FARM OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING SAYS COUNTY AGENT H. D. GREENE

It is encouraging to know that the price of cotton has been increasing recently and we should all have a brighter outlook on life and be more optimistic and progressive and be less discouraged. However, do not allow ourselves to again become dependent upon cotton money to buy those things which we should produce at home with particular reference to food and feed crops. Do not become too independent and too spendthrift on account of the recent rise in cotton price for we must realize that as cotton prices go up likewise the cost of cotton production will go up and if cotton remains at a higher level until next year we may expect to see the price of fertilizers advance and possible the price of labor and mules advanced also, thereby maintaining the usual small margin of profit which we may expect.

In view of the above it appears advisable that we take advantage of every opportunity to keep from spending money, hence, we should continue to do everything possible towards producing our living on the farm. This fall we should put in grazing crops for our livestock, we should conserve stable and lot manures, we should plant at least some Austrian peas or vetch, using lime. This will be a part of your program of soil improvement and will also give you greater crop yields next year. We should continue the production of livestock—cows, horses, chickens (and possibly you will have opportunity to get a good mare and raise colts before very long). We should take great interest in our home garden and make the garden an all-year proposition. There are at least a dozen vegetables which may be planted in your garden between now and the middle of September. If you do not know what they are please ask your county agent for a copy of bulletin No. 72, "Vegetable Gardening." Make your turnip patch still larger. It will supply food for the family livestock and possibly some needy neighbors this winter. Get in touch with your county agent and secure agricultural bulletins on the subject. You are most interested in. File your name with your county agent to receive the monthly garden letter from Clemson College which is free. Arrange to enlarge your pastures in order that you may produce more livestock. More livestock, legumes and lime will help our people to gain economic freedom. If you have no a milk cow try at least to trade for a heifer calf and raise her.

Respectfully,
HENRY D. GREEN, County Agent

Five appointments to complete the business and financial organization of the Democratic party in South Carolina were announced by Claud N. Sapp, state chairman, yesterday. The appointments were made upon request of James A. Farley, chairman of the national Democratic executive committee.

Senator R. M. Cooper of Wisacky was appointed state director of finance. As members of the national campaign finance committee, Mr. Sepp designated B. M. Edwards of Columbia and John T. Stevens of Kershaw, both bankers.

Frank G. Williams; Former Camden Man Dies in Automobile Accident

Mr. Frank F. Williams, formerly manager of Penney's Department Store in Camden was instantly killed Sunday morning when his automobile collided with a Seaboard train at a crossing near Mullins.

Mr. Williams who left Camden only a short while ago was employed by the Collins Department Stores at Mullins. He was on his way to spend his 29th birthday anniversary with Mrs. Williams who was employed by the same firm in their Conway branch.

Mr. Williams was accompanied by Miss Mattie Goude, of near Mullins, a friend of his room mate who was going to spend the day with friends near Conway. Miss Goude was fatally injured and died at a hospital near the scene of the accident.

Coroner Clark Gasque empaneled a jury, which viewed the victims' bodies. The jury recessed then until 11 a. m., Friday, when a double inquest will be held.

Members of the crew of the freight train, Local No. 80, northbound, said the wreck was not due to failure of stop-light signals at the crossing, which, they said, were functioning. It occurred about 5 a. m.

Williams' automobile buried itself under a box car, the front wheels crossing the opposite track. It required 45 minutes to extricate the victims' bodies, as the automobile had to be removed first. Officers said this indicated the machine was moving at a high rate of speed.

Mr. Williams, who was 29 years old, is survived by his widow, Mrs. Serena Evans Williams, and the following brothers and sisters: B. L. Williams and Mrs. George A. Monson, of Sumter; R. A. Williams, of St. Paul, N. C., and G. W. Williams, of Pamplico, S. C.

Camden Graded Schools Students To Register During This Week

The Camden city schools will begin classes September 6th at 9 o'clock, according to the plan of Superintendent J. G. Richards, Jr. High school pupils will be registered on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the week preceding the beginning of classes. There are several reasons for this early registration of high school pupils. In order to meet the needs of the individual pupil, a large number of elective subjects is offered and the most careful consideration should be given to the selection of these subjects. By early registration, the tiresome waiting in the classrooms on the first day of school is avoided. Pupils who register early will have a better chance of taking the subjects they desire since the schedule for classes will be to a large extent based upon the selections made. Pupils will not be kept at school all day; just as soon as the pupil has been registered he will be excused.

LIME IMPORTANT FOR SUCCESS OF LEGUMES

In order to impress the importance of using lime with legumes in Kershaw County and especially with reference at this time to winter legumes such as Austrian Peas and Vetch I would like to call the attention of farmers of Kershaw County to the following paragraph taken from a letter dated July 27 addressed to me and written by Mr. J. A. Riley, Supt. of the Sandhill Experiment Station at Pontiac:

"Each fall since 1927 we have attempted to grow a considerable acreage of hairy vetch and Austrian winter peas at the Sandhill Station and in spite of the fact that every seed planted was thoroughly inoculated with commercial culture or soil we have invariably met with disaster except where we had used reasonably small amounts of Dolomitic limestone, inasmuch as this form contains sufficient magnesium of which there is a deficiency on the soils of this station. I should state that where relatively large amounts of barnyard manure was used we have succeeded with these crops without lime; but the use of manure in this connection must necessarily be limited because of the lack of the availability of this material."

Respectfully,
HENRY D. GREEN, County Agt.

The Democratic Primary election held Tuesday, was one of the hardest fought contests ever held in Kershaw County. Great interest was manifested in the various contests and in several instances the decision were close. Thousands of people from Camden and the county were on the streets last night to get the returns and cheer for their favorites. It is estimated that probably 5,000 people viewed the returns on the screen at the office of The Camden Chronicle. The huge crowd was orderly and well behaved and no disorders resulted.

The race for County Director in DeKalb Township probably excited greater interest than any other owing to the popularity of the two contestants and the hot fight waged by both sides. The results were close, W. T. Redfearn defeating the incumbent, H. G. Carrison, Jr by a majority of 106 votes.

Kershaw County gave Ellison D. Smith a plurality over his opponents for U. S. Senate with Cole L. Blease running second.

J. P. Richards carried the county over Stevenson for Congress and according to returns from other counties will have a substantial lead in the district.
