MR. EDITOR ;--- Not many days ago we "pulled out" for Jefferson, (the place where we got"struck" some time ago,) for a pleasure trip. The weath-er was inclement and possibly we would have declined the trip but for the anticipations of a good time. The mode of travel for the first day was by private conveyance, and to keep from freezing occasionally we would dismount and "hit the grit" for a mino or two. This we did with all the grace we could muster. About dark we arrived at Jefferson, and about that time we were overtaken by one of our old

Flat Rock chums who piloted us to the residence of Mr. W. M. Miller, where we had the pleasure of sitting down by a good fire, and after warming up we repaired to the dining room, and you may imagine what we did there. Jefferson as we might expect is still growing. Mr. W. M. Miller had just completed a three story barn that is a daisy. Mr. John McMillan has a new store completed and Mr. L. E. Camden, which was in charge of Col. J. H. Averill, a few minutes after 4 o'clock, and arrived in Obarleston at 10:30. Owing to an accident to the engine the train was delayed for a thort while, but Col, Averill soon had his guests "on their way rejoicing" again. At Cherleston the guests were met by a committee from the several exchanges and were taken in street ears to the Charleston Hotel, where a hot suppor was awaiting them After suppor the guests passed off an hour or so with their friends and making new acquaintances. All of them were comfortably juartered for the night and the next morning, they found a number of elegant sarriages driven before the hotel door, and placed at their cosmand for the day, much to the do, it of Charleston's greets. At If o'clock the happy party were aken on board of the stemship Cher okee, and at the invitation of the Olyde Steamship Company, they "lunched on board." Everything here was "as neat as a pin" and in "apple pie or-der." A pleasant time was realized by every one. It would have been impossible to have improved upon our reception on the Cherokee.

From the time the crowd left the steamship Cherokee, until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the guests made good use of the Carriages placed at their command. At 5 o'clock, however, the visitors and their friends in the Queen City begun to assemble at the Charieston Hotsl to be present at the ban-quet given by Charleston in honor of ber guests. The large banquoting hall of the Charleston Hotel presented a lovely appearance, and everything was arranged in the best of style, and Charleston's visitors were loud in their praises of this happy culmina tion of their visit.

There were seven regular toasts responded to by gentlemen from York, Lancaster, Kershaw and Charleston. We have heard a good deal of Char-leston's hospitality, and always be-lieved a good deal of it, but never had we thought or dreamed of anything to equal the grand, the royal recep-tion given us by Charleston last week. All honor and praise is due to our Queen City by the Sen.
