

The Barnwell People.

W. W. HOLMES, Editor & Prop'r

LARGEST COUNTY CIRCULATION

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1908.

It is said that over five million dollars were sent to Europe as Christmas gifts from immigrants to their home folks beyond the Atlantic.

Judge Tatt spent Saturday playing golf in Aiken.

Resident Augustans did not get further East than the North Augusta dispensary.

Last week Edgedon's monthly published a pathetic letter of the woes from Col. J. H. Tillman, who goes to California in quest of health. He does not express any lively hope of ever coming back well.

An exchange says that in 37 years 2,000 people have emigrated from Germany. There was not room for them in their Fatherland, so they had to scatter to Asia, Africa, South America &c.

People complain of hard times here and some with good reason, but conditions are worse in other places. In Boone County, Kentucky, over two hundred parcels of land are advertised for sale for unpaid taxes.

The Dutch prophet of Columbia, who beats the government snoring in weather-scarifications, says that this winter cold waves will come from the North West. Last winter they blew in from the Northeast, and were as mean as the New England manufacturers could turn out.

A Happy New Year is our wish to all the readers of THE PEOPLE and to the little ones of their families. And they and we may have the Happy New Year if we keep the spirit of the Christmas alive in our hearts. Duty done to others is the surest source of happiness to all mankind.

Secretary Straus of the department of commerce and labor informed President Roosevelt last week that during the year ending 30th September 721,112 immigrants from Europe came into the United States, and 717,814 went back to their former homes, leaving America's gain in population 6,298.

The meanest man reported lives near Andrew Jackson's birthplace. A night or so before Christmas he stole the only turkey of the editor of the Lancaster News.

We leave it to the News and Courier to determine whether the thief was a North Carolina far from South Carolina, blue book worm, or both.

Last week we copied on fourth page from the Columbia Record the story of Elmer Meyer of Newberry, now serving sentence in the Penitentiary for barn burning, that he's the father of forty-one children. According to Meyer's former landlord only one child is so unfortunate as to be Meyer's. So Elmer is a 40 h. p. bar in addition to his bandiness with matches.

The next semiannual session of the cotton mill legislature will be held in Charleston, commencing on January 9th. As there are a hundred or more cotton mills in this State the gathering will be a large one. As was the case a year ago these cotton mill managers will probably outline what they wish done by the Senators and Representatives chosen by the people.

Among the good things that came to us on the Christmas Day was the 40th issue of The Blackville Courier, the newest, handsomest and most attractive debonair of the full year in the newspaper world.

And its good looks were well matched in the excellence of its contents and the tasteful grace of its make up. In regard to a community Blackville its Merry Christmas was sure and the Happy New Year is coming up its glowing horizon. To our bright young neighbor we give the cordial welcome of THE PEOPLE.

"Figures don't lie." They may be jiggled and twisted, but when straightened out they "new to the bone" let the chips fall where they will."

The report of State Bank Inspector Giles L. Wilson, comparing financial conditions on December 16th 1907 with those of November 27th 1908 is an interesting eyeopening if not comforting paper.

It shows that between the above dates there had been an increase of fifteen new State, private and savings banks, making the total of such institutions 242.

Deposits in these 242 banks on November 27th were $975,623 less than the deposits held in 227 banks on December 16th 1907, showing that the persons doing business through the banks are nearly a million dollars poorer than they were a year ago in cash on hand.

If the circumstances of the greater number who keep no accounts with the banks are a general scarcity of ready money warns to greater economy in expenditure during the coming year.

However the deficit is not so bad when it is remembered that cotton is $20 a bale cheaper than last year.

Christmas Day brought a varied assortment of weather, wind, thunder, rain and sunshine.

THE PASSING HEROES.

Kline, S. C., December 26, 1908.

Dear Editor:

I have read a great deal about the reunions of Confederate Veterans and it has been my privilege to attend several, but to my sad surprise I have almost entirely failed to find my old comrades there the men who stood by me side, the boys who stood behind the guns, who say they are in a great many cases too poor to pay the small railroad fare and buy the necessities while there. I find their places to some extent filled, to my certain knowledge taken by men who never heard a gun. Can't the State afford to give them a Reunion and pay their way and feed them one or two days, say in Columbia or Charleston, at some convenient place. They were carried free once, when the State needed them and why not carry them in their cottage, that they might meet their old comrades perhaps for the last time, as their ranks are fast thinning out. For one would be proud to meet the rank and file of my old Regiment. The writer belonged to Co. H, 17 Regt. S. C. V. Evans Far Cavalry.

Reverently,
J. M. Ulmer.

A COSTLY CRACKER.

Christmas evening a careless boy dropped a lighted fire cracker through a crack in a stable stable at Sumter. Before the fire so started was subdivided several wooden buildings were in ashes and one brick house a ruin. Loss $75,000. Some of the house owners had no insurance, others were only partially insured.

MARKED FOR DEATH.

"Three years ago I was marked for death. A graveyard cough was tearing my lungs to pieces. Doctors failed to help me and hope had died when my husband got Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. A. E. Williams, of Ky. "The first doctor helped me and improvement kept on until my health was fully restored." This medicine holds the world's healing record for coughs and colds and lung and throat diseases. It prevents pneumonia. Sold under guarantee at C. N. Pritchett's drug store, 50c and $1.00 per bottle free.
