Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Ora ARP Church by Rev. Guy Smith. Burial was in Old Field Cemetery in Ora.

Pallbearers were Harold McClintock, W. T. Blakely, Joe R. Martin, Maxie Hunter, Carl Tingle and J. C. League.

Jaycee Chapter To Meet Tuesday

A dinner meeting of the Clinton Jaycees has been scheduled for Tuesday evening, November 22, at 7 o'clock at the Wrangler Restaurant.

Guest speaker will be Cally Gault, head football coach at Presbyterian College. It is hoped all members can be present.

Brockenbrough Named Director

George B. Brockenbrough, of Clinton, has been named as a district director of the Clemson University Alumni Association.

smart. But play it even smarter. Start writing other girls as well, and I'm sure you'll find quite a few who don't have to be pressured into sending letters to faraway soldiers. As for this particular girl, it's better that you continue to play it cool and friendly, rather than attempt to keep any "flames of love" blazing from such a great distance away.

DEAR SALLY: When one of my buddies recently broke off with the beautiful girl he had been going out with, I asked him if he minded my asking her for a date. When he said no, I began dating her and she and I hit it off wonderfully right from the start. In fact, she tells me she likes me more than any other fellow she's ever known, and I know I'm nuts about her. But how this buddy of mine keeps telling me that this girl is still crazy about him and that the only reason she's going with me is to make him jealous, and that eventually she will come back to him. I know he's talking through his hat. Should I tell him off? IRISH.

DEAR IRISH: And what would you gain by telling him off? You KNOW how things stand, and time will eventually prove how right you are much better than any harsh exchange of words now.

DEAR PARADE REST: Strikes me you played it quite

Free Pine Seedlings—The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company is offering as many as 10,000 free pine seedlings to any forest landowner who was damaged by the severe forest fires. Seedling application blanks may be obtained by contacting the nearest company woodyard manager.

To Remove Ink Spots and Glue—Keep a small bottle of nail polish remover and some cotton balls in the kitchen. It is excellent for removing inked price marks either from a part that sikept in view or from a counter-top where an unwanted ink mark has been left by a package. Polish remover will also remove that gummy glue used for labels on new household equipment.

Pimiento Peppers — We have been contacted by the Pomora Products Company of Griffin, Ga., to see if our area is interested in producing pimiento peppers. Several counties in the Piedmont are included. We are asking farmers to call the office and let us know if they are interested in growing peppers in 1967.

Broken Glass—A safe, easy way to gather up small pieces of broken glass is to pat them up with dampened absorbent cotton.

A Note to Knitters—If you take a cork and place it on the pointed ends of your knitting needles, when you lay your knitting aside, there will be no dropped stitches to worry about.

Mulching—Leaves and litter now being raked up should be put in a compost pile at the end of your garden or some other suitable place. This material can be used as a mulch next summer. If the leaves are piled up and kept moist, they will begin to deteriorate. Throwing an occasional handful of balanced fertilizer over the leaves as they are piled up, will speed up their process.

How Can I?

Q. What can I do when the wax polish on my furniture begins to take on a streaky appearance?

A. Very likely it's time to remove that old wax which has become mixed with dirt and has collected on the surface. Mild soap and lukewarm water will usually do the job, but don't let the soap remain on the furniture any length of time. Be sure also to polish or re-wax the furniture immediately after washing it.

Q. What can I do if some oil from my sewing machine has spotted the fabric on which I have been sewing?

A. Coat the spot liberally at once with talcum powder, let this stand for 15 to 20 minutes, then brush. Repeat, the routine, if necessary.

Q. How can I re-whiten discolored handkerchiefs?

A. By immersing them in cold water to which you've added a pinch of cream of tartar.

Q. How can I preserve left-over putty for along time?

A. Roll your putty into balls and drop these into a jar half-full of water. Add enough water to cover the putty, screw on the top of the jar, and your putty will stay in a workable condition for months. When you prepare to use it again, pat it dry with a cloth.

Q. How can I produce a hotter fire in my fireplace?

A. Instead of removing all the ashes from your open fireplace, leave some of them as a bed for your next fire. These leftover ashes will retain a great amount of heat and give a quicker and hotter fire.

Q. How can I remove spots from hardwood floors?

A. Often effective for this is a cloth dampened in rubbing alcohol, then wiped over the spots. Follow with a good coat of wax.

Q. How can I treat a felt hat that has been spotted by rain?

A. Try rubbing the surface of the hat gently with steel wool until the nap is raised, and this will often obliterate the spots. Many other such tips on the care of hats, and clothing in general, are contained in my new paperback book.

Q. The wallpaper in one of our rooms has lost its grip on one spot and formed an unsightly bulge on the wall. What can I do?

A. Slit the bulge with a razor blade and then, using a knife, insert library paste thinned to a creamy consistency. Smooth the whole thing out with a stiff brush, and the appearance of your wall should be improved.

Q. How can I improve a hair shampoo when I find that I'm out of the real thing?

A. Hubby's shaving cream makes a very good lather for the hair.

Q. How can I facilitate the drying of a sweater I've just washed?

A. By rolling it in a Turkish towel, and then pressing out the excess water with a rolling pin.

Mahogany Furniture—Banish white marks from mahogany furniture this way: spread a thick coat of petroleum jelly over the spots, let stand for 48 hours, polish off.

LAWN CARE — We notice that a lot of fescue is being sown for lawns. Fescue should be sown thick to make a pretty sod. It requires rather intense care. It should not be clipped too close, and it should be fertilized regularly, but not too heavily at any one application. Rye grass, if sown with the fescue, will reduce the stand of fescue and do permanent damage.

Filing the File—In order to get your money's worth from emery boards, here is a tip when the edges wear down. Take your scissors and trim the emery board off an eighth of an inch along the edge. The file can be used over and over until there is nothing left. It sharpens your scissors, too!
