34 Round Boxing Card Friday Night, Mar. 25

The best All White Boxing Card ever put on in Camden is scheduled for Friday night of this week at the Kershaw Guards Armory. Carl Schlotburg who is promoting the fight states that everything has been done to make this exhibition the equal of any that can be seen in Charlotte, Columbia or any of the larger towns of this section. The fight has been widely advertised in all the neighboring towns and a record breaking attendance is expected. For this reason it is advisable that seats be purchased in advance. Reservations may be had at The Fashion Shop or any of the Hotels. The proceeds of the fight will go toward retiring the mortgage on the Armory of the local National Guard Company under whose auspices the fight is being held.

Frankie Daniels, boxing coach of the South Carolina University, will referee the fight.

The main bout is between Buster Newberry, of Sumter, one of Lukie Tenner's stable of Charlotte fighters and Ben Logan of Winthrop. This bout will be for ten rounds of three minutes each.

The semi-final between Ed Dreher of Winthrop and Herman Hanna of Chester will be for eight three-minute rounds. In their last meeting these boys fought to a draw and this scrap should be a good one.

Jimmy Beal, of the University of South Carolina, will meet Mike O'Brien of Washington for a round best. Beal is a professional boxer and will meet the National Amateur champion at Pennsylvania State next month. He fights as a right hander.

Camden's boxing club will meet the Camden team at the Camden Armory on Friday night, March 25, for four rounds.

One of the most interesting features will be the "kid fight" between Red Lynch of Wateree Mills and Tuffy Thomson of Hermitage Mill. These youngsters have a local reputation as scrappers and will put on an exhibition worth seeing.

A new ring has been provided for the fight and the armory hall put in condition to accommodate the large number of fans expected.

Camden Future Farmers Take interest in Poultry

The Agricultural Class of the Camden High School are making poultry one of their major enterprises in their supervised practice program this year under the supervision of their Agricultural teacher, Mr. H. Granade.

Twenty-six of the Future Farmers have purchased 2240 baby chicks. The Future Farmer Chapter purchased these chicks cooperatively and saved $40.00 by buying these chicks this way. These chicks came from some of the best blooded flocks in the state. The breeds they are growing out are Rhode Island Red and Barred Rocks.

These boys have constructed ten brooder houses and light brick brooders under the supervision of their teacher. They will have constructed light laying houses by this fall to house the pullets.

The boys are mixing most of their feed out of yellow corn meal, wheat bran, wheat shorts, dried butter milk, meat scraps, bone meal and salt. They have already mixed one ton of this feed for the chicks.

Some of the chicks will be sold as broilers and friers and they plan to caponize a large number of the chicks. Most of the pullets will be put in laying houses this fall and replace the scrub house flock. This is one of the largest poultry projects undertaken by any school in the state. These boys will have fried chicken other days than Sunday.

Happening of Interest From Liberty Hill

March 21.—The recent cold spell has given way to more reasonable March weather but it did much damage to some garden vegetables. Irish potatoes, early blooming fruit trees and oats. Mr. R. C. Jones had a field of very fine oats "heading out" which was greatly damaged by "the freeze."

Considerable excitement was occasioned on Saturday evening by the appearance of a mad dog on the highway south of the Hill, however the terrorizing cry of mad dog, out traveled the dog and Mr. W. C. Wardlaw secured a gun and met the animal in front of Mr. R. C. Jones' place and killed it, otherwise serious results may have occurred as there was numerous people on the street. Only a short distance ahead, and the dog was said to have been quite vicious. A nice driveway has been constructed in front of the residence of Mr. W. C. Perry.

Rev. F. A. Drennan occupied the pulpit at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning and especially emphasized the great importance of following in our lives: the pattern laid down for us in the life and character of Jesus Christ—our Saviour and Redeemer. At the close of the sermon a congregational meeting was held and two of our popular and substantial young men, Messrs. J. P. Richards and E. L. Jones were elected deacons of the church.

The Stephen Richards Chapter of C. of C. met on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. J. H. Clements. Quite a number of children—and the leader Mrs. John G. Richards—were present. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

The forty eighth anniversary edition of the Messenger came to us in two eight page sections, replete with current news, historical sketches, pictures and quite an attractive display of commercial advertising, all together being a very creditable and useful edition for its many special features about which we have heard some very favorable comments.

Being in Camden Sunday evening we attended services at the Hermitage Baptist Church and heard a vey earnest, forcible and effective sermon by the Pastor Rev. Broadus Brown, which was received with much interest by a large audience. Rev. Brown said he had preached four times that day and to between twelve and fifteen hundred people.

The following Winthrop Students are home for the spring holidays: Misses Virginia DeLoache, Virginia Hailie, Dotty Zemp, Molly Blackwell, Olive Nettles, Carolyn Richardson, Elizabeth McCandill, Phyllis Carrison, Alice DePass and Evelyn Gettys.

Camden Steeplechase Oldest in America

Interest is mounting in the Carolina cup, historic steeplechase to be run here Saturday, March 26. The race is the oldest steeplechase in America, having been inaugurated more than 250 years ago. The trophy is of solid gold and beside its great historic value is a thing of beauty and high intrinsic worth.

Last year the winner was Sea Soldier, the only American bred horse to run in the Grand National at Aintree Liverpool, England. He was one of the nine mounts to finish the course, celebrated for its difficulty. Sea Soldier performed in the fine style throughout.

In its account of the race, the Associated Press spoke as follows of Sea Soldier:

"Today's classic favored horses that were racers as well as jumpers. This was particularly apparent with Sea Soldier, the only American-bred horse in the race. He fenced faultlessly all of the way, finishing in perfect stride, but did not have the speed to keep pace with the leaders."

His finesse as a jumper under difficulties was also broadcast through out the world over the Associated Press wires, in the account of the general mixup at the second fence after Becher's Brook, as follows:

"Sea Soldier was saved only by Wilson' dextrous handling and by taking the big jump almost from a standing position."

This gives an indication of the type of horse that runs in the Carolina cup. Then wealthy Chicago sportsmen backed him for the Grand National.

The horse that came second in the Kentucky Grasslands steeplechase, which course is modeled after the Aintree course, and considered the finest in America, will be run here Saturday.

Numbers of other attempts of the American steeplechase will also start. The Carolina cup and its attendant events, which generally consist of two other races, is free to all spectators, no admission being charged, with programs furnished free.

Many horse lovers from Aiken, Pinehurst, Augusta and likewise from all over the East are expected to be on hand, as was the case last year when leading racing writers from the great American dailies were present to cover the event for their papers.—The State.

FILLING STATION BANDIT ARRESTED BY POLICE

About eight o'clock Sunday night two men, driving a Ford car, were discovered robbing the filling station on East DeKalb Street operated by Brevard Boykin. When they were interrupted by Alton Hasty and John Laney, filling station employes, they had broken the lock on the gas pump and were filling their tank. The station had not been entered. One of the men drove rapidly away in the car leaving the other at the station. Laney and Hasty followed the car, which was overtaken and the occupant arrested by Patrolman Raley. The car was found to contain an assortment of master keys, drills, files and other tools. Later in the night the prisoner escaped from the police station and made an unsuccessful attempt to recover his car which was parked in front of the station. He was recaptured Monday morning between Camden and Columbia. His companion has not been arrested.
