New York, N. Y., April 23.
The editor of The Chronicle has been in the city for three weeks taking lessons on the operating of the Mergenthaler linotype machine to be shipped to The Chronicle office, Cheraw. The Chronicle is to be congratulated on this addition to its equipment, costing about $4,000, and the equal of the big daily papers in the cities. These people have built these machines for twenty years, improving them constantly, until now they have it about as nearly perfected as it looks possible to do.

There are about seven machines sold weekly, and classes here are taking lessons all the time numbering ten to thirty. It is a regular school, requiring the students to begin at the top and take to pieces, dissect as it were, the entire machine; then begin at the bottom and put it up again. They have to learn the cause and effect of everything, so that in case of a hitch in the operations of the machine, to be able to locate and repair it instantly. Hundreds of questions are in the books that must be answered and per centage scores as at college are given. If a thing is not working right, there may be say eight causes, and the operator must know where to look for the most likely of the eight; then the seven, then six and so down to the least likely and remedy at once. The examinations of the students take place Tuesdays, and the books are handed back Saturdays with per centage calculated. The manager says "Stricklin is a wonder; that he could start him at a salary of $50 a week at once if he would come to New York; that he has attained 96 per cent. out of a possible 100 per cent. all along, while the others run 50 to 70 per centum. They say that in the twenty years of the life of the business they have had only two men to equal this record, and not one has even approached it the past two years. The writer has always known "Joe N." was a genius, but did not measure him up to his full capacity, for here competing with bright men from all parts of the United States he has shown his remarkable gifts. Publish this but don't let the editor see it.

Halley's Comet.

This wonderful comet after an absence of more than seventy years, is gradually coming nearer the earth, and on account of the general interest it is exciting, the Rev. Dr. Shuck announced to his congregation last Sunday that when the comet becomes visible in the western sky, which will be in about two weeks, he hopes to preach a sermon on the comet and other celestial wonders. Due notice will be given in our paper.

This contractor got results.

Some years ago a contractor building a railroad in a warm climate was troubled a great deal by sickness among the laborers.

He turned his attention at once to their food and found that they were getting full rations of meat and were drinking water from a stream near by.

He issued orders to cut down the amount of meat and to increase greatly the quantity of Quaker Oats fed to the men.

He also boiled Quaker Oats and mixed the thin oatmeal water with their drinking water. Almost instantly all signs of stomach disorders passed and his men showed a decided improvement in strength and spirits. This contractor had experience that taught him the great value of good oatmeal.

Packed in regular size packages, and in hermetically sealed tins for hot climates.

MARK TWAIN MOURNED

Some of his Sayings and Short Sketch of his Life

Danbury, Conn., April 22.—Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) will lie in death in the Clemens family plot at Elmira, N. Y., beside the remains of his favorite daughter, Jean, whose tragic death a few months ago broke her father's heart and brought on the end. In the plot are the remains of the philosopher humorist's wife and his infant son, Langhorne, and his daughter, Jean. Tributes from all over the world began to arrive today at the home where the best known and most beloved writer of his day lived for many years.

Death came to the humorist at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Fighting bravely and uncompromisingly against approaching dissolution, he was conscious most of the day and chatted with those about his bedside.

Late in the afternoon, unable to speak, he wrote on a piece of paper: "Give me my glasses."

They were his last words on earth. In a short time he sank into unconsciousness, which ended in death at 6:30 o'clock. Death was due to angina pectoris, which is usually a proximal trouble of the heart. But his dying hours were soothed by sedatives.

CAPTURED BY FRIED CHICKEN
Baltimore Sun.

Every one who had the good fortune to be present will recall the delightful time during which the audience was under the hypnotic sway of Mark Twain's humor. And Mr. Clemens himself fell so completely under the spell of Maryland fried chicken and corn "pone" on that day that he never ceased to speak of the thralldom.

"A funny thing," he said, "is that the farther South you go the better the chicken. How do you account for that? Wonder if the climate has anything to do with it?"

"You know, I believe that chicken and corn bread have a lot to do with Southern hospitality. You take a healthy man and give him a dish of fried chicken and corn bread, and how can he feel anything else but friendly toward his fellowman? Why, a man full of chicken couldn't be anything else but liberal."

AN AMBITION REALIZED

On the occasion of his latest visit to Baltimore Mr. Clemens told with gusto of the realization of one of his life's ambitions—his house had been burglarized at last. For more than fifty years, he said, he had lived in the hope Twain was an inveterate smoker, consuming more than twenty cigars a day. Tobacco heart resulted.

One of the causes contributing to Mr. Clemens' break-down was the recent death of Henry W. Rogers, the Standard Oil millionaire. Although their friendship was formed late in life it was remarkably close and staunch. It was Mr. Rogers' wonderful financial abilities which made it possible for Mr. Clemens to have a competency in his last days. Mr. Rogers pulling together the wreckage of the Clemens fortune caused by the publishing house failure and so handling it as to increase it several times that some considerable burglar would deem his possessions of sufficient value to steal, but it was not until two men broke into his Italian villa at Redding, Conn., a short time before that his hopes were fulfilled. The men were captured and Mr. Clemens was called to court to identify his property. When he returned home he posted this notice on his front door.

NOTICE TO THE NEXT BURGLAR

"There is nothing but plated ware in this home now and henceforth. You will find it in that brass thing in the dining room over in the corner by the basket of kittens. If you want the basket put the kittens in the brass thing. Do not make a noise—it disturbs the family. You will find rubbers in the front hall by that thing which has umbrellas in it—chiffonier, I think they call it, or pergola, or something like that. Please close the door.

Dr. Wm. E. Barker Makes a Remarkable Statement After Travelling from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

As he secured some of the most notable endorsements to his theory, he does not hesitate in saying that he will positively guarantee to cure stone in the bladder or any kidney or bladder trouble, no matter how long you have been suffering. Ninety-seven per cent. of the entire population of the United States are afflicted with kidney or bladder trouble. In the last seven years bloodine has cured 96 per cent. of the cases that have been treated with it.

Hundreds of cases of hemorrhage of the bladder have been cured after treatment in some of the leading hospitals here failed to even relieve the patient. We are therefore confident that our theory of treating these cases with bloodine, is the only possible manner in which such a large percentage of cases can be cured, that we do not hesitate to guarantee the efficiency of bloodine.

Mr. Hanson, the business manager of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Co., of Biddeford, Maine, had a stone in the bladder removed with six and one-half bottles of bloodine, after being told by all the leading physicians in his vicinity that the only way it could possibly be removed was by an operation. We stand ready to furnish positive proof of the above statement to any one doubting the truth of the same.

More than five million bottles of bloodine were sold in America last year. Can there be any greater evidence of merit than this unparalleled sale of a scientific product. No other product has ever met with astounding sales in so short a period, and from a conservative estimate the sales this year will reach ten million bottles. 2,880 bottles were sold in a single day in Cleveland, Ohio; 2,160 bottles were sold in Rochester, N. Y., and the first day's introductory sale, and 1,400 bottles in Patterson, N. J., in one day. No scientific treatment has ever attained such success in America. We are now supplying druggists with bloodine, for the convenience of those wishing to convince themselves of its merits. If your druggist does not have it, The Bloodine Laboratories, Boston, Mass., will supply you with a six week's treatment (six bottles) for $2.50; 50c a bottle, trial sample and booklet, 10c.

GENERAL NEWS

Atlanta is excited over a most outrageous murder and robbery. Three negroes held up a street car in the suburbs of the city Saturday night and killed Motor-man S. T. Brown and robbed Conductor Bryson of $35 then shot and fatally wounding him. One of the negroes have been captured.

One white man was seriously injured and the entire negro population of Coleman, a small town in Texas, has been driven from town as the result of a race riot.

At Lake Charles, La., fire swept over 20 blocks and destroyed property to the value of $3,000,000.

Cook in Comfort

You no longer need wear yourself out with the weakening heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort.

Here is a stove that gives no outside heat. All its heat is concentrated at the burners. An intense blue flame (hotter than either white or red) is thrown upwards but not around. All the heat is utilized in cooking—none in outside heating.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wick—it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat—no smoke. The burner is simple. One wipe with a cloth cleans it—consequently there is no smell.

The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot.

It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."
