WHEN GOOD ROADS COME

The Times man's experience in owning an automobile with the roads over the county practically impassable during the best business months of the year, was not very gratifying.

When good roads come, the road is a highway, concrete trunk lines, we intend to go in to own another car, pending the decision upon that question, we have sold out, and expect to remain carless until there is some prospect of better roads.

JOIN THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

We believe that every business man, professional man and farmer in the county should join our Chamber of Commerce. A man, when asked to join usually decides the question upon the basis of what he can get out of it.

There are quite a good many very potent good results of the Chamber of Commerce. One is that the whole community may unite in the movement. Men of divergent business interests, social or religious relations find a common ground of fellowship by the Chamber of Commerce.

LET US IMPROVE OUR STREETS

At the Chamber of Commerce banquet Friday evening Mayor R. P. Morgan was called on by the chairman, R. P. Harry, for a speech. Among other things, Mr. Morgan stated that he was in favor of street building in Union, street building on a large scale.

The Times most heartily endorses this movement. It has been a notorious fact that in winter our streets are well nigh impassable. The mud on every street entering the town, unless it be that portion of Main Street looking West, gets into a sad plight every winter.

We do not know what kind of streets Mayor Morgan has in mind to build, but we believe we should go in for downright permanent streets and streets of that kind must be built of bitulithic brick or of concrete.

Our cat says it takes considerable grit to get up these mornings and wash your face in ice-cold water, but he further says that all good cats and little boys should have their faces washed every morning.

GOOD ROADS IN 1919

From one end of the country to the other the news of the day is that plans are being laid for road building on a scale immeasurably larger than has ever been attempted in this country heretofore.

This is the opinion of the Atlanta Constitution, long a leader in good roads work in the South, which declares that Georgia's present procrastination "is next to criminal."

Ohio has completed plans for making 1919 "the biggest roads year" in the state's history, and is only awaiting favorable weather conditions to begin intensive constructive work.

Minnesota plans for 1919 calls for the expenditure of about $6,000,000 on its highway system. South Dakota, Michigan and Iowa each has an enormous highway bond issue under serious consideration, with no opposition manifested.

ly got behind a bonding proposal calling for an issue of $30,000,000 of bonds for highway development purposes, which will be acted upon at the January session of the legislature, with every indication that such action will be favorable.

SILO FOR POULTRY SAVES SUCCULENT FEED

Home-made Contrivance Furnishes an Abundance of Green Feed Which Will Abet Egg Production.

A chicken silo—to provide succulent feed for the flock in winter. Ever try one? Supplying green feed for laying fowls in winter has always been more or less of a problem with poultry raisers.

For convenience the barrel or hog-head is placed upon a stand made of heavy boards and at a height of about 12 inches from the ground. The boards composing the floor of the stand on which the container rests should be several inches apart so that the air can circulate freely.

ENGLAND WARMLY WELCOMES STARVED, AILING SOLDIERS London, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—England's welcome to her starved and ailing prisoners returning from Germany is in striking contrast to the indifference with which Russia receives the hundreds of thousands of emaciated, forlorn soldiers of the Russian army who are staggering back into their ruined homeland, which is practically foodless and fuelless, snowbound and in the throes of zero weather tempered by only four or five hours of sunshine.

England's king and queen have greeted many of the returning prisoners. Hundreds of patriotic societies have committees of loyal women on the docks where the exiles land to provide them with warm drinks and food and express the gratitude of the nation for their self-sacrifice to the patriotic cause.

Physicians and druggists who have kept up with recent discoveries in medical science are now introducing to their patients and customers the new pain relieving tablet called Aspiritone, which does not depress the heart and circulation. They explain that headaches and neuritis as well as colds and gripe are usually attended by a fatigued heart and circulation and that it is dangerous at such times to use coal tar derivatives.

tensified the disorganization. Premier Lenin has issued orders to border soldiers that the most better physical conditions for the returning soldiers, but the food supply is so limited and the conditions are so hard for all the population in Central Russia that even officials were inclined to heed the mandates of the Bolshevik premier, they probably would be helpless because of the utter lack of supplies and indifference of the great mass of the supporters.

For months the American Young Men's Christian Association and the American Red Cross attempted to soften the return of Russian prisoners to their devastated homeland. Receiving camps were made sanitary by these organizations. Simple foodstuffs were provided. Workers were placed on hospital trains to clean them up and cigarettes and games were supplied to the patients who were able to sit up. Teachers were also placed in many of the receiving hospitals in Moscow who offered instruction in industrial lines and taught illiterate prisoners to read.
