

Meet Most Urgent Needs First

City To Issue $450,000 In Bonds At Early Date

The Camden City Council plans to sell $450,000 in general obligation bonds within the next two or three months and to use the proceeds in making public improvements that are the most urgently needed, such as the extension of the sewer line to the river and enlarging and improving the waterworks system, Mayor Henry J. Jr., said Monday. This will represent not quite one-half of the total bond authorized by the voters of the city. The other bonds will be issued at later will be called for it and if it can be worked in one will be installed since it is badly needed. Bids will also be asked for the construction of a sewer line to the river, which is one of the City's necessities. The construction of water mains, street sewers and improvements to public utilities will be done by the City itself and this work will be done steadily. The Mayor said that the City was not figuring on starting the paving program within the next twelve to eighteen months. He said the essential improvements would come first and the other would wait until labor was plentiful and when it might help to give employment.

Members of City Council met last week with representatives of several bond houses and with Huger Sinkler, Jr., bond attorney, of Charleston, at which time plans for issuing the bonds were discussed.

On Lookout For Two Miami Girls

Local authorities have been requested to be on the lookout for two girls said to have run away from their homes in Miami.

In a wire from William B. Merrick of 235 NW 20th street, Miami, father of Edna Merrick, one of the runaway girls, he describes his daughter as being 17 years of age, 5 feet, 3 inches tall and weighing 100 pounds. She has dark blonde hair and hazel eyes.

Her companion, Caroline Cox is 20, is 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 250 pounds. The father states in his wire that the girls were last reported to be hitchhiking north on U. S. Highway No. 1.

"Cinderella" To Be Brought to Camden By Kiwanis Club

The Camden Kiwanis Club is bringing the musical stage show, "Cinderella" to Camden on Monday evening, Oct. 17 at the Camden Grammar School auditorium, it was announced Monday morning.

The stage show features an all adult professional New York cast. It will be the same excellent company which has appeared from coast to coast playing to capacity audiences in key cities throughout the United States. Audiences in such metropolitan centers as Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Seattle and many others have been thrilled with the brilliant musical performance.

The show will introduce to Camden people one of the most charming personalities of the American theater. Clelia is a New England girl born of a theatrical family, well known in the annals of the theatrical world. She studied with the great Malatesta of the Metropolitan Opera Company and was guided in the ballet by Louis Chali. She starred with the Children's Opera Company and the American Light Opera Company.

Bench Show Is Opening Event For Fox Hunters

Over Two Hundred Dogs Expected To Take Part In Field Trials

Hundreds of fox hunters, members of the South Carolina Fox Hunters association, began to pour into Camden Monday morning to take part in the annual bench show and field trials, which began with the former event Monday night and will continue with derby and all-age class runs today, Wednesday and Thursday.

At noon Monday Carl Lightfoot, chairman of the host committee for the meeting here, stated that he looked for over 200 hounds, a new high in number, to take part in the several casts that will feature the meeting. Monday night's bench show was scheduled to be held under the lights at the high school football field and was expected to attract a crowd of several hundred spectators as well as scores of hunters whose hounds were striving for honors.

Foxhunters began to arrive at the Sarsfield hotel, headquarters for the state classic, Sunday evening and Monday morning the arrivals speeded up. Every room in the hotel was taken, most of them having been reserved many days ahead. The air was filled with the chatter of the hound enthusiasts, who confined themselves to the jargon of the occasion.

J. R. White of Spartanburg was to judge at the bench show Monday night. Included in the group of officials present are: Hugh Jeeter of Union, president of the state body; C. D. Falls and A. S. Pearson, Woodruff, secretary and treasurer respectively.

Tuesday there will be a derby run at sunset with the first cast being at the Weeks plantation on the Knights Hill highway. The second cast will be at Sunnyside plantation and the third at the Murchison property in the Charlotte Thompson section.

Wednesday the derby class runs will be staged again. The all-age class runs will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. There will be scoring at all casts with the process of elimination functioning through Thursday morning when the winning hound will be announced.

Camden merchants, professional men and individual sportsmen have cooperated splendidly in the bringing of the association meeting to Camden and were most generous in their donation of trophies, some 21 being provided.

In addition to the trophies, there are seven challenge trophies to be awarded the top winners. This will be an annual affair in the future, it was stated today.

Hugh Jeeter, of Union, who heads the association and who is an enthusiastic fox hunter, was elected over the splendid turnout as indicated by reservations already listed.

"We of the association cannot express in an adequate manner our appreciation of the splendid work that Carl Lightfoot and his committee have done to make this meeting one of the most outstanding in the history of the association," said President Jeeter Monday.

The words of President Jeeter were echoed by Messrs. Falls and Pearson, secretary and treasurer respectively of the association.

In a statement Monday morning Carl Lightfoot said that so far the entries for the field trials listed hounds from the two Carolinas, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida and Virginia, the most far-embracing record in the history of the Fox Hunters' Association.

NO CIRCUS IN SIGHT

It seems now as though Camden will have to pass a circus-less fall. So far as is known one has not been killed for this city yet. Who can remember the good old days when a big circus came through every fall?

This Issue Of The Chronicle

In this issue of The Camden Chronicle appears the first column of Camden High School news. This will be a regular feature of each Tuesday's Chronicle.

Also in this issue will be found a page advertisement listing a number of football games and local fans are asked to guess the outcome of these games. Prizes will be awarded for the three most correct guesses.

Entries Are Still Being Received In Pastures Contest

New entries are still coming for the Pasture Contest being sponsored by the Kershaw Soil Conservation District, according to reports from County Agent W. C. McCarley.

To the many farmers in the county who are planting their winter pastures now, Mr. McCarley announces that the Extension Service has ordered seeds which should be available at that office shortly. Winter pastures entered in the contest will be judged some time in March or April. Summer pastures will not be looked over by the judges until July or August.

Town and County . . .

"Call of the Land"

"Call of The Land," a book written for and about 4-H Club work and workers, has been obtained by the county agent, and is being held in his office for use by any 4-H clubber in the county who would like to use it.

Slip of Typewriter

Through a slip of the typewriter, Alexander Young, well known jeweler of Camden in former years, was referred to in the article dealing with the old town clock as "an outstanding blacksmith." The error was obvious since the article stated that Mr. Young was entrusted with the job of caring for the town's new clock.

Trees Being Trimmed

The city street department is now engaged in trimming the city trees. Many of the tree limbs had grown so low that tall people were having difficulty in walking on some of the sidewalks.

Oklahoma Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lightfoot and Bessie Lightfoot, parents and brother of Carl Lightfoot, Mulberry plantation superintendent, who hail from Tulsa, Okla., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lightfoot at Mulberry for an extended period. This is the first time that Carl Lightfoot's parents have visited Camden and both were greatly impressed with the community.

Ruck Over Rattler

Jack Henderson of Camden appeared at The Chronicle office Friday bearing the still-quivering remains of a three-foot, ten-inch woods rattler and the story of how he ran over the poisonous reptile on the Fort Jackson road, about four miles off the Orangeburg highway. Henderson says the snake was coiled on the side of the road, his tail pointing up, and his 12 rattles whirring their warning. After it was hit, the snake sunk its fangs into itself, then twisted and turned till it died. Snakes are particularly prevalent in the woods this time of the year while they are on the move to winter quarters.

Prayer Meetings Held For Success Revival Meetings

Cottage prayer meetings are being held this week in preparation for the two-week revival which will begin on next Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Camden.

Rev. John Haggai, pastor of the Second Baptist church, of Lancaster, will do the preaching in the revival services. The music will be led by Bob Post, musical director of the Lancaster Second Baptist church, and a well known musician. Mrs. Haggai and Mrs. Post, both of whom are accomplished musicians, will assist in the music.

W. G. Tucker, Jr. Died Saturday, Saratoga Springs

Camden Winter Resident Died At His Summer Home Saturday

Willis Gaylord Tucker, Jr., of Camden and Saratoga Springs, N. Y., retired advertising executive, died at his summer home in Saratoga Springs Saturday. Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Clement's Catholic Church, Saratoga Springs.

Mr. Tucker, great grandson of Luther Tucker, pioneer American publisher of the Country Gentleman, was the son of the late Dr. Willis Tucker, dean of Albany Medical College. After graduation from Albany Academy and Yale University, class of 1902, he was for a time reporter on the old Albany Argus.

Later he entered the advertising field and established the Tucker Advertising Agency in New York City, representing the New York Edison and associated companies until the sale of the business some years ago to Kelly, Nason and Roosevelt.

Mr. Tucker was interested in the improvement of the breed of thoroughbred horses and was a former member of the Saratoga Association. Of recent years he has divided his time between Saratoga Springs and Camden.

Mr. Tucker was a distinguished Catholic layman and was largely instrumental in the organization of the Commonweal. Besides his widow, the former Alice Woods of Albany, N. Y., he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. A. William Putnam, of Rye, N. Y., and Mrs. Harry Holt, of New York City.

M. W. McKinney Is Killed By Hit And Run Driver

M. W. McKinney, of Columbia, who has been building some houses at Lugoff, was killed on United States Highway No. 1 Saturday when he was struck by a hit and run driver about a mile and a half north of Pontiac.

Coroner William A. Plott of Richland county gave this account of what he thought probably happened: The truck which Mr. McKinney was driving, for some unaccountable reason had veered off the highway down a slight embankment. Apparently he was unable to get the truck back on the highway and from all evidence he had crossed the highway going north on the left hand side facing the oncoming traffic, apparently walking on the shoulder of the road, when he was struck by an automobile or truck.

He was dragged for a distance of approximately 125 feet, Coroner Plott said.

The driver of the vehicle that struck him continued on. The incident is being investigated by Highway Patrolman D. B. Hallman, Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beckham, Deputy Sheriff Johnny Lorick, Magistrate Lonnie Jacobs, who happened to be near the scene; and Coroner Plott of Richland county.

Mr. McKinney was building several houses over at Lugoff at the time of his death. He commuted between Lugoff and Columbia daily.

Charles H. Stogner Home Purchased By Leland M. Jones

Leland M. Jones, who will be the manager of the Camden plant of the DuPont Company, has purchased the Charles H. Stogner home at 2105 North Broad street, and will occupy same in a few weeks.

The home which was sold by Mr. Stogner to Mr. Jones last week is one of the attractive homes of the city. It was formerly the home of Dr. Lindsay.
