THE OIL MILL.

The suggestion has been made to us that the scheme to organize a cotton seed oil mill be commenced on the building and loan plan, and we think the suggestion a good one. The plan would be something like this: Organize a company with a capital stock of, say $50,000. The shares will be worth $100 each; the stockholders to pay $1.00 per month per share. At the end of twelve months this would give $6,000 to commence work on, which would be amply sufficient to buy a suitable site and erect all necessary buildings. The machinery could then be easily purchased on credit, or sufficient money to buy machinery could be borrowed at a low rate of interest. The greater the profits of the mill, the sooner the stock would reach its par value, and this plan would enable every clerk and salaried man in town to take some stock. We think favorably of the plan, and commend it to those interested in the enterprise. Let's get to work on some basis, for an oil mill here is a necessity, and it would be a paying investment. We believe the mills in South Carolina pay an average dividend of 33 per cent, and the same rate of profit could be made here with a well equipped and well managed mill.

Mrs. Virginia D. Young is now the editor and proprietor of the Fairfax Enterprise. We believe this is the only paper in South Carolina owned and edited by a woman.

Judging from the reports we get from the New York papers as to the South Carolina contingent while in that city last week, the prospects for the success of a prohibition ticket next year are not very encouraging. What "the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina" was very much in evidence, and even the governor went out "to see a man."

It would no doubt be a money saving idea for the county commissioners to establish a poor farm, and it would also insure better care for the paupers. Those who are able to do light work could then do something to help pay for their keep. The present plan seems to us to be very unsatisfactory, and is one followed by very few counties, most of them having a poor house and farm.

The people of Bamberg owe it to themselves and the town to vote a tax sufficient to run our graded school ten months in the year and to erect a school building that will be an ornament to the town. The present tax and building are totally inadequate for the needs of the school. The trustees have done the best they could with the funds in hand, and the one thing needed now for a first class graded school system is money. An election will be held in the next few months, and we hope and believe our people will act wisely and well by voting the tax.

Pen Sketch of Man.

As a sample of what an old maid can do with a pen we submit the following: "Man is a two-legged animal that chews tobacco and walks on the forked end. Most men are born, we never heard of but one that wasn't, and he was made of mud, just for a sample. Man's life is full of disappointment, growls and corn-cob pipes. He goes forth like a lion in the morning and leaves the wood for his wife to chop, and in the evening he sneeketh home with his pants ripped, and raises a case about hard times. He has a gripe on road working days, and walks twenty miles to a circus. He will chase a jack rabbit four miles through the snow, and then borrow a horse to ride half a mile to the post office."

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, waxy skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Thos. Black's and Bamberg Pharmacy.

Latest Cotton Mill News. The Eagle & Phenix Mill No. 3 at Columbus, Ga., is to be extended to five stories high. The building is to be completed by Feb. 1900.

The plant of the Owensboro Woolen Company, Owensboro, Ky., was destroyed by fire on Sept. 23, at a late hour. Loss $100,000; insurance $45,000.

It is reported that the Waltham, S. C., Cotton Mill with a capital stock of $100,000, has made already this year $16,000 and has about $10,000 working capital.

A new mill is reported from Raleigh, N. C. It will be built on the Neuse River, 8 miles from Raleigh. It will contain 10,000 spindles and looms to manufacture brown sheeting. Ed. Lee and C. G. Latta are the parties interested.

Concord, N. C., is to have another cotton mill, which will be located northwest of the town just above the Buffalo Thread Mills on the Southern R. R. E. E. Gibson, of Concord, is the principal promoter of the new enterprise. The capital stock will be $100,000.

D. J. Carpenter, proprietor of the Newton, N. C., Hosiery Mills, which is one of the best managed little mill in the state, has all the orders he can fill for two months ahead. The present capacity is 150 dozen per day, but will have soon to be increased, as he makes a very superior grade, and once a customer, a customer always.

Every cotton mill in Greenville, S. C., seems to be on the boom. Within the last few weeks new machinery has been placed in all the mills, and more is coming. The cotton mill industry is one of general interest to every citizen. Through the abundance of money distributed by the cotton mill people every business house is practically sustained. Stop the mills and you place a "for rent" sign on many doors, and drive business away from the city; you decrease your population and almost make beggars of good, substantial men.

A Heart Rending Accident. The family of Mr. S. P. Wells, of Wells, in the lower portion of the county was suddenly plunged last week in the depth of a great sorrow, caused by the accidental death of their youngest son and child, Bertie, a bright handsome lad of thirteen years. The lad in company with an older brother and others went on a hunt on Tuesday night of last week. After being out some time the dogs "freed" a coon or possum, and preparations were being made by the boys to secure the game. Young Wells was standing on a log with a gun in his hand. Some how or other he slipped off the log and the gun was discharged, the load of shot taking effect in the unfortunate young man's face. He was immediately taken home by his companions where he lingered until Wednesday afternoon when his young spirit at half-past six took its flight and now awaits the coming of loved ones on the other side. This is truly a heart rending accident, and casts a shadow over the entire community in which the young man lived and was greatly loved.—Orangeburg Times and Democrat.

Remedy for Melon Wilt. Last week we published an article in reference to this matter, and feeling its importance to our many melon growers we publish the following article, written by Mr. N. L. Willett:

To those not conversant with watermelon growing, I will say that land cannot be planted with safety in watermelons for more than one year for fear of the melon vine wilt. When this attacks a vine the whole vine dies. The ground, once inoculated with the wilt fungus, is unfit again for growing melons. Instances are known where melon wilt lands lay idle for seven years and until pine sapplings as big as one's thigh had grown up, and yet when these trees had been cut down and the land planted once again in melons, the vines on the land were killed by wilt.

The United States government has sent its various agents out to study the wilt problem; but the melon growers have not it seems been greatly helped thereby. One of the finest melon areas in the South lies along the Port Royal railroad below Augusta. But so much of this land has been used up and is now subject to wilt, that it is computed that in two years more, all of the new lands on the road and contiguous to the road will have been exhausted for melon culture. Lands on the South Carolina and Georgia, and Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta railroad are in as bad or a worse condition than those on the Port Royal road. Indeed most of the large buyers and growers on these roads migrated some two years ago to Florida and South Georgia.

The culture of melons is much now like that of turpentine tree cutting. The melon man rents for a year or two lands in Florida, and also in South Georgia. When this time is up he rents other lands. He thus escapes the wilt.

Possibly the most successful melon grower today on the line of the Port Royal road is Mr. Pinckney Brown, at Averill, S. C. Mr. Brown has got fairly rich in this business. His melons in North Carolina, carefully sorted and with his brand on the car, will sell at a good figure when other cars will not. Now Mr. Brown, being an intelligent gentleman and a student, became alarmed the past year for his future. In two more years he saw that his avocation at his home place would certainly be gone, if something were not done. He studied fungi in all their phases. The result of his study was a scientific formula as a preventive for wilt.

Mr. Brown experimented last season with this formula on ten acres. It proved, I might say, a perfect success; as only two hills in ten acres had the wilt. Mr. Brown is almost besides himself with joy over his probable discovery. It means not only much to himself, but much to all growers along the Port Royal road and to growers in other districts, and also to the railroads contiguous to said lands. There is reason, too, to fear that the melon wilt is extending to other plants. A remedy for one means perhaps a remedy for all. Since Mr. Brown's remedy is the result of scientific research, and since lands frequently wholly fail the second year through wilt, and since only two hills were attacked in ten acres, I do not question that it is probable that this gentleman has found, in truth, a remedy.

The cost per acre of remedy, Mr. Brown says, is from $1.00 to $1.25 an acre. Under the application of the remedy, too, Mr. Brown's vines grew larger and were greener and the fruitage lasted longer, than where the application was not made. It has therefore a genuine value outside of its being an antidote against wilt.

Mr. Brown has not made public his formula—he tells me. All that he says as yet, is that he immerses his melon seed in the preparation, and also puts on his checks another preparation that can be bought in any country store, and the total cost is as above. Mr. Brown thinks that he should derive some personal benefit from his discovery, and I cannot blame him at all.

Mr. Brown is not alone in his testimony. The shipping house in New York to whom he ships, many railroad men, and a large number of melon growers, came to see his field. It created a sensation along the whole line of railroad. Of course, this is only one year's experiment. Mr. Brown would not guarantee that he has an absolute remedy. But not only himself, but many others interested in melons, do firmly believe that his remedy is a correct and a sufficient one.

If so, no discovery made in the past year will mean more to the melon shipping South, and will be of greater value than will Mr. Brown's.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened; I was so weak I could not even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me; I expected soon to die of consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong and can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. Regular size, 50 cents and one dollar.—At T. Black's.

A Blind Professor. Last June there graduated from the South Carolina college a young man who broke all records at that institution. John Swearingen, of Edgefield though blind went through the entire college course and graduated at the head of his class. He was pronounced by the faculty the most remarkable man they have ever known. Upon his graduation Mr. Swearingen went to his home in Edgefield where he has been quietly spending the summer. Now he has been elected a professor in the State Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind at Cedar Springs and soon enters upon his duties there. It is understood to be his purpose to save his money and complete his education at Harvard university. He is ambitious to enter the legal profession. All who know him feel sure that a brilliant future awaits him.

THE ACME OF STYLE!

That's what you get in our stylish writing papers. We have all the latest shapes, shades and tints. We have paper ruled and plain, by the box, pound or quire, and these are worth making a trip to see. If its style, we have it; if its price, you'll find it here. It will pay you to come in and get posted as to what is fashionable in stationery, whether you buy or not.

Our Argument.

Suppose you were to go to a hardware store for a yard of silk. The clerk would tell you he didn't keep silk, and knew nothing about the dry goods business. The same applies to stationery. When you want stationery, by all means go to a stationery store. That's our business exclusively. We don't claim to know anything else, and it makes no difference to you whether we do know anything else or not, provided we know this well. We claim to know our business thoroughly; come in and find out whether our claim is just.

The prices are much less than you have been paying.

School Books.

We have a full line of school books used in the city and county schools, at the prices adopted by the publishers. You are not charged one cent more at this store. Polite attention to all.

Office Supplies.

If you need copying ink or writing fluid, office paste, machine pens, pencils, legal cap, bill cap, letter files (all kinds), erasers, rubber bands, inkstands, letter copying books, brushes, day books, ledgers, journals, memorandum books, invoice books, official envelopes, typewriter paper, stenographer's note books, etc., our place is headquarters, and you will find that the prices will compare with any market.

For My Lady's Desk.

Sealing wax, dainty society paper, (in box, tablet, by pound or quire), envelopes, (all shapes and sizes), visiting cards and envelopes, fountain pens, etc., etc. Our stock is complete.

Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen.

We carry a full line of these pens, and they are fully guaranteed in every way. It is the fountain pen of satisfaction, and you will never know the luxury of writing until you discard the old dip pen and write with a Waterman's Ideal. We have them in all style holders and points, fine and coarse, medium and stubs.

Bound Books.

Our stock of cloth bound books embraces a strong line of titles (all by standard authors), and the prices are simply irresistible. Cloth bound books 20c., 50c., and 75c. Nice bindings too. Nothing cheap about them, but the price.

The Poets.

Beautiful cloth and padded leather editions of all the best poets: Tennyson, Shakespeare, Whittier, Holmes, Browning, Meredith, Kipling, and others; cloth 75c, padded leather $1.25. You can make no better gift than a good book, and the book store is the place to buy them.

Paper Bound Books.

We also have a strong line of paper bound books, all standard authors, at 5c. and 10c. An elegant assortment of titles; no trash in the stock.

Bibles.

A beautiful line of bibles and testaments, all sizes and styles, and at unheard of prices. Some lovely Oxford teachers' bibles, with index, concordance, etc., in several sizes. Pocket bibles and testaments in fine leather bindings.

Fancy Goods.

Swell line of pocket books, card cases, purses, bill books, etc. The prettiest line of pocket books, purses, and card cases ever seen in this section. Tissue paper, plain, crepe, and tinted. Some beautiful patterns for lady's bags. Our stock of holiday goods is being added to daily, and in a short while we will display the most complete and novel line ever seen here.

THE HERALD BOOK STORE.

DAVISON & FARGO.

Our market is higher than any other because we have more competition—more buyers. A buyer must have good limits or he cannot do any business here. The local mill demand amounts to 100,000 bales every year, and the representatives of the BIG exporting houses prefer a market where cotton is offered in large lots: saves time, and time is money. Our geographical position, too, gives us cheap freights to New England and to Europe. Look at the railroad map, and you will see there are five ports competing all the time for Augusta business. Shall we send you quotations?
