

THREE DOOMED TO PAY LIVES

Appeal of Trio in Beaufort Officer Slaying Lose in Supreme Court. To Die September 27.

Columbia, Aug. 31.—Paul Francis, Frank Francis and Abraham Gadsden will pay with their lives for the killing of Rural Policeman E. L. Lanford, of Beaufort county. Their appeal was refused by the Supreme court today and the date for their electrocution set for Friday, September 27.

James N. Pearman, superintendent of the penitentiary, was notified by J. B. Westbrook, clerk of the Supreme court, that the sentence of the lower court had been affirmed and the remittur was sent down to the clerk of the court of general sessions of Beaufort county.

Gadsden and Paul and Frank Francis were found guilty of first degree murder and were sentenced to death by electrocution. Ethel Francis, wife of Frank, and Robert Adams were sentenced to life imprisonment. Simmons was found guilty of manslaughter.

"Very Latest"

By Cecile

For the first cool days of fall—what more charming than this feminine little coat by Lucien Lelong, developed in green crepe and trimmed with grey fox fur? It is still too warm for the be-furred collars—yet we do crave the touch of fur. Here the collar and cuff treatment gives us both in swagger and most comfortable way.

The flared lines of the skirt section, too, are interesting. Trimly flat they lie against the figure at the front and sides, with the circular suggestion occurring toward the center back in a form that gives the dipping back movement which is very new in coats.

Fullness Placed Low on Coats

While well aware that fall coats will be fuller than those we have worn for some time—do we all know that this fullness will be placed low? Also, that coats will be at least two or three inches longer than formerly? These are two important points to remember—if you are looking for a coat that's very latest.

Metal Combines with Chiffon

For evening, sheer weaves of marquisette and chiffon combine with metallic cloths in a most effective manner. One model shows a sheath-like top of gleaming shaded metal cloth, finished with a flounced skirt of black chiffon. Another employs floating panels of pleated chiffon upon a gown of printed metal marquisette.

Backs are Very Low

And evening gowns are as decollete as it is possible to wear them—in the back. In front the preferred line seems to be camisole; but once over the shoulder it may depend in a deep V to the waistline—and be considered extremely chic.

Tinted Gloves for Evening

It is hinted that—when we are not wearing black suede gloves with our smart evening costume in black—we will be wearing long crushed gloves of tinted suede to match exactly the color of the gown.

ON GETTING A HUSBAND

In spite of the freedom girls today enjoy, there is a large group of young women who cannot get husbands. It is for them that beauty and charm columns are run in the newspapers.

These columns tell you that you must be neat in appearance, a good housekeeper, a fine cook, modest and yet entertaining, and that you must never let a man see your faults. I do not doubt that many girls are impressed by this information.

But it is shallow. It makes serious, fundamental principles out of superficial frills. It may be one way of getting a husband, but it is not the best way. Nor will it hold.

Getting a husband does not depend upon the fragrance of your perfume, the color of your hair, your ability as a cook, nor the amount of "come-hither" in your eyes.

Getting a husband depends, fundamentally and primarily, upon the amount of physical attraction you possess. And I do not mean that a girl must be vampish or even beautiful.

The amount of physical attraction a girl possesses depends upon how much of real woman she is. A real woman is strong. She can run and jump and wrestle. She swims, plays tennis, enjoys walking. You know at a glance that she would bear normal, healthy children. She is full of vigor and enthusiasm. Vivacity is her greatest charm. Every cell in her body and brain is alive and functioning. Life, to her, is an interesting and thrilling experience. She drains every moment of all it holds.

I am not discounting the value of such womanly virtues as cooking, housekeeping and neat appearance. Nor am I ignoring beauty or charm. But I do say that these so-called beauty experts over-emphasize these attributes. It is not a game of love, but attraction is not a game of love, but attributes.

Every girl should know that sex a powerful tool in the hands of Nature through which the propagation of the human race is assured. The more pronounced the sex characteristics, the greater the attraction. Whatever your endowment may be you can further emphasize it by paying attention to physical culture rules.

NEHEMIAH REBUILDS THE WALLS OF JERUSALEM
Nehemiah 4:6, 15-21

The cup-bearer to the king was not supposed to reflect any personal sorrows in his countenance. One day it was otherwise with Nehemiah as he appeared before Artaxerxes in one of the Babylonian palaces. "Why are you sad?" brought out a serious situation of the returned pilgrims who went forth on two expeditions to Jerusalem. It seems that Hanani, a relative of Nehemiah, had recently come from Judea and related how poorly affairs were going with the Jews in the rebuilding project. One serious fact was that the walls of the city were still broken down and there could be no seclusion for reconstruction or safety against the enemy as long as this was so.

The second question was a genuine surprise. "For what does thou request?" said the king. Nehemiah had his own eager desire but he had not framed it for presentation, but with quick uplift in prayer unto Jehovah he expressed his patriotic longing. He would be glad to be commissioned by Artaxerxes to lead a third expedition back to the land whence they had been taken captive.

After quietly meeting leaders for three days Nehemiah planned a night ride about Jerusalem that he might make a thorough survey of the needs. Then he organized a real building program. The walls were divided into 44 sections and a designated group was appointed to build each part. Read Nehemiah 1-7 for the full context, and plenty of thrills will be found in the plots and the counter plots.

Three men are named who tried to frustrate every project of Nehemiah. Behind them were the Samaritans and seven other peoples, all of whom made up a coalition against the Jews. The opposition became still more aggressive when the walls were half up, possibly to a height of 10 feet. All sorts of arguments were presented to delay the building. One weapon was ridicule, as the enemy would come close to the walls and scoff at the workmen, declaring the walls could not keep out even a fox. Open letters were sent, charging Nehemiah with various plots against Babylon. They tried to get him to attend a conference and his reply was "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down." When they threatened his life friends advised that he seek refuge in the temple. Nehemiah boldly answered: "Should such a man as I flee?"

PAINS Went Away

"I WAS very much run-down in health. I had a dreadful ache across the middle of my back. I had a dull, tired feeling, and I dreaded the thought of having to do my household tasks. I was tired when I got up in the morning. I got no rest from my sleep, and I was sleepy all day long."

"My husband got a bottle of Cardui for me. It was not long before I began to show a decided improvement. My strength began to return and I felt much more like myself. The sleepy spells gradually quit and the pains in my back and sides disappeared."

"Cardui is a splendid tonic for women. I proved it for myself."—Mrs. J. E. Shelley, Box 22, R. F. D. 1, Electra, Texas.
