House.

The Speaker laid before the House the message from the President in regard to the extradition treaty with Great Britain. Referred.

The Speaker laid before the House a petition from certain citizens of Cincinnati in regard to counting the electoral vote. A discussion arose as to whether the petition should be read. Mr. Garfield (Rep.), of Ohio, holding that the reading of a petition was out of order, even though presented by the Speaker. Mr. Banning (Dem.), of Ohio, in reply said the Republican party was attempting to defeat the will of the people by fraud, but if there was one thing the people loved more than another-more than life-it was the liberty that was youchsafed to them in an honest ballot box. He wished to tell the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Garfield) that the people would have an honest ballot box through the army might come with eighty rounds of ammunition, though the navy might be called upon. though the $0,000 officeholders might be called to the rescue. An honest people would put them all down. Mr. Garneld regretted that his colleague should speak in time of real danger like the present, when the country needed all the wisdom and all its fairness and all its calmness, that he should find it necessary at such a jnred. The western express, consisting of six time to hint at what the people would do-that passenger and drawing-room and five baggage the army might come, that the navy might and express cars broke through an iron bridge come, that the trappings of war might ratand fell a distance of seventy-five feet to the ice tle, but that the people would come down below, which gave way and portions of the cars and override everything. Other members went into the water, many persons being drown-ed; others were killed by being crushed in the falling cars, while still others perished in the fames which speedily consumed the portions of the cars left above the water. A blinding snowstorm prevailed at the time. Of 175 people would not interfere with it, if the colored men It Was Strong Enough.

An Indianian went into a Chicago saloon and asked for a "gin coektail with some strength into it." The barkeeper made a mixture of alcohol, pepper sauce, absinthe, limes and painkiller. "The Indianian drank it," says the Chicago boarding house and sufficiented four men, two to about the size of a safe key hole, and when he had sufficiently mastered his emotion to speak he said : 'How much's that?' 'Fifteen cents,' responded the barkeeper. The customer put down a quarter and said : 'Keep the change-have something yourself ;' then, wringing the barkeeper's hand, he added 'That's the first good gin I've tasted since I left home-something like liquor:

it's sort of quick in taking hold and slow in letting go. Come and see me, and I'll give you some corn whisky that's better still-whisky that's like swallowing a circular saw whole and pulling it up again.' The barkeeper an hour later asked the patrolman if he had heard of an old man being found dead on the sidewalk, and when the officer said no, he danced a few jig steps, and cried :

'Hurrah, he's gone somewhere else to die !

A Safeguard Against Rats.

Rats are accomplished rope walkers, and are able to make their way even along very small cords. Consequently so long as they can mount upon the lines, nothing edible suspended therefrom is safe from their attacks. A correspondent of the Boston Journal of Chemistry uses wires, upon which circular pieces of tin are strung, and hangs his meat, grain, etc., between the tin The rats cannot pass the tin pieces. circles, because, as they attempt to climb punishment for their crimes. Mr. Morton (Rep.), of Indiana, said: "Let that lie over." Mr. Gordon asked that it be wire, the pieces revolve. wire, the pieces revolve.

"Down in the Mouth."

Where there is a continual dropping down into the back of the mouth, with irritation and inflammation of the nasal cavities and throat, with hawking, spitting, and a sense of fullness about the head, be not deceived or fancy it a simple cold. You are afflicted with that terrible scourge of this climate, Catarrh, the forerunner of Consumption. In its early stages a few bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will effect an entire cure. When confirmed, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should be used in connection with the Remedy. These standard medicines have been before the public many years, and their use has been attended with the most gratifying success. A full discussion of Catarrh and its rational treatment is contained in "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." a book of over nine hundred pages, illustrated with over two hundred and eighty-two engravings, bound in cloth and gilt, price, post-paid, $1.50. [From Simeon Marquart, Esq., of Owego, N. Y.] "Some years since I was attacked with a severe and distressing cough, the long continuance of which much alarmed me. From what I had heard of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY I concluded to give that preparation a trial, which I did, and by its use obtained immediate and permanent relief. Again, about five years ago, I was taken with a severe hacking cough, accompanied with pain in the chest and side tickling in the throat, etc., which so reduced my health and strength as to unfit me for attending to my ordinary business. I applied to well known physicians, and used their prescriptions without any perceptible benefit; when, after having been confined to my room for
