Clinton Boy Makes Perfect Score On Air Force Exam

A Clinton boy has accomplished a feat that occurs very rarely — in fact, once in approximately 10,000 occasions.

He is Tony Windsor, 1966 graduate of Clinton High School, and he made a perfect score in every area on the Air Force airman's qualification examination.

S-Sgt. Bill Outen of the Air Force recruiting office in Greenville, who recruited the young man, was high in his praise of Windsor. It was he who told of the rareness of the feat. Sgt. Outen said that Windsor was also administered the armed forces examination in Charlotte, N. C., coming up with a score of 98 out of a possible 100.

Windsor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Windsor of 316 E. Carolina Ave.

The special ten-member committee was authorized to offer assistance to these churches and to cooperate with the efforts of "Pee Dee Presbytery, where four of the Negro churches are located, and of Harmony Presbytery, which has the remaining two churches.

The 25 delegates assembled at Presbyterian College for this 1966 stated meeting of Synod also elected Hugh S. Jacobs of Clinton as moderator - nominee for 1967 and approved a $1,079,000 budget for the coming year.

Jacobs, co-owner of Jacobs Brothers printing firm and an elder in the First Presbyterian Church, will take office next year. He will succeed the Rev. Eugene Beckman, pastor of the Eastover Presbyterian Church, who presided as moderator over the meeting held here on Tuesday and Wednesday. Beckman assumed his office on Tuesday morning after the retiring moderator, the Rev. Charles Robert Tapp, president of the Presbyterian Home in Summerville, preached the sermon of the opening session.

County Candidates Face Voters Here on Monday

Senator William C. Dobbins hit back hard Monday night against charges (direct or by innuendo) that he was somehow responsible for high rates for automobile liability insurance.

"I own no stock in any insurance company and I do not make my living selling auto liability insurance," he said here as county candidates spoke Monday night at the Clinton Mills baseball park in a regularly scheduled speaking session.

The candidates spoke Tuesday night at Gray Court, will appear at Cross Hill tonight, and will close the eight-engagement schedule Monday night at Watville, on the of the Democratic primary to be held Tuesday.

A comparatively small crowd was on hand here Monday for the candidates' appearance.

The session was opened with prayer by Rev. J. Thomas Miller, pastor of Bailey Memorial Methodist Church. Presiding was Richard Townsend, County Democratic chairman.

A comparatively small crowd from four unopposed candidates was read by Mrs. Claude Cook, county vice-chairman. The candidates are Miss Jennie V. Culbertson, auditor; Furman E. Thomason, supervisor; J. Hewlette Wasson, probate judge; Paul S. O'Dell and George M. Penland, county commissioners.

Dobbins stated that House Bill 2073, which passed the House and which Dobbins said would cost auto owners $7,000,000 extra in auto liability insurance rates, was killed by him when it reached the Senate.

"My three opponents all have served in the legislature and they did nothing to change the auto liability insurance rates."

The preponderance of lawyers in the legislature are responsible, Dobbins said. "They want every automobile in South Carolina insured, so they can collect big fees for representing persons involved in accidents."

"I will not support any bill to raise your auto liability rates," Dobbins said.

Other Senate candidates who spoke were Marshall W. Abercrombie, King Dixon and Hubert W. Graydon.

House candidates were Thomas A. Babb, Paul Brown, W. Paul Culbertson and David S. Taylor.

Abercrombie deplored the reapportionment bill which set up 59 Senatorial districts rather than the present 46, and said "we didn't have enough representation in the Senate to stand up against the bill." Abercrombie said he fought for free textbooks for children, higher salaries for teachers, appropriations for the unfortunate in state institutions, increase in workmen's compensation. He opposed the legislative pay increase and raising judges' salaries. He termed the lobbying for increased auto liability rates as propaganda by the insurance companies.

Dixon also hit the effort to increase auto liability insurance rates, saying claims of payment by insurance companies were padded. He will support a technical education center to teach trades to the 70 per cent of high school graduates who do not go to college. He is for increase in pay rates to employees at Whitten Village and for a 40-hour week. Will fight for $100,000 a year for Laurens County facilities of Lake Greenwood are sold to Duke Power Company, is for a rest home to serve citizens of the county, for a tax equalization program to get all property on tax books. Saying that school districts and hospitals in the county need funds, which will all for more taxes, he said he stands ready to assist.

Hubert W. Graydon discussed his platform for progress in Laurens County, saying the county definitely needs such a program. He is for an expanded planning board, educational and recreational facilities, and will work for industrial and commercial growth of the county, and a tax equalization program. He favors a water system for

He said the college makes the library available to local residents and that the city has been assisting in the maintenance of the building.
