WILL COOPERATE IN DISARMAMENT

Washington, July 13.-Additional pledges of cooperation reached Washington from several quarters today on the response to President Harding's proposal for an international conference on limitation of arma-ments and other world problems.

Definite acceptances of the president's invitation to participate were received at the state department during the day from Great Britain and Italy, while informal advices came to official circles here that favorable reply from China might be expected in the near future. At the same time it became known that much sympathetic interest had been manifested informally, by several governments who do not expect to have seats in the conference.

France having previously expressed her willingness to take part, the only invited power from which no sort of an expression had been received tonight was Japan. Administration of-ficials were confident of an acceptance from the Tokyo government, how-ever, and in Japanese quarters here it was indicated that the delay undoubtedly was due to the formalities of consultation among the various branches of the Japanese government which are necessary in the decision of important public questions.

State department officials would not reveal whether any formal communication on the subject had been received from governments not invited t oparticipate, although it was understood that no advice of an ad-verse nature at least had reached the the department from abroad. So far as the reports here indicate, senti-ment abroad is content with the president's decision to have the membership of the conference limited to the five big powers and China.

Since the prohibition law went into effect over a year ago the question of searching a man's house or premises, without a search warrant, in order to procure "exhibits" or evi-dence of illicit distilling of whiskey, has attracted no little attention among attorneys and laymen alike, and for that reason a decision handed down by the United States court of appeals, now sitting at Richmond, in whch this question is discussed, is of more than passing interest. In this case, in which evidence was procured against the defendant from his premises without a search war-rant, the judgment will be reversed and a new trial awarded according to the Richmond decision.

The case was that of the government against Jake Holmes who was convicted of illicit distilling. The The government's witnesses were three prohibition agents, and it was conthree ceded during the trial of the case in Charleston that the agents went upon the dfendant's premises in his absence, without his knowledge or consent and without a search warrant. They found, it was claimed, certain articles that they claimed were parts of a still, and one of the men went into the house and brought out a can similar to a can found in the yard. No whiskey was discovered on the premises. The defendant was ar-rested at a ginnery in the neighbor-hood without a warrant. On the way to jail it was contended that the defendant admitted that he had used the articles found by the prohibition agents for distilling whiskey. In the course of the trial no objec-tion was made to any of this testimony; the defendant denied that he had ever made whiskey or that he had ever admitted hafing done so. After the general charge to the jury the defendant submitted a number of requests for specific instructions, the ast of which was the the jury be directed to acquit "For the reason that the undisputed evidence in the case shows that all that is brought against the defendant was obtained by the government's witnesses going upon and making search of the premises of the defendant, and mak-ing seizures thereon . . . without due process of law and in violation of the fourth amendment of the fed-eral constitution." The refusal of The refusal of the request raised the question which the court of appeals considered.

TO DISCOUNT ALL COTTON PAPER

Representative W. F. Stevenson yesterday sent the following wire from Washington to The State: "Have seen federal reserve board and they have instructed the federal reserve banks in the cotton states to discount all cotton paper presented by member banks when paper is se-cured by sufficient cotton, and the board has authorized the banks to give out a public statement to this effect.'

J. Pope Matthews, president of the Palmetto National bank, when asked yesterday what effect this action of the federal reserve board would have on the financial situation, said: "This action will tend to stimulate and support the banks in the cotton belts. and will tend to allay any panicky feeling; the knowledge that the federal reserve board is lending its support in efforts being made to bring about orderly marketing cannot but be helpful, and encouraging to all interests. Such an arrangement as outlined is now in effect as to Lib-erty bonds."

J. Skottowe Wannamaker of St. Matthews, president of the American Cotton association, when informed of the message from Representative Stevenson and asked for a comment on its effect, said that it meant the saving of millions of dollars to the farmers of the South, as, instead of selling their cotton for less than one-third the cost of production, they will be enabled to hold their cotton until confidence is restored and the markets opened. Mr. Wannamaker is of the opinion that relief from financial strain in many sections will be felt as a result of the action of the reserve board and that pressure will be eased.

Mr. Wannamaker's statement follows: "Through special committees of the American Cotton association, the president of the United States, the secretary of the treasury, the governor of the federal reserve board and the comptroller of the currency were furnished with a complete synopsis of conditions in agriculcomplete tural sections of the cotton belt and a special request was made that the federal reserve board announce that it would loan $100,000,000 on cotton stored and insured for 80 per cent of the market value, such loan to be made through member banks and non-member banks of the federal reserve system and to be renewed through 1921 or until market condi-tions become normal, it being pointed out that the federal reserve districts in the South could rediscount such paper with the other federal reserve districts.

"Senators and congressmen of the "Senators and congressmen of the South and West practically unitedly co-operated with and Joined in this request and it was indorsed by thou-sands of bankers and business men throughout the agricultural sections. "The national headquarters of the American Cotton association was notified this afternoon that the re-quest had been granted even in more liberal terms than anticipated. In-
