the of the of child count of e e'estoral vote of New York on last aturday; giving to Cleveland and Henthe majority of votes is the liual demulate assurance that the candidates of the Democracy elected on the th of November will be inaugurated on the 1sh of March. And what then? The history of Governor Cleveland's life is a wormancy to the country that his admin tration will be conservative and safe and not sensational and dangerous as would have Leen that of Mr. Blaine, The election of Mr. Cleveland is not so mach a DemBoratic triumph as a visto Ty of the better elements of American pulitics over the worse. The Democracy gave him its solid support but the votes ubcessary to convert their minority into a majority were furnished by the Judependent Republicans of New York who huld the bulance of power and preferring the public good to party supremacy cast their votes and influence in favor of a clean man. By their votes the American people have placed the Democracy on probation and their conduct during the next four years will be watched with jeslous eyes both by its enemics and the temperary allies she turned the tide of ballots in its favor.

Perhaps the greatest ob-tacle to the return of the National Democracy to power has been the fear on the part of the Northern people that a large part of the administration of the aff. irs of the government might be transferred to the hands of Southern won who were twenty years age arrayed against it. They have not forgotten or forgives the soldiers of the South. So we conclude that the Administration of President Cleveland wi Le an colorged copy of the administration of Governor Cleveland and largely guided by the views of the Independent Republicans of his own State to whose support he owes his elevation. He is disciple of civil service reform, an enemy to the spoils system and can say No and slick to is with beiter and braver grace v other man in the Union There will be uo delage ht the dismis sal of Republican office holders and the substitution of Democratic aspirants .nazious by their political activity must ge, but where the line is to be drawn no one can yet tell. We adhere to the position taken several years ago that in Democratic States Democrats should hold the offices and that in Republican States Republicans should. Then we found fault with Senators Hampton and Butler for favoring the confirmation of Blythe, Melton & Co., and we believe that the adoption of the policy above in dicated would be best and fairest. We are sorry to see that the office hunting fever has so suddenly become epidemic in South Carolina, for the reasons that s. many will be disappointed and that the few who are fortunate will not be even tually benefitted.

Présentment of the Grand Jury To His Honor J. H. Audson, Presiding

Judge ; We have examined the various county buildings and offices and find there is good order. Would however recommend that the gutters to the jull be replaced. The inmates of the jail and poor houses seem to be well treated. The Grand Jury finds one George Ennis occupying one of the houses on the poor farm who does not seem to be a subject of county charity. Regarding the poor farm, which was cultivated by the county this year, the Grand Jpry would recommend that the County Commissioners sell the mule, farming utensils and other property appertaining to the same and rent it cut next year add apply the revenue derived therefrom to the purchase of wood and other necessaries for the inmates of the poor houses, providing that the corn on hand be used for the purpose of rationing the poor and that the pro ceeds of sale of mule be covered into the county treasury. The roads and bildges throughout the county are in fair condition, excepting the road leading from Allendale to McCoy's Bluff. Respectfully submitted.
