

"Muhlenberg Traveler" To Visit St. John's Lutheran Church Here

The "Muhlenberg Traveler", 31-ton streamlined book-mobile operated by the United Lutheran Publication House of Philadelphia, Pa., carrying a complete stock of items available from that organization and its nationwide branches, will be in Clinton on Wednesday, January 13.

Open to the general public from 2 p. m. it will be parked at St. John's Lutheran church on Hampton avenue.

A special program, featuring the religious film, "Return To Faith", will be given at 8 p. m. After the program, the "Muhlenberg Traveler" will again be open to the public. A representative will be present to answer all questions.

The United Lutheran Publication House is the official publishing agency of the United Lutheran Church in America, largest Lutheran group in the United States. In addition to books, and periodicals, the Publication House distributes general church supplies, church furniture and vestments for clergy and choir, as well as a complete assortment of religious gift items for the home.

In addition to Philadelphia, the United Lutheran Publication House maintains branch stores in Chicago, Pittsburgh, Columbia, Baltimore, Los Angeles, New York, Kitchener, Ontario, and Des Moines, Iowa.

The "Muhlenberg Traveler" is a custom-made, 28-foot vehicle with specially built counters, closets, display cases and book shelves to accommodate the displays. The vehicle has its own generator, is ventilated by exhaust fans, and heated in cold weather by thermostatically controlled units.

This special unit is visiting towns in this area under the auspices of the Columbia branch of the United Lutheran Publication House in an effort to familiarize members of the Lutheran church with the services available through this agency of the church.

The pastor, J. Marion Rhoden, Jr., emphasizes the fact that everyone is invited to tour the "Traveler" and also to be present for the special program in the church at 8 p. m. on January 13.

Baldwin Motor Now Displaying New 1954 Ford

The 1954 Ford passenger cars, introduced to the public the first time yesterday, are now on display in the showrooms of Baldwin Motor company of this city, and feature the many Ford exclusives in the high value field, including among other features:

An entirely new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 engine with overhead valves; a new 115-h.p. I-block Mileage Maker Six engine, noted for economy and new ball-joint front suspension which Ford engineers call the greatest advance in front suspension in 20 years.

The two new Ford engines for 1954—the Y-block V-8 and the I-block Mileage Maker Six—were designed expressly to lead their respective fields and have been under development for the past six years," L. D. Crusoe, vice-president, Ford Motor Company, and general manager of Ford division, said.

Ford First To Offer V-8
"It always has been Ford's policy to design and build engines that set the pace for years ahead. Ford was the first to offer a V-8 engine in the low-price field, and although the majority of expensive cars joined the V-8 parade, Ford today is still the only car in its price class to have V-8 power.

"For 1954 Ford has perfected two new engines that are as far ahead in their fields as the original al Ford V-8. And they have the benefit of Ford 'knowhow' gained in building more than 16 million V-8 engines during the past 22 years."

L. W. Smead, Ford Division general

sales manager, pointed out that Ford's new overhead valve Y-block engine, with its deep-block construction, is of modern, short-stroke low-friction, high compression design. It has a compression ratio of 7.2 to 1 and is smoother, quieter and gives more responsive power life than last year's engine. It rates with greater economy and longer 130 brake horsepower, up 20 horsepower over the 1953 L-head V-8.
