Jones, Abrams Winners

Bob Jones of 105 Young Drive, is the winner this week of the $25 first prize in The Chronicle's football guessing contest.

Winner of the second prize of $10 is J. W. Abrams of 111 E. Walnut Street.

The games used for this reporting were those of the week-end of Sept. 24-25, and there were many upsets.

Consequently, those returning prognostications of the winners fared rather badly, with some of them doing better than six misses. And there were a good many who fell in that category—including both of the winners.

Jones picked Thornwell over McCormick, Catawba over Newberry, Georgia Tech over Texas A&M, Ohio State over North Carolina, and Notre Dame over Purdue.

Several persons failed to check the winner for every game, which made the entry form invalid.

This week, a change is being made in the procedure to make the game more fair for those who submit only one entry form and to eliminate the chance of one person winning both prizes.

From now on, a person may submit only one entry form. In case of a tie, the prize will be divided.

So, go to work, and really give it some thought. You might be lucky—in spite of the upsets.

County Teachers In First Meeting

The Laurens County Education Association had its first meeting at the Clinton High School last Thursday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by Robert Scott, the newly elected president of the association.

The invocation was given by Rev. E. W. Rogers of Broad Street Methodist Church, Clinton. Using "The Miracle Worker," a description of the training of Helen Keller, as a background, and with John 14:12 as a text, he inspired the large group of teachers with the idea that they might become "miracle workers" with the minds and lives of the pupils in Laurens County.

Eugene Stockman added to the above line of thought the fact that teachers should be especially proud of their profession and to give the profession and the professional association their support with a sincere professional spirit.

One of the high lights of the program was the rendition of several folk songs in a unique arrangement by a group of Clinton High School girls.

New teachers were introduced. The next associational meeting will be on Nov. 4 at Greenwood, with the other schools of this district.

Special Services Are Planned For St. John's Church

Dr. E. B. Keisler, interim pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, announces that the annual preaching-teaching mission will be conducted in that church during the week of October 10.

Services will be held each evening, Sunday through Friday. Dr. Keisler states that all his evening sermons during the week will be based on the parable of the king's son's marriage feast.

The Rev. Zeb C. Williams will serve during the week as the director of music, both for the featured congregational singing and for the special numbers, perhaps each evening.

A question and answer period which proved so popular last year will be used again this year.

Dr. Keisler said that while the services are naturally being planned primarily for the stimulation and edification of his own members, an invitation is extended to others in the community to attend.

PC Opens Home Slate Against Wofford Saturday Night at 8 on Johnson Field

An almost perfect game appears in store for football fans here Saturday night when Presbyterian's winless Blue Hose clash with Wofford's unbeaten Terriers.

It's an exciting match indeed, and anything can be expected when the upstart Hosemen and high-riding Terriers rip into each other at the 8 p.m. kickoff.

The Presbyterians are heavy bets to suffer their third consecutive setback, but tradition and the old underdog spirit back PC to knock off the Methodists from Spartanburg.

The biggest traditional advantage for Presbyterian is that the battle will be fought on friendly Johnson Field, where the Hosemen have not lost a game since 1963. Five straight opponents have fallen victim on the local field since then.

And more tradition on PC's side is the Hose-Terrier rivalry, which has seen Presbyterian whip Wofford 26 times, suffering defeat on 19 occasions, and tying three games since the first meeting in 1914.

And the Hosemen are certainly underdogs. Wofford hold a 35-27 win over Lenoir Rhyne and a 20-7 decision over Frederick, while the Blue Hose have been clipped 35-0 by Davidson and 35-14 by Lenoir Rhyne. "They gave us our first loss last year and we'd like to give them their first one this season," says Coach Cally Gault, who thinks his team is "much improved" for this game.

It would be one of the sweetest victories in several years if the Presbyterians could tumble the Terriers.

The desperate search for a quarterback to spark the offense may be solved according to Bill Kirtland "one of the finest freshman quarterbacks prospects ever at PC." The cool little signal-caller led PC to two touchdowns in last week's loss after taking over at halftime. He is expected to team with Fullback Sam Williams and Halfback Don McNeill and Wade Stewart in the PC backfield this Saturday.

Wofford has its own star-studded backfield, with speed and passing skill on hand. Quarterback Warren Whittaker, and Halfbacks Billy Ellis and Ted Phelps all have run circles around their opponents.
