Every business man and farmer should be present as a reorganization of the Board will be undertaken and plans made for work that will affect every business man and farmer in this section. Every citizen is urged to be present and take part in helping outline a program for the coming year that will mean bigger and better things for Cheraw in the future.

Engagement Announced.

On Thursday afternoon Miss Queen Godfrey entertained the Kill Care Club at her home on Kershaw st. After an hour of killing care refreshments were served and each member discovered a bit of card board on her plate which they were told formed a part of a puzzle that when fitted together would tell a secret. In less time than it takes to tell it the parts were fitted together to form a heart on which was written a verse that conveyed the information that on October the 11th Miss Ruth Rogers would become the bride of Mr. M. B. Crigler. Miss Rogers is one of Cheraw's charming adopted daughters having lived here several years filling the position as stenographer for the Cheraw Oil Mill. Mr. Crigler is the efficient and popular manager of the Cheraw Oil Mill.

A Birthday Party.

About 26 little boys and girls enjoyed a lovely party given by little Helen Malloy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Malloy, who celebrated her fourth birthday in this way on Wednesday afternoon. Those present had a wonderful time on the playground at the Malloy home. After an hour of play they were invited into the dining room which was beautifully decorated with Golden Rod tied with yellow tulle and yellow ribbon helping to carry out the color scheme. Yellow and white brick ice cream and cake was served and favors, consisting of tiny dolls tied with yellow ribbon for the girls and tops tied with yellow ribbon for the boys, were given to each little guest. Everyone went home delighted with the party.

Renaming Our Streets.

Since writing an editorial on renaming our streets in last week's issue we have heard some unfavorable comment on the subject. Several have called to our attention that it would serve to mix up records such as deeds to property which describe lots of land facing on these streets whose names are to be changed. We feel that the ladies should look into this feature before going ahead with the plan.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

A meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Club Rooms at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mr. McBride, S. A. D. Industrial Agent addressed the meeting asking for the cooperation of the Board of Trade in the undertaking of getting all who are interested in growing peaches in South Carolina to meet in Cheraw for a day about the first week in October. Mr. McBride said, Mr. Burkman a prominent peach grower of Georgia had consented to come and that Clemson College had promised their full support and co-operation.

After hearing Mr. McBride the Board assured him he could count on them for all the support and cooperation he would require and appointed the following committee to make all necessary arrangements for the meeting: T. S. Evans, L. A. Kerr and Joe Lindsay.

The election of new officers was then taken up resulting as follows: T. S. Evans, President, J. O. Raley, Vice President and Joe Lindsay, Secretary. It was suggested that the new president call a meeting for next Friday night for the purpose of reorganizing and getting committees to work on many duties which are facing the Board the coming year.

DILLON READY TO ACT.

Promoters Claim that Dillon and Marlboro Show No Interest in Calhoun Highway.

Dillon Herald, Sept. 22.

The following is taken from the Pee Dee Advocate:

Mayor T. C. Crosland has received the following letter:

Cheraw, South Carolina, September 10, 1921.

Mayor T. S. Crosland, Bennettsville, South Carolina.

Dear Sir:—Re: Matter Calhoun Highway Association.

It now seems that on account of a lack of interest in Bennettsville and Dillon the Calhoun Highway will have to run by Darlington and Florence so as to tap the Wilmington highway at Florence.

I am still of the opinion that the route by Bennettsville and Dillon offers the best solution of this problem. Do you think there is any chance of getting the local interest aroused so as to get this road to the North Carolina line, as the North Carolina people have already surmised that they will take care of their end?

With kindest personal regards I am Yours very truly,

R. E. Hanna, S. C. Vice-Pres. Calhoun Highway Association.

Little Interest Taken.

Mayor Crosland says: "It is a shame for us to lose the chance of getting this highway. I called a meeting of the business men once or twice, and as the people take so little interest in the matter, I am as a loss to know what to do. If the people will show the proper interest we can get it, but if we sit down and let it go by, it suits me."

Why by Florence?

This road certainly ought to come by Bennettsville. Although the people may not show sufficient interest, this county will do its share. It already has a good road from the Cheraw bridge via Bennettsville and McColl to the N. C. line, and via Bennettsville and Dunbar to the Dillon splendid highway. Marlboro is gone, where Dillon takes it up with a line to have even a better road when it completes its link of the state highway from the Cheraw bridge to the Dillon line.

To go by Darlington and Florence from Cheraw would be 20 to 30 miles out of the way. If it goes that way it will miss Cheraw, for the travel would eventually turn down by Camden and Bishopville to Florence.

Besides, there is no bridge across the river below Cheraw, and is not likely to be soon. In fact, the Atlantic Coast highway is preparing to go from Florence around by Cheraw to Wilmington, instead of waiting for the uncertain Pee Dee bridge, as the following communication in Tuesday's State and News and Courier shows:

(Dillon's position in the matter is this: Dillon was asked several weeks ago to meet with representatives from Cheraw. Dillon citizens not representatives from Rowland and the meeting was held at the court house. The Cheraw representatives explained the plans under which the highway was to be built. Dillon and Rowland citizens pledged their support. This meeting adjourned, but nothing further was heard from the Cheraw folk. Dillon and Rowland are ready to do their part any time they are called upon. They are awaiting further instructions from Cheraw where the vice-president of the proposed highway lives.—Editor Herald.)

GRAVES IN ST. DAVID'S CEMETERY CHERAW

As far as known there are three editors of Cheraw newspapers buried here.

Major James Lyon Born 1774 Died 1824.

Major Lyon established Cheraw's first newspaper in 1818, "The Pee Dee Gazette." He was the editor until he died in 1824 and one of his sons took charge and in 1835 sold it to Murdoch McLean. There is now in Jacksonville, Fla., a Mr. Lyon who is in the newspaper business. He is a descendant of Major Lyon, the seventh generation and he writes that all his ancestors beginning with Major Lyon have been editors.

We clip the following from the News and Courier of 11th, inst., which is a reproduction of an item in the Charleston Courier of a hundred years ago.

Published at Cheraw 100 Years ago.

We have received the first number of the Monthly Magazine for the Southern Climate of the United States, published at Cheraw, in this State, by Mr. Lyon, Editor of the Pee Dee Gazette. It contains much useful practical information, and is very creditable to the village in which it originated. Charleston has not one original periodical work of any kind whatever except the Almanac!

Murdoch McLean Born 1789 Died 1863

As stated above Mr. McLean took charge of the "Gazette" in 1835 and edited it till about 1845 when he was succeeded by James Powell.

Mr. McLean lived three miles out of town and owned the mill, the site of which is known as Juniper. He was much interested in silk culture and the growing of mulberry trees which is the food of the silk worms. There are still mulberry trees growing at the site of his old home near Juniper.

Richard Hicks Pegues Born 1849 Died 1906

In 1850 he established the "Carolina Sun" which he edited for several years. He built the first telegraph line to Cheraw after the Civil war and had charge of the Telegraph office. For several years before his death he was in the Government printing office in Washington where he died.

Mrs. C. W. Moody Killed in Automobile Accident.

Quite an unusual and distressing accident occurred about 3 miles below Society Hill on last Friday afternoon. Mr. C. W. Moody with wife and baby, while driving his automobile from Cheraw to their home at Mechanicsville, S. C., tried to avoid a hole in the road and ran into a tree. The car was overturned hurting neither Mr. Moody or the baby but resulting in the fatal injury to Mrs. Moody. She was immediately taken to Society Hill to a physician who realizing her condition rushed her to the hospital in Florence where examination disclosed that her spinal cord had been severed. Although her body was entirely paralyzed she lived until Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Moody was 37 years old. ## TO HELP CONTROL WEEVILS

Pick Rapidly, Destroy Stalks Thoroughly and Clean the Fields Thoroughly.

Clemson College, Sept. 19.—The earlier the cotton stalks are destroyed, the fewer the boll weevils that will survive the winter and consequently the smaller the damage to the next crop, says Professor O. F. Conradi, entomologist, who advises that as far as possible the stalks be destroyed at least three weeks before the first killing frost, for the early fall destruction of cotton stalks is practically the most important single step in any system of fighting the boll weevils. In other words, cleaning of the fields, destroying the stalks, and the planting of cover crops constitute most powerful weapons for weevil fighting now in the hands of the farmers, who by efficient fall farm management can dictate to a great extent how many weevils shall pass the winter on his farm. This fall cleaning program is also of the greatest benefit generally in destroying the winter homes and the winter food plants of other injurious pests of the farm.

Boll weevils multiply in cotton until frost kills it. Many thousands of them may occur in each acre of cotton. Weevils hibernate, that is they pass the winter, only in the full grown state. Hibernation usually begins with the coming of the first killing frost. The weevils hibernate principally in cotton fields, and standing stalks make for them splendid winter homes. The most favorable condition for successful hibernation is found in fields where cotton stalks, grass, weeds, dead leaves, etc., are left during the winter. There are little prospects for successful cotton growing under such conditions.

In some sections the stalks are uprooted, piled and burned. This has the very serious disadvantage of destroying a large amount of vegetable matter which should be turned under. Whenever the farmer is equipped with plows and mules to turn under the stalks five to six inches after they have been cut down with the chopper, it is a very effective plan. A less effective method is to graze off all green cotton within a period of a few days. Whatever the method the destruction of stalks must be thorough.

Some of the many advantages secured from cleaning the fields and destroying the stalks are: (1) A great many full grown weevils are killed outright; (2) Many young stages in the plants are killed; (3) The full grown weevils not killed will be weakened by starvation if the stalks are destroyed two to three weeks before the first frost and these will not have sufficient strength to pass the winter successfully. The removal of the stalks also facilitates fall plowing and the planting of cover crops.

Where stalks are chopped and plowed under, the land should be disked in order to help prevent weevils from escaping.

RETAIL HARDWARE MERCHANTS HOLD MEETING

The retail hardware merchants of this section of North and South held a convention in the Chiquola Club room this (Thursday) beginning at 11 o'clock.

Mayor L. A. Meiklejohn was the first speaker on the program. After welcoming the Hardware men, Mr. Meiklejohn spoke on the vital question before every organization in the South today "How we must face Boll Weevil Conditions." He laid particular stress on cooperation on the part of both the merchant and the farmer.

Mr. R. J. Little told of how and what the farmer must plant in the present crisis. He spoke of his own experience in planting other crops and of feeding cattle.

Mr. D. S. Matheson spoke of how they could serve the farmer. He said, generally, meetings of that kind were looked on by the farmer as held to plan how to do the farmer. He called the attention of the Hardware men that it was the farmer who was their customer and the one out of whom they made their money so their interest should be with the farmer in stead of with the manufacturer from whom they bought goods. He asked the Hardware men to use their best efforts to bring down prices. He spoke of how the farming business would have to undergo a complete change on account of the boll weevil and would require altogether different implements in the future. The Hardware men, of course, would have to meet this situation.

After several talks from Hardware men present and a short talk by Mr. J. C. Terrell the meeting adjourned for dinner. This afternoon the convention went into executive session continuing until about four o'clock.

COOPERATION MARKETING ASSOCIATION GOING FORWARD

Columbia, Sept. 19.—Campaigns for the signatures to cotton cooperative marketing contracts have been launched in Greenville, Sumter and Dillon counties and will be launched at an early date in Anderson and Darlington counties. Good progress is being made in the first three counties. There is great enthusiasm reported to have been aroused by the visit last week of Carl Williams, of Oklahoma, president of the American Cotton Growers Exchange.

In Sumter L. D. Jennings has been chosen county chairman. Following Mr. Williams' speech at Sumter last Friday afternoon, Mr. Jennings made a strong speech in support of the movement and a meeting of the farmers present he was unanimously chosen to head up the drive in that county.

State Senator P. L. Bethea will head up the drive in Dillon county. Mr. Bethea is a member of the organization committee of the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Cooperative Association and is enthusiastic over the movement.

In Greenville county, a toss of the coin decided that J. L. Cannada should have the privilege of being the first Greenville farmer to sign the contract. Following the speech by Mr. Williams at that place several farmers rushed up to sign. It was decided that flip a coin to see whether Mr. Cannada or J. W. Litte, his closest competitor should be the first, and Mr. Cannada won.

E. W. Dabbs, of Mayesville, a visitor at the offices of the association in this city yesterday reported much enthusiasm for the movement. Mr. Dabbs has already attached his signature to the contract, having been one of the first farmers of the state to do so.

Among the signed contracts received at headquarters was that of J. P. Kirven of Darlington, one of the largest cotton planters in the state. His signature was secured by B. D. Dargan of Darlington, a member of the organization committee. Mr. Dargan reports great enthusiasm in Darlington county for the movement.

ARE WE HEADED FOR THE ROCKS?

Dillon Herald, Sept. 22.

"Sometimes I almost reach the conclusion that Old Nick has the world by the heels and is headed straight for perdition," remarked a Dillon father a few nights ago. "I don't know what is going to become of the next generation. I don't believe I am an old fogey, but the world has hit a pace that is too fast for me, and I believe the automobile and indulgent parents are responsible for it. In my day and time two or three couples would get together and walk to a party. We had lots of fun out of it. A boy had an opportunity to talk to his girl and he could say nice little things to her and enjoy saying them. But there is no walking these days. The boy must have an automobile. If the party is in the same block in which his girl lives he must have a $2000 or $3000 car to transport her back and forth. He dresses hurriedly, rushes out of the house, sails into an automobile and dashes down the street just like his time was worth $1000 a minute. If his father tells him he should walk with his girl to and from the party he objects and says all the boys and girls in town are going in automobile and he doesn't want to embarrass his girl by making her walk, and so there you are. What the parents ought to do is to get together and put their feet down on this foolishness. We could start the ball to rolling by getting some sensible woman to give a party and put on the invitations "Automobiles not allowed."

What this parent says is true. The world is moving forward at an alarming pace and the youth of the land are hitting life in high spots. The automobile is largely responsible. As some one has said, it has taken the place of whiskey and its effects are bound to be seen in the next generation. There is something intoxicating about it, particularly among the young people. Many of the fathers of the present day—the men at the head of affairs—used to carry their lunch to school in a tin bucket. They gathered in groups on the school grounds and enjoyed the lunch hour. But not so in this day and time. Boys and girls of the high school age are above carrying lunch to school, and as for eating on the school grounds—the suggestion would be considered preposterous. The most of them go to school in automobiles and when the lunch hour arrives they step into their automobile and go to their homes. The world must go forward, but too fast a pace is dangerous. More walking and less riding would produce a harder race of men and women. It might pay to get back to the good old days when all children carried their lunch to school and no child was allowed to leave the school ground during the lunch hour.

CIVIC LEAGUERS TAKE NOTICE.

There will be an important meeting of the Civic League held in the Civic League hall Friday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock. Every member is urged to be present as the committee on renaming the streets will be appointed.

CLEAN UP HOME ORCHARD

As the fall season approaches attention should be turned to the Home Orchard. Begin at once to clean up. Clean out all grass and weeds, paint a winter cover crop of rye and vetch or rye and crimson clover, using ½ to 1 bushel of rye per acre and 15 to 20 pounds of vetch or crimson clover. Those who mound their trees during July should pull this mound down during the first week in October and examine the trunk of the trees and see that there is no borer left. It will be well to sprinkle a few ashes around the trees after pulling the mound down.

Prepare for your winter pruning and spraying as soon as leaves have fallen. A well kept home orchard will go a long way in fighting the boll weevil.

After the orchard has been cleared of all trash and cover crop sown the following trunk wash should be used: Standard Trunk Wash:

- Lump lime ..... 20 lbs.
- Soap (Whale oil, homemade, or ordinary laundry) ..... 3 lbs.
- Sulphur ..... 4 lbs.
- Water ..... 20 gals.

Making the Wash:

Shave the soap finely and dissolve in three gallons of water. Make a thin paste of sulphur and add to the solution of soap and while the lime is slaking (in half barrel) the solution of soap and sulphur is poured over it, and the whole quantity is diluted to make twenty-five gallons, which is sufficient quantity to wash 200-300 trees, 6 to 8 years old.

This wash is very inexpensive, and may be easily applied by the use of a paint brush.

We will be very glad to advise with you at any time in reference to putting in and caring for your orchard.

Yours very truly,
W. J. TILLER,
County Agent.
