LABOR HEAD URGES SUPPORT OF RED CROSS

"Invariably it is the masses of the people which suffer most when disasters occur," stated William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently.

"Because they suffer most and because of their helplessness, the ministrations of the Red Cross organization take on added significance and importance. No doubt many lives among these particular groups are saved through the prompt service which this organization gives."

"Because the American Federation of Labor appreciates this fact, we have supplemented the appeal of the American Red Cross at each Roll Call period for memberships from the great mass of working men and women and their families."

"The continued service of the American Federation of Labor in this most humane and unselfish work will be most cheerfully rendered."

Mr. Green is a member of the Board of Incorporators of the American Red Cross.

NURSES ENROLLED WITH RED CROSS FOR SERVICE

Enrolled with the Nursing Service of the American Red Cross at Washington are 49,000 nurses, qualified under the society's regulations, who may be summoned to service in time of disaster or other emergency. From the Red Cross enrollment were assigned 20,000 nurses in the World War. These Red Cross nurses are the standing reserve of the Army and Navy Nurse Corps of the United States, and are also called upon for service in other governmental health services.

"Very Latests"

By Cecile

Fashioned with charming femininity, the new evening dresses are sure to delight.

Panne velvet is a favorite material for these garments, true to the current vogue of velvets.

The long bodice shown in the illustration is vastly becoming. Softness and fullness are given by shirrings at each hip.

The U-decolletage is finished in black with a spray of self flowers. A square of the fabric applied in an uneven line at the hip gives a circular effect.

Black of chamois beige, fandango red or Alice blue, are among the favorite colors. But there are many other color possibilities and the charm of these new evening gowns is unquestioned.

Have you seen the new antelope-finished handbags? They have the popular zip-top fastening, beautiful tailoring and frosted trimmings. Some have silk moire lining with mirror and purse.

The cream of society has now become the pistachio cream. That much is apparent to any observer of the fashionable. Also, it is interesting to see how the new silhouette has taken possession of even the sport type of wear. In place of the familiar contours of other years, there are frocks with lengthened skirts, high waistlines and molded hips.

Green, green everywhere. It's popular for evening gowns, and just as much in demand for sports clothes. Even daytime frocks reflect a partiality for green. A new model is a charming emerald silk crepe with elongated skirts in the back, a draped movement at the natural waistline which is accented by a bow of self-material, and, lastly, a collar of light tan georgette.

Lounging pajamas of velvet are the mode's latest word. They are fitted affairs in black, gray, pink and white. Made with a flaring skirt, and a veritable "coat tail" attached to the back. The wide trousers are executed in cream moire.

RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS PRINT BOOKS FOR BLIND

One of the most appealing services that is carried forward by women volunteers under the American Red Cross is that of transcribing popular and scientific books into Braille for reading by the blind. This work was started at Evergreen hospital, where blind veterans of the World War were sent after the Armistice.

The Red Cross now has 1,155 volunteer Braille transcribers, and last year they produced 442 titles in 1,849 volumes, or 175,000 pages of Braille. The majority of the books go to the Library of Congress and public libraries throughout the country, although some of the books go to schools for the blind and, in a few instances, text books are transcribed for some individual scholar in order to help him complete his course in some study.

The work is supported from the Red Cross Roll Call for members which occurs each year from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day.

AIRPLANES DROP TONS OF FOOD DURING FLOOD

Army, Navy and Alabama National Guard airplanes delivered twenty-five tons of supplies furnished by the American Red Cross to flood refugees who were completely cut off from any other aid, during the serious floods in four southeastern States early this spring.

The three services made an average of fifty flights a day, delivering medicine, food, clothing and blankets. Most of the supplies were dropped to the refugees who were isolated on hill tops and high ground, by the flood waters.

Naval aviators made a total of 115 flights during the flood period, embracing 15,000 miles. Observation planes also reported by radio where narrowed refugees could be located, and a magnificent program of co-operation with the Red Cross relief forces was carried forward by all three aviation services.
