OFFICERS CANNOT PROTECT COUNTRY FROM SMUGGLERS

Washington, Aug. 9.—Liquor smug-gling into the United States has reached such proportions that it has brought in its wake a large illegal traffic in other commodities, it was learned today at the treasury department. Officials have become so concerned that they are considering an arrange-ment of the government's coastal criminal chasing arms with a view to concentrating on what they described as a menacing situation. The Custom Service charged with protecting the country from smug-glers has found itself "wholly inadequate" to meet the situation according to Assistant Secretary Shouse of the Treasury, who is head of that government branch.

The Canadian border traffic, while admittedly large, was declared not to compare with the smuggling said to exist along the Atlantic seaboard and with reference to liquor particularly with West Indies and the Florida shores.
