The house is one of the old manors, remodeled and luxuriously furnished by the actor. Its conservatories abound in tropical fruits and flowers. Artificial ponds teem with trout and black bass. Lake Simonette near by affords the finest fishing, while one has to step but a few yards from Jefferson's fireside to find wild fowl in abundance. Luxuriant groves containing thousands of trees of the mandarin and Brazilian varieties surround the house. Fully one hundred pecan and the same number of orange t ees yield succulent crops yearly. In the pastures are the finest specimens of Holsteins, while in the stables are a number of the fleetest roadsters of the South The apartment of which Mr. Jefferson is proudest, and in which he entertains Mr. Cleve and, is the Japanese room. It is of marvellous beauty, and visitors come from miles about to gaze upon the gorgeous furnishings. The actor is said to have invited a number of distinguished Southerners at Orange Island.

The Way Out.

Much has been said of the expediency of restricting the acreage the South puts in cotton, with a view to a reduced crop and an increased price. A better idea, according to Admiral Ammen, is to open facilities via the Nicaragua Canal, for supplying Japan and China with cotton, and thus increase the demand for cotton at fair prices. The Japanese and Chinese use vast quantities of cotton goods. They are beginning to manufacture, and if they get Southern cotton via the isthmus at lower prices than they now pay they would go into the cotton manufacturing on a greatly increased scale. At present they get it over the Canadian Pacific Railway or via the Sucz Canal That is out of the way and expensive. What is wanted is a direct route that would increase the Oriental demand. With such a demand well developed, the question for the South would be not how to raise less cotton. Lut how to raise more.

Congress has never failed to respond favorably to requests from States for the services of aimy engineer officers, and would unquestionably consent to have some of the corps detailed to make this preliminary survey. But it is unseemly, to say the less', for those three States to ask that body for the pitiful sum of $25,000, to be expended by their own commissioners in ascertaining whether the scheme they propose is practicable New York and Philadelphia merchants. if they wish the survey made by a board of interstate commissioners/ought to pay all expenses. - Baltimore Manufacturers' Record

WONDERFUL MINERAL DEPOSITS. The Precious Stones of North Cerolina.

The precious and rare stones of North Carolina, although constituting but a moiety of the State's mineral wealth, have been unearthed in such variety and under such conditions as to lead to the belief in the minds of many that sooner or later they will be found in abundance in nature's as yet hidden storehouse. Speaking of this recently, one who witnessed the scene told the following story, which the Manufacturer's Record thinks

In the autumn of 1882 the Richmond & Danville Railroad Co. detailed Maj. C. C. McPhail to make, at a Boston exposition, a display of the resources of the territory traversed by that line and o its feeders. A splendid exhibition that attracted thousands of visitors was the result. Among these one day was a cultivated, sweet-faced and venerable gentlewoman of the best Puritan stock who had bein induced by her son to go with him to see the wonderful resources of the Piedmont South. Major McPhail has the courteous digoity of a Virginia gentleman of the old regime, the practical training and experience of this age At progress, and is a keen observer and an excellent judge of human nature. He paid especial attention to the venerable matron and delighted her by his lucid explanations. Finally, after taking a number of specimens from his showcase and arranging them on the tables before her, he said interrogatively: "You are familiar, madasae, with St. John's description in the Book of Revelation of the precious stones os that great city, the holy Jerusalem?" 'Yes, indeed," was her reply,

"Permit me, then, to show them to tion given to the cause of education by a you in this order," he said. "These are southern man since the war. apparent horror of the most striking out- not pol shed, as St. John saw them in ward peculiarities of his race, and urges his vision, but they are all here and
