YOUTH'S DEPARTMENT. Mother wont let me.

A number of boys, with books in hand, were passing up the street on their way to school. They were talking with animated common interest.

"Halloo, Sam,' 'said one of them to a boy who was just come up to them; "are you going with us this afternoon?"

"I do not know" answered Samuel. "Mother says she does not think it is frozen afraid she will not let me go. It is always the way when there is any fun to be hadmother keeps me at home."

"Just like my mother," replied his comwith my sled into the fields."

Edward Torry, who was walking by the side of the two boys, was a listener to their conversation. He said nothing, but, when the boys looked towards him for some remark upon the subject, they saw a tear in conceal. It was not difficult to judge what were the feelings which called it forth. A glance at his mourning suit, reminded the boys of their companion's situation.

It was but a few weeks before, that he had been bereaved of an affectionate mothor, and they conjectured correctly that their conversation had brought her to his mind. Edward was thinking of his mother, and his reflections were something like the following :- "These boys think it very hard to be looked after so closely, and not allowed to run into dangers, and so I used to do; but | Pickled Salmon, Shad, and Codfish, dried Codfish the time may come when they would give the world to have some one who would care for them as their kind mothers do now. Oh! if I could only have my own good give up every one of my plays to please her

Now, no mother ever wished to deprive her children of enjoyments. Any boy will find his mother more ready to confer a pleasure upon him than to enjoy it herself. The reason why she may be unwilling in any case that he should go upon the water -or to coast in the streets-or to skate upon the river, is not that she wishes to deprive him of enjoyment; but because she is afraid he will meet with some injury. Sometimes, perhaps, the mother is apprehensive of danger, when none in reality exists : she is afraid the pond or river is not frozen sufficiently for skating, when it really is so; -she is unwilling her son should ven-ture upon it; though he may know with perfect certainty himself, that there is no

REMOVAL.

THE subscriber takes this method of informing his friends and former customers, and the public in general, that since the late calamitous fire in this place, he has removed to his old stand next door to Messrs. J. & W. Leak's, corner of Front and Market streets, in the house he first occupied in Cheraw ; where he will keep an countenances, apparently upon a subject of extensive and cheap stock of goods; consisting in part, of the goods he saved from the fire, and a fresh and general assortment that he has since ordered, which will shortly be received. He flatters hunself that he can hold out strong in ducements to purchasers. He is determined to sell cheap, for cash, produce, or to approved customers on a credit, and invites an examination of hard enough-for safe skating to day; I am his stock and price. He has a good many articles, some partly, and others materially damaged by the fire, which he will dispose of as damaged goods at great bargains. He intends to purchase Cotton and other produce as formerly, for which the highest market value will be given. He would panion; "she is always afraid I shall be take this occasion to remind all those indebted to drowned, or get run over, or be killed in him by note or account that, in consequence of his severe loss by the fire, early payments of their some way or other. She has not let me dues will not only be acceptable, but absolutely coast in street with the other boys all this necessary to enable him to meet his payments. winter. I must always promise to go off He earnestly hopes that, under these circumstances, his appeal will not be in vain.

THE subscribers were among the unfortunate sufferers by the destructive fire which occurred on the 9th inst. Their loss is heavy both in Cotton and goods. They however feel disposed to resume business, and have taken the store on Market Street, nearly opposite Mr. Moore's hotel. Having saved most of their light goods, and having purchased a supply of Groceries which were on the way at the time of the fire, and others since forwarded, they respectfully invite their friends and the public to call on them ; and they hope by their attention to business, to merit a share of public patronage. They will continue to purchase Cotton and other country produce at the highest market prices.

A CHANCE FOR A PRINTER.

THE subscriber, desirous of devoting his entire attention to other business, offers for sale the CAMDEN JOURNAL establish ment. Connected with the office is all the materials necessary for printing the paper, and for doing all the job work usually offered at a country office. The Press is an excellent one, of Peter Smith's patent, The JOURNAL has a respectable, and increasing circulation, and an advertising patronage inferior to no country paper in the Southern States.

To a Printer, one capable of discharging the duties of Editor, and devoting a part of his time to the mechanical department, this situation offers very decided advantages. The establishment will be sold a bargain, and the terms accommodating. Possession may be had on or after the first of January next.

Persons wishing to purchase may learn further particulars by addressing the subscriber, post paid. JOHN C. WEST. Editors in the Southern States with whom we exchange, will oblige us by giving the above a few insertions. Camden, S. C.

CAREY'S LIBRARY

OF CHOICE LITERATURE. TO say that this is a reading age, im plies a desire for instruction, and the means to gratify that desire. On the first point all are agreed; on the second, there is diversi-ty both of opinion and practice. We have newspapers, magazines, reviews, in fine, pamphlets of all sizes, on nearly all subjects, which have severally their classes of read-ers and supporters. And yet, copious as are these means of intellectual supply, more are still needed. In addition to the reviews of the day, and passing notices of books, the people, in large numbers, in all parts of our great republic, crave the possession of the books themselves, and details, beyond mere passing allusion, of the progress of discovery in art and science. But though it be easy to ascertain and express their wants, it is not so easy to gratify them. Expense, distance from the emporium of literature, engrossing occupations which prevent personal applications, or even messages to libraries and booksellers, are so many causes to keep people away from the feast of reason, and the enjoyment of the coveted literary aliment. It is the aim of the publishers of "The Library" to obviate these difficulties, and to enable every indivi-

and wife Agnes. It appearing to my sat- compatible with morality and good taste, Elizabeth, Arthur Mangum, Wm. Mangum, the "the Library," to fill the pages of which Joseph Mangum, John Thornton and wife the current literature of Great Britain, in all Agnes, reside without the limits of this its various departments of Biography, His-State, It is therefore ordered that they be tory, Travels, Novels, and Poetry, shall be freely put under contribution. With, pernary, on Monday the 18th day of January next, to be held at Chesterfield C. H., to to give entire the work which shall be select shew cause why the Real Estate of Jacob ed for publication. When eircumstances Mangum, deceased, should not be sold or divided, or their consent to the same will be to the literary stores of Continental Europe, and translations made from French, Italian, and German, as the case may be. Whilst the body of the work will be a reprint, or at times a translation of entire voumes, the cover will exhibit the miscellane. ous character of a Magazine, and consist of skeletons of men and things, and notices of noveliies in literature and the arts through out the civilized world. A full and regular supply of the literary monthly and hebdom-adal journals of Great Britain and Ireland, in addition to home periodicals of a similar character, cannot fail to provide ample materials for this part of our work. The resources and extensive correspondence of the publishers, are the best guarantee for the continuance of the enterprise in which they are now about to embark, as well as of the abundance of the materials to give it value in the eyes of the public. As far as judicious selection and arrangement are concerned, readers will, it is hoped have reason to be fully satisfied. - The edit. or of "the Library" is not a stranger to them; but has more than once obtained their favorable suffrages for his past literary efforts. TERMS: The Library will be published in weekly numbers, in stiched covers, each number containing twenty imperial pages, with double columns, making two volumes annually, of more than 520 octavo pages, each volume; and at the expiration of every six months, subscribers will be furnished with a handsome title page and table of contens. The whole amount of matter fur-nished in a single year will be more than forty volumes of the common sized English duodecimo books, the cost of which will be at least ten times the price of a year's subscription to the "Library." The paper upon which the Library will be printed, will be of the finest quality used for book-work. and of a size admirably adapted for binding. As the type will be entirely new, and of a neat appearance, each volume, when bound, will furnish a handsome, as well as valuable, and not cumbrous addition to the libraries of those who patronize the work. The price of the Library will be five dol.

it, and seek his amusement in some other way : or, suppose even that he should stay at home, and have no play at all for any one afternoon, if that should be his mother's wish, would this be a greater privation than she has endured for him a hundred and a thousand times, and which she is ready, at | ed to. any time, to endure for him again ? Where is the boy who would rather his mother should suffer auxiety and apprehension for a whole afternoon, than to forego, himself, the pleasure of spending it in any particular way that he has chanced to fix upon ?

I never like, in any case, to hear a boy say-"mother won't let me" do such a thing. It sounds as if the boy thought his mother was unkind, or unwilling to gratify him : whereas, it is always because she does not think it will be for his good to do. SALE OF LAND AND NEGROES. or have the thing he wishes. Let him say, then "mother does not think it is best"not " mother won't let me."

The following fable, which was translated from the French, seems to illustrate this subject .- Mount Vernon Reader.

The Young Fly.

A young fly was resting with its mother on the wall of a chimney, near a kettle Here somebody was busy cooking soup. The old fly being obliged to leave her daughter on account of other engagements, said to her as she flew away, " My child you must remain where you are, and not leave your place till I come back."

"Why not, mamma ?" asked the fly. "Because," said the mother, " I am afraid you will go too near that boiling fountain," (ineaming the soup.)

"What is the reason I must not go near

"Because you will fall into that dreadful place."

"And why shall I fall in there mamma?" #I cannot explain to you the reason; you must trust to my experience. Every time that a little fly has approached one of these boiling fountains, from which you see so many rising, I have observed that it always umbles in, and never gets out again."

The mother, thinking she had suid enough, flew away. But no sooner was she gone, han the little fly began to laugh at her adce, She said to herself. "These old olks are always so carefull; why does my nother wish to deprive me of the innocent presure of flying about a little, near this indicate ?. Have I not wings-and have I ant state chough to keep out of danger? thiseal, mother, you can talk wisely, and I uppest you like to quote your own experineu: but as for me, I am going to amuse should like very much to see if I can't keep from tumbling in."

So saving, she flew away to the kettle; but hardly had she approached it, when the sufficating vapour overcame her, and she highest intellectual effort, is demonstrated by exhis exhausted into it. "Oh !" said she, er externing breath, " how unhappy are dren who will not listen to the advice of mother !"
