Clinton Community Chest Is Honored in Charlotte

The Clinton Community Chest is taking its bows as South Carolina's outstanding United Fund campaign for 1965. Special recognition came last Thursday night from the Carolinas United Community Services at its annual awards dinner in Charlotte. Clinton Chest President G. Edward Campbell brought home a four-foot trophy presented as the Jefferson Standard Award by Charles H. Crutchfield of the Jefferson Standard Broadcasting Co. This trophy will remain in Clinton's possession throughout the year in recognition of the superlative effort which found $29,811.30 raised for the Community Chest of Greater Clinton during the campaign of last fall. The achievement, with Robert Wassung serving as drive chairman, represented 110 percent of the announced goal. Campbell and Wassung once again expressed deep appreciation to the entire community and to the many members of the working organizations for the success of the 1965 program. They said the trophy will be put on display by various local business establishments during the year, so that everyone may have the opportunity to see this symbol of Clinton's outstanding accomplishment. It will also serve as a reminder of the good works Clinton dollars will be underwriting through Community Chest participation. The Gastonia United Fund received the trophy as the best North Carolina program in 1965. Also sharing the Clinton spotlight in Charlotte was the Rock Hill organization with a special President's Trophy for sustained annual achievement, 1952-65.

Campaign for March Of Dimes Said to Be 'Most Encouraging'

Final tabulations of funds collected in the Clinton area for the 1966 March of Dimes are "most encouraging," according to Mrs. Marc Weersing, co-chairman for Laurens County.

Receipts indicate that residents of the Clinton-Joanna Mountville-Cross Hill section of the county have given twice the amount that was collected last year. Especially to be commended are the youth of Clinton who completed their "Doughnut Day" project and their street coin collectors in spite of the blizzard that blanketed Clinton two weeks ago.

Mailers have proved a good source of income this year and these were addressed by a group of young women including Mrs. Joe Nixon, Mrs. Ben Crabtree, Mrs. Dixon Cunningham, and Mrs. Jim Shakespear.

The Mothers' March was the largest single source of gifts this year and netted over $2,000 for the fund to take care of polio patients and fight birth defects through research and treatment. In addition to those previously announced who worked are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Power, Mrs. Eva West, Mrs. Janie Freeman, Miss Peggy Dunaway, Mrs. Gertrude Fowler, Mrs. Edna Osborne, Mrs. Grace Wooten, Mrs. Annie Mae Bagwell, Mrs. Ella Harvey, Mrs. Betty Webb, Miss Ann Webb, Mrs. Eva Land, Mrs. Margaret Blakely, Miss Nell Haggart, and Mrs. Vera Foster.

Also, Miss Nellie Osborne, Mrs. J. C. Estes, Mrs. Jimmy South, Mrs. Mildred Dickerson, Mrs. Keith McGee, Mrs. Frank Walker, Mrs. Prue Waters, Mrs. Claude Gilstrap, Jr., Miss Velda Farmer, Mrs. E. P. Lark, Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Mrs. Verner Dees, Mrs. Calvin Cooper, Mrs. Tommy Moore, Mrs. Harold Hairston, Mrs. E. C. Burdette, Mrs. M. J. Sanders, Mrs. David Word, Mrs. Nell Mills, Mrs. Odie Nelson, Mrs. E. W. Mitchell, Mrs. Bill Nelson, Mrs. Perry Parrish, Mrs. William E. Madden, Mrs. Glenn Gaskins, Mrs. George Tucker, Miss Iris Hughes, Mrs. David H. Roberts, Mrs. Ralph Riddle, Mrs. Laura Darby, Mrs. Nathan Wyatt, Mrs. Fred Bodie, Mrs. Tommy McElveen, and Miss Roberta Prince.

Present officers serving with President Creighton are Claude A. Crocker, first vice-president; Dan E. Orr, second vice-president; and M. D. Milam, Jr., treasurer.

Directors retiring this year after serving a three-year term are T. Heath Copeland, D. G. Creighton, J. Robert Cox, Dan E. Orr and Jim Von Hollen.

Duke Endowment Assists Thornwell And Local Hospital

The Duke Endowment, with offices in Charlotte, N. C., is distributing $1,404,398 to help hospitals and child care institutions in North Carolina and South Carolina finance their charity services.

The announcement was made Wednesday by James R. Felts, Jr., executive director of the Hospital and Child Care sections.

Clinton institutions participating in the endowment are Bailey Memorial Hospital, $3,083, and Thornwell Orphanage, $64,697.14.

The Laurens District Hospital at Laurens receives $5,516.

One hundred and thirty hospitals are receiving $885,933 and 43 child care institutions, $518,450. Eighty-four hospitals in North Carolina are receiving $505,846, 46 in South Carolina, $380,087. Twenty-six child care institutions in North Carolina are receiving $342,210, 17 in South Carolina, $176,249. The total amount being distributed in North Carolina is $948,056, in South Carolina, $556,336.

The hospital contributions are based on $1 a day for each free day of care in the fiscal year which ended, September 30, 1965.

Child care statistics compiled from applications of these institutions show that 43 assisted had capacity of 5,033 children.

In addition to providing funds to help hospitals and child care institutions finance charity work, the Endowment assists in the construction, equipment and purchase of hospitals and has a field staff with headquarters in Charlotte which counsels hospitals and child care institutions seeking advice on ways to improve operation and get the greatest possible benefit from money spent for facilities and services. It also contributes funds to Duke University, to the building and maintenance of rural Methodist churches in North Carolina, and to the support of ministers who have retired from the Western North Carolina or North Carolina conference of the Methodist church, and of widows and dependent orphaned children of ministers who had served one of these conferences.

Baptists to Occupy New Church Sunday Morning

The initial service in the handsome new sanctuary of the First Baptist Church on South Broad Street will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

A formal dedication service has been set for Sunday, April 17.

Construction of the buff-colored brick structure, with a seating capacity of 750, began slightly more than a year ago. It replaces a building that was used for almost 60 years.

Of solid masonry construction, the church has an exceptionally beautiful arched entrance. The interior trim is of walnut.

Stained glass windows are used throughout, with the one over the entrance being of faceted glass, depicting Christ with outstretched hands, carrying the invitation, "Come unto Me."

Carpeting is used throughout, and the walnut pews have foam rubber cushions. The building is air-conditioned. A new pipe organ will be installed at a later date.

Dorn To Speak On Allegiance Day

Citizens of Laurens County are encouraged to join with civic organizations to attend public ceremonies to be held at 11:00 a. m., Tuesday, February 22, in Laurens.

Mayor Griggs of Laurens issued a proclamation naming February 22 as Allegiance Day, urging all citizens to join in brief ceremonies designed to demonstrate the sincere interest we have as citizens to promote and maintain world peace. Similar ceremonies are being conducted all over South Carolina this same day, the birthday of "The Father of Our Country," George Washington.

The idea to establish a public ceremony to enable our citizens to jointly re-dedicate themselves to the principle of freedom was fostered by W. T. Moseley of Greenville, while listening to Billy Graham in his Houston Crusade encourage all in attendance to re-pledge their allegiance to our country. Mr. Moseley was inspired to approach Greenville Mayor David G. Traxler to conduct a program. Mayor Traxler was impressed with the idea, and solicited the help of the Greenville Jaycees and South Carolina Municipal Associates to carry this project to as many people as possible.

Interest in Allegiance Day has spread throughout South Carolina to a national scope as Greenville Jaycees presented the project to the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce for nationwide observance.

President Jim Hawkins of the Laurens Jaycees and President Bob Hanson of the Clinton Jaycees urge all citizens to attend the Allegiance Day program. Featured speaker for the event is to be Rep. Bryan Dorn, and the ceremonies will include a band, introductions by Mayor Griggs, Pledge of Allegiance, National Anthem, and benediction.

Woman Encounters Man in Back Yard

A 21-year-old white woman told officers Thursday night that she surprised a Negro man and grappled with him briefly in her back yard here about 7:45 p. m.

Bloodhounds from the State Law Enforcement Division were rushed from Columbia but were unable to trace the man.

City police and deputies of Laurens County Sheriff R. Eugene Johnson are continuing the investigation.

The woman was taken to a local hospital but was not admitted and was not injured, officers said.

The encounter was brief when the woman apparently almost walked into the man as she went into the yard on an errand. The man fled immediately from the heavily populated residential area.
