Railroad Meeting Yesterday.

A mass meeting was held in the old town hall in Camden yesterday "to consider and take action in reference to railroad bonds." The meeting was called to order by Col. J. D. Blanding, of Sumter, who had been invited to Camden to address the meeting. Col. Blanding was laboring under great physical disabilities, but made a very clear statement. He contended that the people of De-Kalb Township and Kershaw county should stand by their subscription provided the railroad company, of which he was at one time president and a director, carried out absolutely their contract. But he contended that they had not done this, and if God spared his life he would be present in Camden on the 22nd inst. to attend a mass meeting to be held here that day, and would be prepared to prove by white and black thatthe contract had not been complied with by the railroad company. That they had promised us a competing line to Char-leston, and they had not given it to us; that the road was to run from the Sumter county line to the Lancaster county line, and they should have commenced work at the Sumter county line which was plainly their countract with the people of Kershaw county, and this they had not done. That he, with the authority vested in him, had pledged us a competing line with the South Carolina Railway, but they had not given it to us, and that the S. C. R'y, had a rope around our necks now and without the competing line we could not help ourselves.

We would like to publish more of Col. Blanding's remarks, but we have not time nor space to do so. The meeting was not very largely attended and nothing was done except to lis ten to Col. Blanding's remarks.

Fire at Jefferson-Torch of the Incendiary From the Laucaster Ledger of the 12th inst. we learn that the store house and contents, embracing a general line of merchandise, belonging to Mr. John F. Milley, Jefferson, Chesterfield county, was consumed by fire on Fri day night last, about 12 o'clock. 1 was evidently the work of an incendi ary, as connecting circumstance strongly favor such a conclusion, Several wagons were heard passing the road, about half an hour before the fire was discovered, by some of the inmates of Mr. Miller's house, situated a short distance from the store. It is believed the store was first robbed and then set on fire. The building was nearly consumed when first disovered, consequently nothing was saved except what his safe contained. Mr. M. did a large business, and had just that day received a new supply to fill up his stock. The loss is estimated at $7,000, with an insurance of $2,000.

To be found at J. W. Blakeney's To be found at J. W. Blakeney's are mentioned herewith. Baker Choecolate, baker ehocolate (sweet,) canned pine apples. Peaches in 2 and 3 lb. cans, the very finest. -Do the farmers of South Carolina intend to keep up their war upon trusts and monopolies? If so, they should bend all of their energies to the work of laying in a full stock of home-raised provisions. Under that banner only can they deserve success or win it. With their base of supplies in the West, they are doomed to defeat.

-- Whenever we hear a man blowing bout the prosperity of his business we always think he ought to settle his little outstanding obligations, es-pecially any little judgment that may be laying around loose at the Clerk's office. Such action would not only bring jcy to the holder of the udgment, but would tend somewhat o confirm the man's statement about nis business.

A staff correspondent of the Birmingham Herald writes an interesting letter recently from Decatur, in which he says that that city has already fully recovered from the yellow fever epidemic, and is again a busy, prosperous manufacturing city. The people are cheerful and confident of the future, the industries have all resumed operations, now buildings are going up, and business goes on even better than before the epidemic broke out. No fear is felt of the recurrence of the yellow fever.—Ex.
