THURSDAY, JUNE 25TH, 1925.

Clemson College announces that John O. Pepper has joined the forces fighting the boll weevil. That should make it hot for the little pest.

The Williston Way takes issue with the government experts and County Agent Boylston in the farmers' contention that the results secured from applications of molasses-arsenate mixtures do not warrant "a continuance of this method of fighting the weevil and that the only one that has shown profit enough to warrant its use is calcium arsenate dust" and in the latter's statement that "the use of the home mixture of arsenate and molasses was largely due to the fact that one or two large farmers were strong advocates." The editor of The People-Sentinel is not prepared to discuss the relative merits of the two methods of poisoning, but the editor of the Williston paper further states that he asked the manufacturer of a liquid-poison why the government experts "stick to dusting when such practical men as Coker had shown that the other was feasible," and that the manufacturer's reply was that he had asked high officials in Washington the same question. This official's reply was so serious that the Williston Way did not quote it in the absence of substantiating proof. That reply, in our opinion, is the meat in the coconut and we are certainly interested in knowing what it was. The implication is that the government experts are on the wrong track and refuse to admit it. Can that be true? We hope not, but be that as it may, the reply of the high official in Washington should be made public without delay.

If there is some ulterior motive in advocating the dusting method, which is a reasonable inference to be made from the editorial in the Williston paper, the people have a right to know what it is.

Waving the Bloody Shirt.

The People-Sentinel is in receipt of a copy of The Detroit Free Press from Mrs. R. L. Jones, who is pleasantly remembered in Barnwell as Miss Ruby Armstrong, in which appears a dispatch from Port Huron, Mich., quoting one Louis F. Arrensburg, of Pittsburg, Pa., commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, to an assemblage of G. A. R. veterans. Among other things he stated that the Stone Mountain Memorial coinage act "placed a premium on treason and rebellion and was a disgrace to any nation," denounced the coinage of the memorial half dollar and asked for cooperation in an effort to secure the destruction of the die from which the coins were made. He also charged that the Daughters of the Confederacy are the greatest menace to this country and that "they have their children pledge allegiance to our flag, which is the flag of the Confederacy."

Such statements sound more like the puerile ravings of an old man in his dotage rather than the utterances of a sensible leader of such an organization as the G. A. R. and we refuse to believe that they express the sentiments of any considerable number of men of that organization or of the citizenship North of the Mason and Dixon line. Ever since the close of the War Between the States, there have been some men and women who have taken a keen delight in waving the bloody shirt in and out of season, but the people of the South have shown their loyalty to the flag (and so far as they are concerned there is only one flag today and that is the Stars and Stripes) to be affected by anything that Arrensburg may say. Neither the soldiers nor the Daughters of the Confederacy need any defense at our hands. The former displayed unexampled bravery and valor in fighting for a cause they believed was right and the latter are merely doing their duty in perpetuating their splendid heroism. The Congress of the United States in passing the memorial coinage act, and President Coolidge, in approving it, only gave belated recognition to that heroism, which after all was displayed by red-blooded Americans. If that be placing a premium on treason, or if what we have said be treason, let Arrensburg make the most of it.

Asheigh News.

Lesson for June 28
REVIEW

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be witnesses unto me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Jesus at the Temple School.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Asking and Answering Questions.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Growth of the Early Church.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How the Gospel Spread.

As usual, the methods employed in the review largely depend upon the teacher and the class. Two methods are suggested:

First: The biographical. This is a method which can nearly always be used to advantage, since pupils of all ages are interested in the study of persons. Peter, Paul, Stephen, Philip and Barnabas are very prominent characters in the quarter's lessons. These may be assigned to members of the class the week before with a view of a brief biographical sketch being prepared and read to the class.

Second: The summary method. This method calls for the review of the principal facts of each lesson with statement of the leading teachings thereof. The following is suggested:

Lesson I.—On the Day of Pentecost, the risen and ascended Christ sent the promise of the Father, causing the Holy Ghost to descend upon the disciples to qualify them to be witnesses of His death and resurrection to all the world.

Lesson II.—The healing of the lame man shows that the risen Christ is able to make strong a man who was born a cripple. The man who was healed thoroughly advertised the miracle. Those who have experienced the life of God cannot help but make it known.

Lesson III.—The church is God's dwelling place. Since it is His dwelling place it is as holy as the holy place in the sanctuary. The judgment which befell Ananias and Sapphira proves that God will not allow the hypocrite to escape His judgment.

Lesson IV.—The behavior of Stephen proves that the risen Christ is able to sustain His witnesses, even while they are sealing their testimony with their blood. His standing shows His active interest in His disciples, and that He welcomes home to heaven those who are faithful.

Lesson V.—The experiences of Daniel and his companions show that total abstinence pays.

Lesson VI.—Philip, the only man in the New Testament called evangelist, is in the energy of the Spirit preaching the Word and winning men to Christ.

Lesson VII.—The conversion of Saul, the bitter enemy of Christ, is an illustrious example of what the revelation of Christ in His glory can do, and also illustrates the method of the conversion of Israel.

Lesson VIII.—After Saul's conversion, he straightway preached Christ as the Son of God. Those who are really saved know whom they have believed.

Lesson IX.—The stupendous miracle wrought by the risen Christ at the hands of Peter proved that the gospel lost none of its power by being preached abroad.

Lesson X.—When Christ would break down the middle wall of partition between the Jews and Gentiles, He gave to Cornelius and Peter each a vision. When the gospel was offered to the Gentiles, the Holy Ghost came upon them as at Pentecost.

Lesson XI.—Before the foreign missionary enterprise was launched, a new center of operation was established at Antioch. The Holy Spirit established this strategical center and sent out the missionaries.

Lesson XII.—The risen Christ hears the prayers of the church and sends His angels to deliver His faithful servants.

The Best Judges Us

Our attitude concerning the great value, the great reality, the great personality, is not to put pressure upon our own minds, or upon the minds of others to believe in them; and not primarily either with ourselves or others to defend them or to argue for them, but simply to give them opportunity with us, and to do what we may to help others, too, to give that opportunity. The best, thus, judges us rather than we it.—Henry Churchill King.

Better Than Guilt

Better it were, that all the miseries which nature owns were ours at once, than guilt.—Shakespeare.

Cotton Advances; Texas Needs Rain

New Orleans, June 21.—General trend of the cotton market during the past week was upward, with increasing gravity of the drought situation in a large portion of Central and South Texas. There was no considerable rain in those sections, although other parts of Texas and most other portions of the belt experienced beneficial showers. One cause of the advance was fear that from injury to the Texas crop from drought the condition average of that State will be sufficiently large in the report based on returns of June 25 to cause the general average condition for the whole belt to show a decline for June when ordinarily the condition of the crop improves during that month, average improvement the past two-year periods having been 2 per cent.

The drought has caused liberal covering of short interest and some trade buying and price advanced from 21.96 for October Saturday last to 23.35 Thursday, an advance of 129 points. While about 30 points of this gain was lost during Friday's trading, the rally of Saturday brought prices back almost to the high point of the week.

One of the influences which brought about this reaction was the publication of an acreage estimate by a well-known authority showing a probable increase of 6 per cent. over the revised estimate of the acreage planted in 1924, which would mean a total acreage seeded to cotton of 45,300,000 acres, which would be the largest on record.

The rally of Saturday was due largely to the official forecast for generally fair weather over Sunday.
