FLUTES OF SILENCE

Sometimes I think the sweetest thing in all the world is listening— No heart but finds surcease from pain In the soft rhythm of night rain; And he is glad again, and strong, Who hears a redbird's winter song; Peace comes beneath gnarled orchard trees To murmuring of summer bees— And when upon some far, high hill, Or in some dim wood, green and still, "The flutes of silence" play for me, Then that is very ecstasy!

PUTNAM-McTEER WEDDING

A wedding, sweet in its simplicity, was that of Miss Ethel Putnam of this city, and James Raymond McTeer of Walterboro, on last Thursday afternoon, at four o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Putnam.

The ceremony room, where an improvised altar had been built of ferns, lilies, graduated baskets of asparagus fern and clematis, was appropriate with only white pedestals holding palms.

Preceding the ceremony a pre-nuptial musical program was rendered by Mrs. Bannie Parrott as accompanist for Mr. Parrott, who sang "All For You" and "At Dawning." Mrs. C. Rhett Riddle of Spartanburg, aunt of the bride, played the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin as a "processional, while "To a Wild Rose" was softly played during the ceremony. Mrs. Riddle was attired in a lovely afternoon frock of pink georgette.

The first to enter from the hallway was Master Boyd Woolen of Charlotte, who spread a white canopy for the bridal party. Rev. Edward Long, pastor of the bride, who performed the ceremony, entered from a side door.

Next to enter from the hall was the groom accompanied by his best man, Bates Scoggins of Ridgeville. Little Emily Copeland, scattered rose petals from an arm basket tied with pink tulle. She was dainty in a little lavender crepe, frilled with footing. Entering with the bride from the dining room was Miss Willie Putnam, only sister, as maid of honor. She was gowned in a blue chiffon, with tiered skirt, draped and caught with rhinestones. Her slippers were of blue and she wore a picture hat of pink horse hair braid and lace. An arm bouquet of pink gladioli, tied with matching tulle completed her costume.

The bride was lovely in her going away suit of midnight blue faille crepe, with slippers and hose in harmonizing shade. Her hat of midnight blue felt, was close fitting with a single ornament. Accessories were in matching shades of blue. Her bridal flowers were orchids and bride's roses, showered with swansonia.

After the young couple had been united by the impressive ring ceremony, an informal reception was held. Mrs. T. J. Leake welcomed the guests and invited them into the dining room where a color scheme of green and gold was carried out. Baskets of golden glow and asparagus fern were pretty in appointment. A large white bell, showered and hanging over the dining table with an Irish lace cover, was an attractive feature. Green and gold cream and angel cake was served by Misses Alma and Zelma Davis and Miss Lois Dilworth of Newry. Little Eleanor Copeland passed green mints. Serving punch on the porch were Mrs. Bannie Parrott and Mrs. Walter Hunter of Winter Park, Fla. Mrs. S. B. Wilson of Piedmont, presided over the bride's registrar.

Mrs. McTeer is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Putnam, and is an attractive and accomplished young woman. She has taught successfully for the past few years.

Mr. McTeer is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. McTeer of Walterboro. He received his education at Clemson college and is now connected with the South Carolina Power Co., with headquarters at Denmark, where the young couple will make their home.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McTeer of Walterboro, Bates Scoggins of Ridgeville, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Woolen and Boyd Woolen of Charlotte, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Riddle of Spartanburg, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Wilson of Piedmont, Miss Lois Dilworth of Newry, Mrs. M. H. Cofer and daughter of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. R. M.
