Dr. Wells

FINDS it necessary, for the accommodation of his friends, as well as for his own convenience, to set apart a particular hour for seeing patients, who may choose to call at his office for advice—from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning will be devoted to such.
Patients in indigent circumstances will receive advice and Medicine, or Surgical treatment, free of expense.
DR. WELLS would also give notice, that he has made arrangements for the accommodation of patients from the country, who may find it necessary to remain in town for the purpose of submitting to Surgical operations.
He has been induced to make these arrangements, and to give this notice, from a conviction that a great many individuals through the country are laboring under diseases, which, if left to take their course, must, eventually, prove destructive of life, or some important organ, but which might be readily cured by a well timed, and judicious operation, together with proper medical treatment. Of such a character are all cancerous affections, stones in the bladder, and most of the diseases of the eye and the ear. The latter (Diseases of the eye and of the ear,) will, as they have done for several years past, receive his particular attention Columbia, S. C. March 30, 1827. 13 11 will be liable to a double Tax, and all who do not make their returns and pay their dues by that

BENZ TRADEWELL, T. C. R. D.
N. B. All non-residents are particularly requested to subscribe some agent, or friend, to pay

Negroes; from 500 to 2000 acres, in a body, will be thus given in exchange, so as to suit the purchaser. This Land is in the State of Mississippi, on a beautiful little river, that affords the most healthy and advantageous settlements in the State; and it is first rate Cotton Land, and only about eighteen miles from the bank of the Mississippi river, where we consider the head of commerce, and about forty miles above Natchez. On this land are several beautiful situations, having good springs convenient. It extends up and down the little river about four miles, including each bank.
The Title is indisputable, it all having been purchased of Government. Liberal prices will be allowed for Negroes, and the land rated at a low price. It is deemed needless to say, that the price of Land, in a few years, will greatly increas-in this section of country, as it is so well known that commerce will continue to increase on the Mississippi, and the good lands adjacent to it, be generally cultivated.
Any person wishing to make such an exchange will please write to the Subscriber, at Fort Gibson, State of Mississippi, which will be attended to immediately.

W. HILLIARD & R. D.
Sherriff's Office, April 19, 1827.

The following lines are from the pen of a young lady, only fourteen years of age, on reading an assertion, "that woman was void of sense; that she never did any good, with out it was to lead to evil."

Oh! why say that woman is faithless and light,
And that wisdom alone to thy sex is confined,
That her heart is as false as her beauty is bright,
And her loveliness is in her face, not her mind!

Remember, 'twas woman first led thee to ruin—Remember, 'twas she that first over thee hung;
That thou slept thy first sleep on a woman's fond breast,
And thy first infant accents were caught from her tongue!

She guided thy steps in thine infantine years,
She anxiously watched when thy careless feet strayed;
She hush'd all thy wailing, she dried all thy tears,
And delighted she saw thy young genius de-velop'd.

And is not fair woman the sweet mer of life?
With man she divides her enjoyments and cares,
The friend or the sister, the daughter or wife, Alike in his pleasure or sorrow she shares!

She is like the fair woodbine that wreaths the round oak,
That derives its support from the tree's noble stem;
Still weaves of its flowrets a rich diadem.

'Tis woman supports and consoles man's decline, She drops o'er his woes the pure pitying tear—
And her love like a tendril, still round him will twine—
A tendril that time cannot wither or sear.

'Tis she that will watch the last life drop depart From the cheek, where so often her smile has removed
The dark cloud—then will feel the last thro' of the heart,
And weep o'er the corpse of the being she lov'd.

She will freely confess she is weaker than thee;
But her weakness should move not thine anger but love, Oh! thou should'st remember the moment when she

Hath cheer'd thee, and seem'd like a form from above

To thee, for instruction and strength, she must cling,
For she does not pretend to be wise as thou art;
Her impulses flow from affection's warm spring—
Her feelings are not from the head, but the heart.

Then why say she only by malice is stirr'd?
No; even her fallings from kindness descend, Oh! revoke the rude sentence, recal the harsh word,
And woman, henceforth, shall be ever thy friend
M. A. S.

*We understand it is intended shortly to pub-

THE TEAR OF CHARITY.

There'sought in nature can compare With woman's melting eye,
When raptur'd mercy sparkles there, Eurob'd in pity's sigh.

The tear that trembles in its urn
At misery's request, Outshines the burning star of morn
On night's expiring breast.

He sees in that sweet herald there
A message from above;
And as she gives, forgets his care,
And softens into love.

TIME.

The gay, who would be reckoned wise,
Think all delight in pastime lies;
Nor heed they what the wise condemn—Whilst they pass time—time passes them.

Anecdote.

A physician observed to a clock maker, whose work needed mending, that if he were to make such errors in practice, it would be attended with the loss of all his patients. The man drily replied,
"Ah, Doctor, the sun discovers my faults, the earth hides yours."

Lafayette.

During the Revolutionary War, General Lafayette, being in Baltimore, was invited to a ball. He went, as requested, but instead of joining in the amusements as might be expected of a young Frenchman of 22, he addressed the ladies thus:—"Ladies, you are very handsome; you dance very prettily; your ball is very fine—but my soldiers have no shirts."
The appeal was irresistible; the ball ceased; the ladies ran home and went to work; and by the next day, a large number of shirts were prepared by the fairest hands of Baltimore for the gallant defenders of their country.

Anecdote.

While the Earl of Chesterfield was in the Cabinet, he had to wait upon the King for his signature to an appointment which his majesty had objected to with much warmth. The Earl opened the business with, "whose name would your Majesty be pleased to have put in the blank?" "Belzebub's!" exclaimed the Sovereign with much indignation. "And will your Majesty," continued the cool and lucidtious peer, "permit the instrument to run as usual. Our trusty and well beloved Counsellor and Counsellor!" The King, it is added, laughed, and immediately put his hand to the required appointment.

Cologne Water.

Our female readers who are disposed to practice a little domestic economy, will find the following preparation of Cologne Water, a very cheap substitute for the Cologne Water of the shops, for which they pay three or four hundred per cent more than the cost of this. The principal ingredients is worth one dollar per gallon at retail by the druggists, and the preparatory costs very little. To 1 pint of alcohol add 50 drops of Lavender, 60 do.
Bergamot, 50 do. Essence of Lemon, 50 do.
Orange Water.
