotton

In some sections of the county lice are beginning to show up rather freely, especially after heavy dusting with calcium arsenate. To control same it is best to use a two or three per cent of nicotine sulphate dust. To make a three per cent dust take 3 pints or 50 pounds of hydrated, or builders' 3-3-4 pounds of nicotine and mix with lime. The mixing and applying is as follows:

1. Put 50 pounds of hydrated lime in a calcium arsenate barrel. Pour on top of the lime the necessary amount of nicotine sulphate, containing 40 per cent nicotine.

2. For each pound of dust use one-half pound of rocks or pebbles from 3-4 to 1-1-2 inches in diameter in the mixer.

3. Do not rotate the barrel too freely. About 35 revolutions per minute is the proper speed. The barrel can be rotated by slowly rolling in yard.

4. Each batch should be rotated for five minutes by the watch—no guessing.

Pour the dust through screen to get out the rocks.

After mixing, the dust should be stored in tight metal drums, if it is not to be used at once.

How To Use Nicotine Dust

Apply only when air is absolutely quiet and when temperature is above 75 degrees. When applied under these conditions, complete control has been obtained by using 8 pounds per acre of 2 per cent in the fore part of a warm night. When applied under less favorable conditions of the weather, it will probably be best to use a 2-1-2 to 3 per cent dust at the rate of 8 to 10 pounds per acre. It is almost impossible, however, to obtain good results if there is sufficient air movement to cause the slightest drifting. Nicotine dust can be applied in the daytime with as good results as when applied at night, provided weather conditions mentioned above can be obtained.

Any good dusting machine that puts out calcium arsenate satisfactorily will handle nicotine dust. Set nozzles of the machine so the dust will be blown down through the cotton.

One application is usually sufficient to clean up lice infestation if put on when there is absolutely no air movement.

Nickel Shine Boy
Makes His Debut

Believe it or not—the five cents shine boy, who disappeared from the scene during the late war, has again put in his appearance. The lad who has rejuvenated the nickel shine is Walter Dean, 12 years of age, and he is now seen frequently on the streets with his "stand" strapped across his back.

There is an interesting and rather pathetic story back of Walter and his trade. The lad with his mother and two smaller brothers, moved here three weeks ago from Augusta where he served his apprenticeship at the shine stand. Deprived of husband, the mother has secured work at a local mill and this plucky little son by his efforts is assisting in the support of the family. During a week's work he gathers up many nickles to add to the family's needs in spite of the fact that he is not a strong child physically. His business is being "built up" every day, Walter says, and why shouldn't it when his efforts are to aid in providing maintenance for a needy family. The nickel shine boy is something new—his motives are highly commendable.

Bishop Cannon
Assails Critics

Washington, Aug. 5.—The answer of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, to the various charges which have been published against him recently was made available to papers today in a 15,000-word statement.

In it the bishop went at length into the charges of profiteering in flour during the war, the criticisms of his stock-market transactions, the charge that he had used funds of the board of temperance and social service of his church to further the election of President Hoover thru organization of the anti-Smith Democrats of Virginia, and the contention that he has improperly used his church office.

He restated his denials of wrongdoing in every instance, reiterated his opposition to former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for president; Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee, and Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, and declared:

"Either Raskobism must be discarded and repudiated, or dry Southern Democrats are of necessity permanently out of the party."

Robertson Does Not Recall Act

Columbia, Aug. 3.—T. Earle Robertson doesn't remember anything about the killing of four men in Spartanburg yesterday, he said today at the state hospital where he is under observation.

Robertson talked a little more than he did late yesterday and last night, when first brought to the hospital. He was seen by Dr. C. Fred Williams and Dr. E. L. Horger and to them he had slightly more to say than yesterday, but his speech then was limited. He would say nothing definite.

He said he did not remember anything about what took place in Spartanburg, and if anything had happened he did not know what it was about. He appeared very much more nervous than last night.

Robertson slept a little last night, Dr. Horger said, but was very restless. Two attendants were placed in his room, mainly to prevent him from working violence to himself. Dr. Horger stated that it will probably be two weeks before any diagnosis of the man's case can be made and before he can be classified. He will have to be given plenty of time to quiet down.
