Cotton Ballot Is Slated Dec. 5-9

A referendum on marketing quotas for the 1967 crop of upland cotton will be conducted by mail during the period of December 5 through 9. Fred S. Stoddard, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced.

This is the first time that growers have voted on marketing quotas by mail. It is hoped that this more convenient method will encourage a larger vote, it was stated.

Growers eligible to cast ballots in the referendum are those who engaged in the production of the 1966 crop of cotton. Ballots will be sent to all growers who are on record in the ASCS county office.

The quotas will become effective and the broad upland cotton diversion program will be available next year if at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve the quotas. This program will provide price-support and diversion payments as well as loans.

If more than a third of the growers who vote disapprove quotas, price support of 50 percent of parity will be available to growers who keep their 1967-crop upland cotton acreage within their farm allotments.
