EVERYDAY COUNSELOR

By Bishop Herbert Spangh

Why not plan to read your Bible through this year of 1961? Make it one of your New Year's resolutions and then keep it. You have been planning to do this for some time. Now commence. Let me suggest a simple plan. Count the pages of text material in your Bible. Divide it by 365. This will give you your daily portion. Commence with the New Testament and read it for one month. Read from the Old Testament the second month, then alternate your reading. If you prefer, you may read straight through. In this case, I recommend that you read the New Testament first and then the Old Testament.

This is not an impossible task. You spend much more time each day reading the newspaper and looking at television or listening to the radio. It all depends upon what you want to do.

There is no better habit to form than that of daily Bible reading. You should read briefly in the morning, to get a good start for the day. The major portion of your Bible reading can be done at night before you go to bed.

The late Henry Ford was a devout reader of the Bible. It is reported that he had a copy of the Bible in every room of his house. J. C. Penney, founder of the chain of stores which bear his name, was likewise a devout Bible reader.

It may surprise you to read the following from a recent newspaper feature story by Sidney Fields about Joan Crawford, the movie star: "And this is a curious and little-known fact about her: She can't start her day without reading something from the Bible. 'It's a happy way to begin the day,' she said. 'Joy is the greatest gift we can have. From it comes the capacity for work, for friendship, for personal honesty, and even for love. But to get them and keep them you always need strength, great strength' . . . she has beauty that defies age."

The Bible is a treasure chest for inexhaustible riches. It contains God's plan for man to live richly and fully. It contains the standards of successful living and the standards by which we will be judged when we stand in the presence of God.

In addition, its reading is fascinating. Every phase of life is covered. Every experience of man is recorded. It all happened once before. No matter what your experience may be, it is covered by the Bible. Every time I read a chapter I make a new discovery. It is the Book of time and eternity.

If you find difficulty in understanding the King James Version, try one of the modern versions such as the Revised Standard Version, or the New Testament in Modern English by Phillips.
