

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1902.

How should this week... One thermometer registered 93 degrees at 5 p.m. on Monday.

The beautiful storm will be published next week. When will it come in again?

Section Master Weaver was severely cut across the thigh by an unknown party the other night at the City Station on the Port Royal and Augusta Road.

On Mr. E. L. Patterson's place in Red Oak township there is a pair of twins, colored piglets, eight-months old, that weigh respectively 4 and 5 pounds.

We hope that every delinquent subscriber will pay up before the election. We do not think any one of them is too poor and we hope that no one is too close-fisted to give us our dues.

The time for the payment of taxes without penalty will expire on next Monday week. The Treasurer requests tax payers to come up promptly and not to delay until the eleventh hour.

Since prohibition commenced to prohibit in the county only one drunken man has been lodged in the Allendale guard house, and he was a traveler who filled himself with benzine elsewhere.

Charles W. Myerly, Esq., of Yarnville, Hampton county, has brought suit for $20,000 damages against the Port Royal and Augusta Railway for injuries received by him several months ago at Allendale.

Mr. C. L. Hiers of Bennett Springs picked 402 lbs. of cotton one day last week between sunrise and sunset, and his brother, J. L. Hiers, picked 306 pounds on the same day besides engaging one and a half hours in other work.

Hog cholera has broken out in the Danbarston section. The late Thomas Stewart, Sr., once told us that he had cured many cases with a mixture of grease and concentrated lye. Lye soap is also said to be a good remedy. Too much lye should not be used as it will burn the mouths of the porcine patients.

On the 8th ult. a tramp passing through Robbins became so sick that he was unable to go further. Dr. Bailey was called in and pronounced it a case of sunstroke. The stranger died on Monday and was decently interred. From his effects it was learned that his name was M. Hinton and that he was a German by birth and a shoemaker by trade.

In a pleasant letter, enclosing his subscription, the Hon. J. H. Lynch, mayor of Hawkinsville, Ga., and a prominent merchant of that thriving city says, "I was in and read within seven miles of the Court House and would like to hear from my county and friends and know what is going on in the old county." THE PEOPLE will carry him the news once a week.

DEATHS.—In Great Cypress township on the 24th ult. Mr. R. S. Furman, after a long illness.

In the early morning, on the 24th ult., Virginia Aiken, infant daughter of Dr. N. F. Kirkland, Jr.

In Bennett Springs township, on the 20th instant, of typhoid fever, Miss Mattie Routree, eldest daughter of Mr. Judson Routree.

Barnwell.—Saturday was the best trade day of the season.

Mr. W. A. Holman has made five sales of cotton on five acres of land this season.

Mr. Thomas K. Ayer is in town on a business visit and reports everything as lovely in his Florida home.

Rev. J. M. Dostick preached his farewell sermon in the Baptist church on Sunday and will soon remove with his family to his plantation near Lawtonville. The Baptist church was built thirty years ago and has had the following pastors: Revs. B. F. D. Perry, Dr. L. H. Slack, J. H. Kinslow, W. G. Lindsay, W. A. Pearson and J. M. Dostick.

A lady requests us to call the attention of the town council to the epidemic of outrageous conduct that has prevailed in the streets of the town for several nights. On Monday night about one o'clock while she was waiting upon her sick infant some one fired into the roof of her residence. Such shameful conduct must not be continued, and if it is stopped short of somebody will get hurt. The shot gun is the best Court House for such savages.

BLACKVILLE.—Rev. Arthur Bolst, one of the best teachers in the State, has charge of the French and mathematical classes in the Blackville High School. With him, "teaching the young idea how to shoot" is a labor of love, and the institution will prosper if the people should properly appreciate the sterling worth and competency of his hard-working faculty.

The school day Capt. Perry and Mr. T. T. Gill went squirrel hunting in the Edisto swamp but were compelled by the mosquitoes to beat a hasty good-bye retreat. Although Captain Perry has not "smiled" for many years he had such a bad case of "bug-bite" the next day that he could not find a hat in his own large enough for his head. Mr. Gill says that when he tried to take aim at a squirrel the mosquitoes lit upon his gun barrel in such numbers as to hide the sight and prevented more kills than he could stand.

"Come along brethren" and sisters and sinners to Gill's. He wants to see you early and often, and between times and miscellaneous. Gill has everything that is good to eat and drink and wants to divide with the multitude. Fruits of all kinds, fish, fresh and fried, six days in the week. Hot goodness, paroled every day, and soda water and ice cream, cold as charity and cheaper than cotton. Gill fills the bill as a feeder.

Old John Robinson's circus will be here on the 23rd inst.

Cotton receipts up to Saturday night 2279 bales.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—In this issue our readers will find several new advertisements. These will be found much more interesting and profitable than dry political lectures or diffuse descriptions of the Chinese war. The men who advertise are the men for the times. They mean business and want to prefer large sales and small profits to small sales and large profits and the people will reward them with a liberal patronage. Here are some of them.

Tarver, Cashin & Co., all young, handsome and hard working young men, offer a very large stock of hats, shoes, hats, etc., at prices that invite competition in any market. They can suit any taste and accommodate any pocket and we ask our friends to call at their headquarters before buying elsewhere. They will be sure to be pleased with the gentlemanly bachelors, Tarver and Cashin, and with their goods and prices.

Our earliest recollections of Augusta are pleasantly connected with the sign and signs of our good friend, Mr. G. Volger. We never visit that city without testing his cigars and tobacco and never get anything except first class articles at his establishment. A long experience has made him perfectly familiar with his business, and in addition to his extensive city trade he desires and deserves the patronage of the people of Aiken and Barnwell.

Mr. L. F. Padgett of Upper Broad Street, is organizing an extensive trade in fruit to be brought from Georgia and Carolina. He is an active, pleasant, progressive man who knows what he is about and his chances of competition shows that he is a formidable candidate for trade. If, as he claims, he can give better bargains than other houses then he's the man that ought to get your patronage. We like him.

Platt Brothert, an old and honored house, invite the friends of former years and their children and connections, and in fact everybody desiring to buy furniture, to call upon them. Age has not weakened their energy and experience has largely increased their capacity to meet the wants of their customers. Their stock is large, embracing all styles and qualities, and he seems to inspect it and learn prices before buying elsewhere.

On Saturday evening while Mrs. R. S. Furman was kindling a fire, a firebomb fell on the hearth exploded, throwing the burning oil over her and one of her children about eighteen months old, the child died from their burns, the child living about an hour and the mother surviving until the next day.
