

Ambulance Bill Not Paid

Commissioners Approve Courthouse Roof Claim

The Laurens County Board of Commissioners has authorized payment for repairs to the County Courthouse roof but refused to pay claims submitted by the owner of an ambulance service in the Laurens area.

At its monthly session last Tuesday board members issued written statements explaining their action on the two issues.

In a statement concerning the board's refusal to authorize payment of $1,050 to the Bryan Craine Ambulance Service, the commissioners said they had no contract or agreement to "subsidize this service with county funds."

They said they had not been instructed by any other county official that such an agreement with the owner had been made in the "name of Laurens County."

Therefore, the board said, it "does not have any authority whatsoever" to pay out county funds for this purpose. "Further, we do not feel that funds collected from taxation on a countywide basis should be used to subsidize this service for one particular area of the county," the statement read.

The commissioners earlier had paid January, February and March bills totaling $450 after a majority of the County Legislative Delegation signed ambulance service claims.

No claims signed by the three members of the delegation have since been presented to the Board of Commissioners.

A bill for $1,450 for repairs to the courthouse roof in September was authorized for payment by the board after the three members of the County Legislative Delegation requested the payment in letters to the board, the commissioners said.

The commissioners agreed to pay the claim, "since the delegation has unanimously assumed the responsibility for authorizing this work and has given us a written commitment that the funds will be appropriated and ratified by an act of the next General Assembly and . . . the county treasurer has transferred the necessary funds."

Allen Coleman, county treasurer, notified the board Oct. 15 that special account had been set up from the unappropriated surplus of county funds, the commissioners said.

Darr Named Trustee

The Rev. J. H. Darr, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Clinton, was named a trustee of The Baptist Courier, weekly South Carolina Baptist publication, at the session of the S. C. Baptist Convention held last week in Charleston.

The Rev. J. C. Rice, of the Poplar Springs section of Laurens County, was named a trustee of the Bethel Home.

The Rev. Lloyd Hellams of Columbia, also known in Clinton, was elected to the board of trustees of Furman University.

Want A $50 Bill?

Six Clinton people can take home $250 and a bicycle this week if they are in the right place at the right time—if—and it's not too big an if—they can produce numbered ticket stubs when matching numbers are called Saturday night.

Five $50 bills and a bicycle are the prizes this week in the drawing conducted by progressive Clinton merchants on the parking lot of M. S. Bailey and Son, Bankers, at 6:45 Saturday night.

To win a prize, you must have ticket stubs given by merchants displaying Loyalty Days banners, who are sponsoring the fall trade festival which continues until December 21. At that time a brand-new 4-door Ford Falcon sedan will be given away.

So, get your tickets and come on out to the drawing. You may ride home on a fine new bicycle or take home a crisp $50 bill, spendable anywhere in the world.

Last week's winners of $50 bills were Allen Corley, 101 S. Broad St., and Boyce Lawson, route 1. Three other potential winners of $50 bills failed to answer when their numbers were called. Mrs. Mary Martin, 908 Sloan St., was the winner of a 22-inch TV set.

Voting in Tuesday's Annexation Election

Annexation Vote Is 329 to 13

Area Voted Into City Limits

How They Voted Tuesday

Precincts	For	Against	Total
Area To Be Annexed	34	2	36
City No. 1	116	4	120
City No. 2	140	7	147
Clinton Mill	39	0	39
Total	329	13	342

In Clinton's first annexation election in history, held on Tuesday, an area adjoining the southwest section of the city was voted into the city limits by a large majority. The vote was 329 to 13. The area contains approximately 200 residents.

Interest in the election was confined to a relatively few, as indicated by the extremely light vote—a total of 342 out of a probable registration of 2500.

All four boxes—three in the city and one in the area proposed to be annexed—voted for the annexation.

In the area proposed for annexation, the vote was 34 for, 2 against.

City No. 1 box at city hall voted 116 for, 4 against; City No. 2 box at Hampton Ave School, voted 140 for, 7 against; Clinton Mill box voted 100 per cent for the annexation—39-0.

The annexation procedure could conceivably be completed this week, according to City Attorney Cecil E. White. He stated that if a meeting of the County Board of Election Commissioners could be arranged immediately, the board could certify the results of the election to the Clinton City Council, which group could meet Friday in special session and declare the area to be annexed a part of the city.

At the time of going to press yesterday, it had not been determined just when the above steps would be taken.

PC's Religious Emphasis Program Now Underway

Five outstanding speakers are directing Presbyterian College student thinking on the theme "Where Is Your God" in the 1963 Religious Emphasis program here this week.

The program began on Wednesday and will extend through Friday.

Dr. Sherrard Rice, pastor of the Columbia First Presbyterian Church and the principal speaker, will deliver three morning sermons to the entire assembly. He opened yesterday morning and will follow with talks on Thursday and Friday at 10:00 a. m. in Belk Auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Dr. Rice also leads one of the five evening discussion groups being held as part of the religious program. Other visiting ministers assisting with discussion groups are: Dr. Clarence E. Piephoff, pastor of Greenville's Monaghan Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Jerry Hammet, minister to Presbyterian students at the University of South Carolina; the Rev. Edward L. Hopper, pastor of the Greenville Fourth Presbyterian Church; and the Rev. Hugh L. Eichelberger, Jr., pastor of the Rock Presbyterian Church of Greenwood.

The Religious Emphasis program at Presbyterian College is sponsored annually by the Student Christian Association. Current officers in charge of the 1963 effort include: Hugh Harris of Decatur, Ga., president; Ike Cobb of Decatur, Ga., vice-president; Melinda Gaines of Clinton, secretary; Sandy Hagood of Easley, treasurer; and Tom Currie of Carthage, N. C., Religious Emphasis chairman.
