

Weddings WOMAN'S Meetings

Social Events

PAGE

WCTU To Meet Tuesday

The WCTU will meet Tuesday afternoon, January 10 at 3:30 at the home of Mrs. T. P. Owens, 513 Musgrove Street. Miss Lizzie Ruth Owens will be co-hostess.

UDC's To Have January Meet

The Stephen D. Lee Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet at the home of Mrs. Perry Moore, on Thursday, Jan. 5 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Frank Miller will be program chairman.

Co-hostesses will be Mrs. M. C. Poole, Mrs. T. J. Leake and Mrs. B. F. Wingard.

Business Women To Hold Meet

The Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, Jan. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Mary Musgrove Hotel. A program on self-improvement in various areas will be presented by the personal development committee, Mrs. Gary Holcomb, chairman.

Circle Meetings Next Week

Monday, January 9, 10:00 a.m.

1 - Mrs. Ted Davenport, Chairman; Mrs. George Brockenbrough, Hostess.

2 - Mrs. Lawrence Davis, Chairman; Mrs. Marc Weersing, Hostess.

3 - Mrs. W. B. Owens, Chairman; Mrs. C. W. Copeland, Hostess.

4 - Mrs. J. B. Templeton, Chairman; Mrs. Edouard Patte, Hostess.

Tuesday, January 10, 10 a.m.

5 - Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, Chairman; Mrs. Harry McSween, Hostess.

Monday Afternoon, January 9, 4:00 p.m.

6 - Mrs. Lawrence Young, Chairman; Mrs. Taylor Martin, Hostess.

7 - Mrs. Addison Neighbors, Chairmāy; Mrs. Lewis Lancaster, Hostess.

Monday evening, January 9, 8:00 p.m.

8 - Miss Marian Hill, Chairman; Mrs. Horace Horton, Hostess.

9 - Mrs. Harry Nettles, Chairman and Hostess.

Methodist Circle Meets Monday

The Sarah Glenn Circle of Broad Street Methodist Church will meet Monday evening, January 9, at the home of Mrs. Davis V. Pitts on N. Shands Street.

Lutheran Women In Monthly Meet

The Lutheran Church Women of St. John's Lutheran Church met at the parsonage on Monday, Jan. 2, for their monthly meeting. Mrs. E. B. Keisler was hostess with Mrs. Ervin Stroud assisting.

Mrs. S. P. Bowers gave an interesting program on "Hands" with scripture lesson taken from Psalms 25, verse 23.

Seventeen members were present. Later in the evening a salad course with coffee was served.

Miss Milam Weds Mr. Fuller in Church Ceremony

Miss Linda Helen Milam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wymah Milam, became the bride of James Larry Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fuller, on Saturday, December 24, at the Lydia Presbyterian Church.

The lovely but simple ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. G. Phillips before an assembly of relatives and friends.

Miss Cathy Davis was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She appeared in a pink street-length dress with white accessories and pink and white carnation corsage.

The bride chose a white wool street dress with white accessories and white bridal corsage. She was given in marriage by her father.

The groom's attendant was his brother, Terry Fuller, who served him as best man.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Cathy Foster.

Following a short wedding trip the groom returned to Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri, where he is stationed with the Army Reserve. The bride is making her home on Ferguson Street in the city.

MRS. WILLIAM EUGENE JOHNSON, JR. WILLIAM EUGENE JOHNSON, JR. TAKES BRIDE IN GEORGIA

Royston, Ga. - The sanctuary of the Royston Methodist Church was the setting Thursday evening, December 22 for the wedding of Miss Constance Sharon Varner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Varner of Royston and Mr. William Eugene Johnson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of Merrie Oaks, Clinton, S. C.

The Reverend H. F. Lawson, pastor of the Royston Methodist Church, and the Reverend R. Neal Windom of Tucker, former pastor of the bride, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Tree palms and fern balls formed the background for two seven branched candelabra on either side of the altar, all holding burning white tapers, and a massive center arrangement of long-stem white roses. Bouquets of white mums and matching satin bows marked family pews.

Presenting the wedding music were Mrs. Lucius Turner, organist, and Mrs. E. H. Lovelace, soloist, who sang, as a part of the benediction, "A Wedding Prayer."

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white silk-faced peau do sole styled along graceful Empire lines, featuring bodice and long sleeves of re-embroidered Alencon lace, with scalloped neckline, and a full chapel-trimmed skirt with imported Alencon lace and scattered motifs of lace. Her veil of illusion fell from a satin bow with accents of lace and pearls. Her bouquet was of white bridal roses, and she carried a blue handkerchief that her mother carried in her wedding.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Carolyn Varner of Detroit, Michigan, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Elizabeth Tucker, Patsy Mabry and Gloria Hannah, all of Royston. Junior attendants were Tammy McCall and Alice Hart of Royston, cousins of the bride.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore identical long gowns with moss green velvet bodice and front-bow sash, skirts were of pink predominant multi-colored antique brocade. They carried muffs of matching velvet with cymbidium orchids. Junior attendants wore replicas of the bridesmaids' dresses and carried baskets of pink carnations.

The groom chose his father as best man. Usher groomsmen were Johnny Glover, Charles Ray, Hervey Francis Blalock, Jr., and Jim Von Hollen, uncle of the groom, all of Clinton, S. C.; and Ben Jordan of Atlanta, uncle of the bride.

Immediately following the wedding the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the social room of the church. Noni Von Hollen, cousin of the groom of Clinton presented miniature rice bags in pastel green and pink.

For a wedding trip to St. Augustine, Fla., the bride wore a navy dress with kelly green trim and matching kelly green coat. Her accessories were navy and her corsage was of pink cymbidium orchids.

The young couple will be at home at Cloverhurst Apartments, No. 6, Athens, Ga.

Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of Royston High School, attended Woman's College of Georgia and is presently a student at the University of Georgia.

Mr. Johnson is a graduate of Clinton High School, was graduated from Georgia Military College and is presently attending the University of Georgia.

Varner-Johnson Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. William Eugene Johnson entertained with a dinner party at the Holiday Inn in Anderson, honoring their son, William Eugene Johnson, Jr., and his fiancée on the eve of their wedding.

Places were marked for thirty-two at a U-shaped table holding artistic arrangements of pom poms and chrysanthemums highlighted with gold glitter, interspersed with small gold bells and matching gold satin streamers.

It was on this occasion that Miss Varner chose to present Mr. Johnson with a gold pocket watch. Mr. Johnson presented his bride-to-be with a strand of pearls to wear in their wedding.

Miss Taylor Weds Mr. Bozman

Princeton - A ceremony Saturday at 4 p.m. at Davenport Baptist Church united Miss Sarah Myrtice Taylor and Earl Reel Bozman. Rev. O. L. McGinnis, pastor of Davenport Baptist Church, and Rev. Marshall H. Roberson, pastor of Central Baptist Church of Anderson who is the brother-in-law of the bride, heard the vows. Kenneth E. Malone, organist, and Don W. Vermillion, soloist, presented music.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Felton Taylor of Honea Path. She is a graduate of Winthrop College with a B.S. degree in education. She did further study at Winthrop, the University of Wisconsin and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. She was which would be treated professionally. If you think University Extension Service enough of this boy, suggest that he try Alcoholics Anonymous. "a psychiatrist, or both. And if he loves YOU enough, he'll listen to you and try to do something about his drinking. In any event, don't be planning any marriage with him until you have proof-positive that he's on the wagon to stay."

Mr. Bozman is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jennings Bozman of Chappells. A graduate of Clemson University, he has been agriculture teacher in Iva, Silverstreet and Newberry schools. A rural mail carrier at Chappells, he has farming interests.

The bride and groom will make their home in Chappells after a trip to points of interest in Florida.

The bride wore an original wedding gown of peau taffeta and reembroidered Alencon lace. The bodice with bracelet sleeves featured a scalloped lace neckline. The chapel train was highlighted with motifs of lace.

Mrs. Marshall Hoke Roberson of Anderson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal dress of moss green velvet and crepe. The empire bodice featured a scooped neckline and elbow sleeves. Venice lace circled the waist and sleeves.

The crepe sheath skirt was topped with a floating panel. Ralph Scurry Bozman of Newberry, brother of the groom, was best man. Usher-groomsmen were Lawrence C. Davis of Honea Path, J. Scott Boozer of Chappells, Guy W. Dominick of Cayce and Jake C. Arant of Chappells.

The bride's parents entertained at the reception at their home.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: Your buddy is NOT obligated to pay any part of the girl's loss. He was guilty or carelessness, of course, in leaving his car unlocked - but she was just as careless in leaving such a valuable coat in the car, for even locked doors are no guarantee

DEAR SALLY

By SALLY SHAW

DEAR SALLY: I think the boy I've been dating rather regularly is an alcoholic. He's nice enough when he's with me not to drink to excess, but frankly admits that two or three times a week he drinks himself numb with some of his boy friends. Otherwise, he's as fine a fellow as I've even known and seems to be very much in love with me. I'm wondering, if I were eventually to marry him, whether I'd be able to prevail upon him to kick his drinking habit. WORRIED.

DEAR SALLY: My girl friend and I recently double-dated with a buddy of mine and a new girl he had just met, and we drove in his car to a posh country club for dinner. For some reason my buddy's date left her fur coat in his car in the parking lot, and he must have forgotten to lock his car doors, because when we returned the coat was gone. The girl was really burned up over the fact that the car had been left unlocked and her precious coat stolen, and now she is claiming that my buddy is absolutely obligated to pay at least part, if not all, of the price of the coat - somewhere, according to her, around $200. What do you think about this? STEVE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

It's certainly obvious that of safety. The girl was en-tirely responsible for her coat, you as his best man, otherwise he would not have volunteered to assume this additional expense. So I can see nothing in the least wrong with your accepting his offer.

DEAR SALLY: My husband and I evidently give parties in our home that are so successful and enjoyable that it takes mighty efforts for us to get all our guests to leave at a fairly reasonable time. Just for future reference, is there any way you can suggest that will signalize to guests who linger too long that the party is over? JUDY.

DEAR JUDY: If you don't want to tell these hangers-on outright that you're tired and would like to retire, begin to tidy up the place. Cut off the drinks, begin emptying ashtrays and dishes to the kitchen - and this usually does a pretty good job of getting your message across.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I'm a young man of 23, and a close friend of mine who lives in a city about 700 miles from me has written to me and asked me to be his best man at his wedding, and he has even said that he'll send me a check to cover the costs of the trip. Since I am very low on funds at present and would otherwise be unable to afford the trip, this money from my friend would solve a big problem. However, considering the expenses he will undoubtedly be meeting with a new wife and a new home, I'm wondering if I can properly accept his generous offer. ON THE FENCE.

DEAR SALLY: I