

NAME LEADERS FOR CAMPAIGN

Further Selection of Laymen and Pastors for Zone Divisions Brings Debt Raising Plans Forward.

Chairman and associate chairmen have been obtained for the twenty-eight groups into which the Synod of South Carolina has been divided for the carrying out of the Presbyterian college $350,000 program of deliverance.

These group chairmen and associates are now busy, in turn, obtaining the services of chairmen for the churches in their respective groups. Each church in the synod is to have a chairman and a campaign committee, with the pastor as associate chairman, to carry on its part of the movement to raise the funds necessary to deliver Presbyterian college from the burden of debt.

When the organization is complete—the church chairmen are to be obtained by October 17, and the church committee by October 24—more than a thousand laymen and pastors will have been welded into a strong force for the waging of the campaign.

Growing enthusiasm for the program has been noted throughout the state, for the program not only will deliver the college from the burden of debt, but also will deliver the church from the burdensome emergency contributions for college operating expense and life-sapping interest payments on the debt.

The group chairmen and associate group chairmen follow:

Adams Declared Not Guilty

Greenville, Oct. 12.—J. J. Adams, former president of Laurens National bank, was acquitted of several charges of violating Federal banking statutes with opening of a sealed verdict in United States criminal court yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The closed verdict was returned by the jury about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon after about three hours' deliberation.

The trial of Adams on numerous counts, which grew out of the failure of the Laurens bank early in 1928, began Monday afternoon and consumed nearly four days of the session.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

International Sunday School Lesson for October 20
USEFUL WORK A CHRISTIAN DUTY

When about to graduate from college the mother of a classmate asked the privilege of giving to the two young men three rules for happiness. With all solemnity she stated them as "Work, Work, Work!" Eight selected verses or portions of Scripture are given for intensive study and all are printed in full in the various helps. They are to be studied both singly and collectively and are Genesis 2:15; Exodus 20:9; Nehemiah 6:3; John 5:17; 9:4; Acts 20:33-35; 2 Thessalonians 3:6-12; Ephesians 4:28.

Work is far more than the means of obtaining a living in this world. It is man's friend and solace. In "Katrine," by Elinor Macartney Lone, the incident is told of two children who were punished. The girl cried the rest of the morning but the boy went out to make swings. Then Josef says of the hardest kind of work, "It's a great gospel—that I wish I could teach it to every woman on earth. Don't cry! Make swings!" The day is past when anyone thinks that a man can be both pious and lazy. These eight Bible references are all to the contrary.

Adam was started right when Jehovah directed him to be a good tiller of the soil. The old saying has a modern application that "Satan finds some work for idle hands to do." It is an honor to clasp the hardened hand of a toiler and it is also good when the flabby handed get the idea that honest toil is honorable. The title insists that useful work is a Christian duty.

Emphasis is given to the necessity for six days of toil that preceded the Sabbath rest. The Hebrews were absolutely right in requiring that each son learn a trade and the daughters were taught to excel in their own spheres. Work is opposite from selfishness for therein a reasonable return in value is given for every dollar received. It is fine when one is so absorbed with the task in hand that they give a similar reply to that presented by Nehemiah: "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down."

Jesus declared that He must act in harmony with the Father Who was Architect as well as Builder. The Nazarene toiled as a carpenter and learned a practical sympathy for all others who wrought by their labor. He was also a Kingdom-builder during his entire public ministry. He had much to do in his 33 years on earth but at last he could say, "It is finished."

Paul was a good tentmaker as well as a heart-searching preacher. To the Thessalonians he said, in our golden text, "If any man will not work, neither let him eat."

Pythians To Entertain Grand Lodge Officers

Of interest to members of the local K. of P. lodge is the news that the grand lodge officers of this state are to be present at the next meeting night, October 22nd. C. A. Edwards, grand chancellor, of Columbia, has signified his acceptance of the invitation to be present. Also C. D. Brown, grand keeper of records and seal, of Abbeville, will be here. Both men promise to bring additional brethren.

In addition the Anderson lodge will come over some thirty strong, and also bring several candidates for the first
