Gardeners Urged To Plant Fall Vegetables Early

Gardeners are urged in the August Garden Letter issued by the Extension Service to plant fall vegetables early as a safeguard against frost damage. A. B. Schilleter, leader, Clemson Horticulture Extension Work, who prepared the letter, points out that every day counts now as each day's delay in planting is one link nearer "Jack Frost" and possible loss from cold weather.

"Never were vegetables more important to supplement the family food supply than now," he says. "Food prices continue to rise and also food remains scarce. Vegetables this fall will be more important than ever in cash savings as well as in helping to retain the family's health. Now is the time to plant the fall garden," he adds.

He suggests planting rutabaga turnips at once. Extra Early Purple Top and white Egg Varieties of turnips may be planted at any time until September 15 and Shogoin and Seven Top varieties planted for greens may be seeded until October 1. Local, U. S. No. 5, and Stringless Green Pod varieties of beans should be planted before September 1, and Early Wonder or Detroit Dark Red beets should be planted now. Other vegetables and varieties which should be planted at once are: Chantenay or Emperor Carrots; Sotwell's Evergreen or Trucker's Favorite Corn; and Lookout Mountain or Irish Cobbler potatoes.

For transplanting Mr. Schilleter suggests Georgia Southern collards, Georgia Self-Blanching Giant Pascal celery, Charleston Wakefield or Late Flat Dutch cabbage for heads this fall.

He cautions gardeners that decaying vegetables and vegetable plants are likely to increase disease and insect damage next season and advises them to cultivate and clean up ground where vegetables have matured.

Fall gardens will help supplement the family income. This may be accomplished by selling your surplus vegetables at the Farm and Home Market each Saturday morning.

SOUTH CAROLINA RALLYING STRONGLY BEHIND THURMOND

The voters of South Carolina appear to be lining up almost unanimously behind the candidacy of Governor J. Strom Thurmond for President on the States Rights Democratic ticket. Numerous county Democratic executive committees have gone on record unanimously as endorsing his candidacy and in many sections fund-raising campaigns have been launched.

Among the county committees that have unanimously endorsed the States Rights ticket composed of Governor Thurmond for President and Governor Fielding Wright of Mississippi for Vice President, are Kershaw, Charleston, Anderson, Allendale, Calhoun, Jasper, McCormick and possibly others.

At the first official campaign meeting held in Allendale county held Tuesday in Allendale, the hat was passed and $114.75 raised amid much applause.

In Pelton, a rural section of Lexington county, over $200 has already been raised for the fund.

Congressman L. M. Rivers, of Charleston, representative from the First South Carolina Congressional district, issued a statement in Washington Tuesday urging an immediate meeting of the South Carolina State Democratic Executive committee for the purpose of "pledging South Carolina presidential electors to the standard bearer of the States Rights cause."

"I think this course is highly important," Rivers said, "because there is a question in my mind that the people of South Carolina want an opportunity to repudiate Truman just as he has repudiated us."

The State Democratic convention in Jackson, Miss., Monday instructed the electors of that state to cast their ballots for Thurmond and Wright and Alabama has already done likewise.

Over 17,000 people have signed petitions in North Carolina asking that the names of Thurmond and Wright be placed on the ballot in North Carolina.

Fifty-five thousand U. S. citizens are now working in Guam.

A radar-equipped ferry now is operating between Brooklyn, N. Y. and Staten Island.

Richards Gets Fine Majority Over Opponent

Representative J. P. Richards was returned to Congress by a majority of over 3,000 over his opponent, Roy C. Cobb, of Gaffney.

Kershaw county stood handsomely by its native son giving a 3,076 votes to 864 for Cobb.

In Lancaster county the vote was Richards 5,010; Cobb 53,231.

In Chester the vote was Richards 3,770; Cobb 2,195.

York gave Richards 5,824 and Cobb 3,775.

Chesterfield gave Richards 4,500 and Cobb 1,344.

Fairfield gave Richards 1,268 and Cobb 534.

Cherokee, Cobb's home county, was the only county which went against Richards. There the vote was Richards 1,830; Cobb 5,077.
