An Enjoyable Occasion.

Elko, June 23.—An enthusiastic body of Winthrop Daughters met on the afternoon of June 17th, at the lovely country place of Mr. R. R. Johnston, with Mrs. F. H. Hitt as hostess.

For the coming year, Mrs. Hitt was re-elected president, Mrs. W. M. Jones, of Barnwell, vice-president; Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, of Williston, secretary; Mrs. LeRoy Still, of Blackville, treasurer, and Miss Hattie Newsom, of Williston, Gleaser.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Kennedy, with the Williston Daughters as hostesses who will also produce a program and entertainment of the first order. The meeting will be held on the first Tuesday in October.

Miss Lilla Harvin, of Columbia, was a valued guest in the recent meeting.

Thousands Attend Picnic.

Approximately a thousand people from this section enjoyed the annual picnic at Balke on Thursday. From morning until late afternoon, the place thronged with pleasure seekers who enjoyed the day in the various sports.

Balbing was indulged in to a large extent, as was dancing. Mills' Orchestra furnishing excellent music for the occasion.

One remarkable feature was the fact that with the scores of automobiles continually driving to and from the picnic grounds, not one accident was reported, and no one was injured in any way, on land or in the water.

In the evening, the largest crowd ever known at a dance in Allendale gathered at the town hall to enjoy the evening. About three hundred persons were present, with about fifty dancing couples on the floor. Mills' Orchestra was again in attendance, rendering splendid dance music, which made the affair more enjoyable.

An Open Letter

Williston, S. C., June 23, 1924.

Editor, The Barnwell People, Barnwell, S. C.

Kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to write an open letter to the people of Barnwell County, to whom I wish to say that, though they come first in my heart, it will be impossible for me to see them personally during this Congressional campaign. The district is comprised of nine counties and if I expect to win, which I do, I will have to put in my time from now until the election making friends among people in the counties where I am not known. The people of Barnwell County know me; when quite a young man I had the honor of receiving nearly a unanimous vote in Barnwell County when I ran for the Legislature and I want to say publicly I would rather be defeated for Congress with the unanimous endorsement of Barnwell County than to be elected without it.

Sincerely yours,
W. D. BLACK.

Additional License Fees.

John J. McMahan, state insurance commissioner, is paying out to the counties the additional license fees collected from insurance companies on premiums for the semi-annual term ending Dec. 31, 1923. Following amounts were received in this section of the state:

Aiken	$1,251.47
Allendale	216.10
Bamberg	692.72
Barnwell	663.89

Col. Edgar A. Brown left here Saturday afternoon for New York to attend the National Democratic Convention. He was joined here by the Hon. C. D. Nance, of Cross Hill, and Senator Sam McGee, of Greenwood, who are also delegates.

Blanks Are Ready.

To the Editor of The People:—Would it be possible for you to give the Chapter a small amount of space by giving publication to the fact that it now has on hand all blanks for making application for the Soldiers' and Sailors' Adjusted Compensation Bonus? That these will be distributed to those desiring them at the present time, and that at a later date arrangements will be made to assist those who might need aid in preparing their applications.

All supplies and assistance may be obtained at Chapter Headquarters in the Bank of Western Carolina building.
Perry A. Price,
Chapter Treasurer,
Barnwell, S. C., June 24, 1924.

THE POSITION OF R. L. GUNTER

On Some of the Public Questions Coming Before the Next Congress.

Having announced for Congress from the Second Congressional District, it is but right that the voters should know my position on the questions and measures likely to come before the Congress during the next two years.

The Federal Loan Banks should be retained under proper safeguards, for the benefit of the agricultural interests. These banks provide funds for farmers at a reasonable rate of interest, thus relieving and rescuing them from the farm mortgage sharks, which have for a long time held many farmers at their mercy.

The object of tariff, at first, was to protect the infant manufacturing industries of the United States, when they were unable to come with the larger and more efficient enterprises of Europe. Yet, after more than one hundred years the tariff is still growing, giving protection to the favored few at the expense of the many.

I am opposed to any tariff except for revenue, and for this purpose it should be reduced to a minimum.

Upon the success of the farmers of the South and West, depends the prosperity of the nation.

Business interests cannot prosper if they fail, and they should have their proper place in the affairs of the nation. Laws should be enacted, passed, and guaranteed to them a rightful share of the profits of their labor. They should have the benefits of the open markets of the world. This, they cannot have, as long as the United States, isolates itself from international affairs and imposes prohibitive tariffs on agricultural products.

There should also be established impartial freight rates. The common carriers of the country should be prevented from discriminating in favor of or against any section of the country, and should be required to deliver freight to its destination over the most direct route without charging extra for every change of transfer.

Immigration is also a very serious problem. Under the present conditions of European countries, and the prejudices there existing against the United States, I am in favor of excluding all immigrants for the present. But should any be allowed, they should be required before they land to swear allegiance to the American Government, and also to learn to read and write the English language as speedily as possible.

I am opposed to the present extravagance of the government, and in favor of a reduction of the tax burden imposed thereby.

The inheritance tax and stamp tax are war measures, passed to meet an emergency caused by the entrance of the United States into the World War, yet after six years of peace, these taxes still remain.

The stamp tax is wholly paid by the consumer or the borrower, and necessarily comes out of the pocket of the most needy, unless it be that imposed on luxuries of the most costly kind.

The rate of interest paid by the United States Government on its bonds is fixed by the Secretary of Treasury, and is 1/2 per cent greater than that paid by South Carolina for money to run the state Government, and should be reduced. By a reduction of 1/2 per cent $100,000,000 would be saved annually on the interest of the public debt.

The Income Tax should be revised, so as to place the burden thereof on those whose fabulous wealth threatens to dominate and control the financial scheme of the Government. Nor can I see any reason for exempting the salaries of members of Congress and other government employees from this tax and place it on the income of farmers and business men.

Our relations with other nations of the world, in my opinion, is one of the gravest problems before the nation. I am in favor of any scheme that will promote world peace. I believe that an International Congress or League of Nations, with power to make and enforce salutary laws to govern the relations of nations with each other, and an International Court with power to settle in a just and legal way, all matters or differences which may arise among the nations without resort to arms.

I am absolutely opposed to the insidious encroachments of Congress on the rights of the individual States. It is contrary to the scheme or intention of the men who organized our government.

I believe the people of South Carolina have sense enough to know what they want, and intelligence enough to make laws to safeguard their liberty. I believe in the enforcement of all laws, enacted by our law-making bodies, but from fourteen years experience, I have learned it is impossible unless public sentiment is behind the law.

If my views meet with your approval, I shall greatly appreciate your votes for Congress in the primary election.—adv.

ROBERT L. GUNTER.

POISON WEEVILS NOW IS

ADVICE OF COUNTY AGENT

Molasses Mixture or Calcium Arsenate Dust Should be Applied.

County Agent H. G. Boylston has issued the following statement: "Such farmers as the Matthews boys, of Blackville, Council Bush and A. R. Dunbar, of Ellenton, and Victor Lewis, of Kline, say that boll weevils are now puncturing squares quite freely. Now is the time to begin controlling the boll weevil while the weather is good. If you have weevils present, early applications of molasses mixture or calcium arsenate dust should be begun with. Remember that plowing every week is very important; keeping the ground cultivated will help to destroy the eggs that are laid in the squares. We must take advantage of the hot weather that we are now having to get the weevils reduced to a minimum.

"With the increased acreage in cotton, there is probably a likelihood of a great deal of cotton being neglected, especially where truck crops have been planted. Light application of 1/2 rate of soda to corn and an early date will be found to give large returns. Let's take care of our corn in order that we will not be buying feed to make next year's crop. All melon fields and stubble grain fields should be sowed to cow peas for hay, or to be turned into the soil for improvement. The successful farmer is the one that grows his feed and food at home. We used to have a time that we thought we should lay by our crops, but if there was such a time it has since passed, and now we should plow late and often and thereby take advantage of all the short crops to make a profitable crop."

Ray McMillin.

Blackville, June 22.—Wednesday afternoon, June 21, at 5:30 o'clock, Miss Julia Emily Ray, daughter of Mr. James Jefferson Ray, was married to Mr. James Marcus McMillin, of Spartanburg, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. M. Jones, D. D., of Barnwell.

The old Healing Springs Baptist church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with ferns, flowers and pastel colored streamers.

Prior to the ceremony a group of songs, consisting of "At Dawn," "My Dear" and "O Perfect Love," was sung by Frank Trowbridge, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Trowbridge, a sister of the bride.

The brides were Claude Ray, Herbert King, Howard McMillin and Claude Truluck. The bridesmaids were Misses Olive Ray, sister of the bride, Mary Sue McMillin, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Katherine Agnew, of Beach Island, Julia Carroll, of Bamberg, Missouri Walker, of Blackville, and Rachel Arthur, of North Augusta. The maid of honor was Miss Alice Ray, sister of the bride. She wore a flower georgette in pastel shades and carried a corsage of white and lavender sweet peas.

The tiny ring bearer was Herbert Ray King, nephew of the bride, carrying the ring in a wove silver basket. He was followed by little Virginia McMillin, niece of the bridegroom, who carried a pink basket from which she scattered rice petals in the path of the bride.

The bride entered with her brother, William Ray. She wore white tulle and crepe, trimmed with tiny frills of satin, with a white hat and carried a corsage of bride roses and valley lilies. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Walter McMillin, of Spartanburg.

During the ceremony "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses" was played. The bridal party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's recessional. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. McMillin left in their car for the mountains of western North Carolina.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Claude I. Truluck; Holland Brady and John Christopher, of Landrum; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McMillin and daughter, Virginia, Miss Mary Sue McMillin, Walter and Howard McMillin, of Spartanburg; Mr. and Mrs. Austell, of Spartanburg; Mr. and Mrs. Hines, Miss Fannie Sue Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McMillin, of Inman; Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Carroll, Miss Ruth Carroll, of Bamberg; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Arthur and family, of North Augusta; Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Greene, of Barnwell.

VISITS OF WINTER AND

FROST BRING NO RELIEF

Regulation Size Crowd Hears Office Seekers in Barnwell.

Not even the visits of Winter and Frost could lower the torrid temperature here Saturday, but a goodly number of voters, men and women, braved a thermometer reading of around 100 degrees to hear the candidates for State offices. About 60 persons were present when the meeting was called to order by Chairman Edgar A. Brown, the number gradually swelling to about 200. Each candidate was accorded close attention and the efforts of the office seekers were rewarded with more or less enthusiastic applause.

Superintendent of Education J. H. Hope, slated as the first speaker, was not present. Lieut. Gov. E. B. Jackson thanked the voters of Barnwell County for the handsome vote given him two years ago and briefly reviewed the efforts of the general assembly to finance the State, while at the same time trying to equalize the burden of taxation.

C. C. Brown, of Spartanburg, was the first candidate for secretary of state to address the voters. He stated his qualifications for the position. James Cansler devoted much of his time to attack on the legislature for taking the office of railroad commissioner out of the primaries, charging that it was done to get rid of him. W. P. Blackwell, a candidate to succeed himself, made a clean cut presentation of his claims and seemed to be the favorite.

J. Monroe Spears led off in the race for attorney general by paying a glowing tribute to distinguished sons of Barnwell County, chief among them being the late Leroy Youmans and Robert Aldrich. He made a most forceful address and was warmly applauded at its close.

D. McK. Winter presented the claims of the young men to political recognition and took a fling at his opponents.

J. M. Daniel expressed himself as being in favor of law enforcement, both good laws and bad, and gave an account of his stewardship of the office of assistant attorney general.

A. J. Battie and W. V. Sutherland, candidates for comptroller general, were the next speakers.

S. T. Carter, seeking reelection as state treasurer, made quite an impression on his audience with a brief review of the manner in which he has discharged his duties, saving the taxpayers thousands of dollars in the handling of bond issues. He reminded of his honors that his initials, "S. T.," stands for "state treasurer" and he hoped that they would continue to do so. W. J. Spriggs discussed the fraudulent bonds issued years ago and also questioned some of the statements made by his opponent.

Adit. General Robert E. Craig declared that the National Guard has made greater progress during his administration than at any time during the past 27 years. He briefly credited some of the accomplishments of his office. Maj. John D. Frost, after briefly stating his qualifications, urged a closer cooperation between the people of the coast and the Piedmont for the advancement of the State and closed his address with a tribute to womanhood.

B. Harris, E. W. Dabbs and J. W. Sheely presented their claims for the office of commissioner of agriculture in the order named.

Governor McLeod was not present and John T. Duncan, candidate for governor, made the closing address.

Stockholder's Meeting.
