Major Gooding started on his collecting tour last Monday with good prospects, as the people can now have the satisfaction of knowing that the money will be properly accounted for.

The old machine shop at Lands End, a relic of the war, was blown down last Tuesday during a gale.

The temperance meeting was held last Friday evening at the Tabernacle Church. Dr. Bythewood delivered the address.

A colored man named Truell, living on Ladies Island, was killed by lightning last week while sitting in his door. Dr. Johnson held an inquest on the body.

The Town council met last evening. Allaccounts presented were passed upon, and arrangements made for closing up the fiscal year, which ends on the first of August.

The county commissioners will meet again on August 1st, when they hope to be able once more to draw some checks.

The district school tax assessed a year ago has been omitted from the books as its collection was forbidden by the Legislature. This tax in Beaufort, Bluffton, and some other townships was laid at 3 mills and its abolishment is a great relief to taxpayers who would willingly have paid a reasonable amount but who object to being sold out even for the laudable purpose of educating the rising generation.

The Sea Island Hotel.

It will be seen by their card pub lished in to-day's paper that Mr. and Mrs. Odell have retired from the mauagement of the Sea Island Hotel, and have been succeeded by M. M. Kingman. In severing their connection with the Hotel the late proprietors deserve more than a passing notice. It will be remembered that when the U. S. Fleet were driven to our harbor by the yellow fever, which was raging at Key West and Pensacola, we had no hotel accommodations, as the Sea Island was then in the bankrupt court. Although the house was offered to rent no one seemed willing to run the risk of opening it even with a prospect of a lively patronage from the Navy. At this juncture while the men dering what should be done a woman came forward and took the housefurnished it as her means would allow. and saved Beaufort the mortification of sending her guests away for want of a hotel. For two years Mrs. Odell has had the burden of the management of the house and feeling that the cares were too operous has disposed of the establishment, and will deserve and receive the praise of our community for her energy, perseverance and kindly attention to the wants of the public.

Of Mr Kingman it is not necessary to may much as he is known to most of our readers as the genial landlord of the Sea Island Hotel during the period from '72 to '75. Mr Kingman as a caterer was a success and the enviab'e reputation gained for the house during his adminstration was not confined to our county or State but was extended over the North by the many tourists who crowded the house during the Winter months on their way to and from Florida. It will be Mr K's effort to advise these guests that he is again at the head of the establishment and another season we hope to see the large crowd of guests once more among us, and who were diverted from this place by the unfortunate closing of the house during the Winter of 1874 and who never seemed to be aware that good accommo dations were still to be had in Beaufort.

The Fourth at Brunson.

Hoovers, S. C., July 5th, 1877. Editor Tribune:

Some weeks ago the company at Brunson, under the command of Capt. J. A. Lightsey, extended an invitation to the Allendale company commanded by Capt, Geo. O. Riley and the Prince Williams Troop company commanded by Capt. A. A. Browning, to join the Brunson company at that place on the fourth of July. Pursuant to this, the three companies met at 10 o'clock A. M. about half a mile from the village, and were welcomed by Mr. W. S. Tillinghast in a short but appropriate and elequent speech, which was responded to by Capt. J. C. Davant of the Allendale company in a few spirited and eloquent remarks which were loudly cheered.

The three companies were formed in a battalion under the command of Capt. Geo. O. Riley, the senior officer of the day, and marched into the village all well mounted and in full uniform. The drill was short but nicely done and afforded two years, and especially to the officers of much amusement and gratification to the the U. S. Fleet and their families who numerous spectators of all classes and ages and of both sexes, and reminded those who went through it, of the late war, and officers and privates showed that they had not forgotten the drill and the use of arms. After this exercise was former proprietor and the undersigned will Richmond, over, the battalion repaired to a spacious continue their former business at the bread grove in the village where a platform had and cake bakery in Wilson's Block on Bay Lynchburg. been erected for the speakers. and full of enthusiasm and was received with deafening cheers. The committee of arrangements now announced that ter dinner a large portion of the crowd principally the young folks repaired to a hall which was prepared for the occasion with a band of stringed instruments in readiness to play for the merry throng. The young men and ladies soon formed a cotillion and this tashionable and innocent amusement was kept up until a late

The intense heat to a certain extent marred the pleasure of the day, but in the evening the dust was settled and the air cooled by a fine shower of rain which refreshed the party and gladdened the hearts of hundreds of farmers and horticulturists. During the entire day there was abundance of delicious ice cream at ten cents per glass and of cool lemonade at five cents, while not a single breach of the peace disturbed the harmony and pleasure of the celebration. Thus ended the fourth at Brunson. E.

PRINCE WILLIAM'S TROOP.

A Flag Presentation by "Three Little Maldens."

Editor of The Tribune : On Saturday last, when old Sol was sinking to rest behind the western horizon and the balmy evening breeze was taintly rustling the pines in the grove, the recently organized company which bears the name of "Prince Williams Troop" assembled at the depot at Hoovers to receive their banner from the fair hands of "Three little Maidens." These little ladies of Hoovers prompted by motives of patriotism had raised by subscription the necessary funds for the purchase of a most beautiful banner. Standing on the platform of the depot; arrayed in the National colorsred white and blue, and holding in their hands the azure flag, bearing on its silken folds our loved Palmetto Tree and the inscription "Dum spero spiro," the little maidens formed a rare picture on which the rosy light of the dying day dwelt lingeringly as though loth to leave so fair a scene !

Captain Browning formed his men in line facing the little girls, and in verses composed for the occasion they addressed

Miss Lillie Mauldin first broke the silence, and in a graceful and spirited manner delivered the following lines :-

"We are Three little Maidens Who love our native land; e not with spoils ladened Like some great armed band. We only bring the banner By Hampton's valor won

And as you 'round it gather, Then cheer the brave Hampton ! Hoovers and its environs rang with cheers from manly throats!

When sile ee was restored Miss Olivia Porcher repeated these beautiful words of one of Beaufort's Poets;

"Here is the Flag the lovely Flag Which we present to thee Under its bright and spangled folds May every one be free

And may no act of violence Or cruelty be done To cause to us the blush of shame,

Or grieve the good Hampton. Should duty call you from your homes Remember to be true; And give to either friend or foe,

The justice that is due. And do what will be pleasing To old Carolina's son,

The Noble Brave and Generous True-Hearted WADE HAMPTON!!" Miss Mattie Porcher concluded in a clear and ringing voice : "Accept from our hands the best gift we can give Protect and defend it as long as you live And where-ever it moves may strict justice bedon e

And honor our Leader the Noble Hampton. May the Flag's proud defenders be noble and just-May the Flag never fall, and be trailed in the

And where-ever 'tis borne may fresh Laurels be By you its defenders and the Noble Hampton ?

Together the maidens presented the Flag, when far and wide arose the shouts the old Pines seemed to take up the refraim and echo the cheers for Hampton the Flag, and the "Three little Maidens!" Col. Ellis received the banner and although his speech was entirely impromptu yet I feel assured that it could not have been improved on. Col.

llis delivered the banner to Captain A. A. Browning, who made an excellent reply: thanking the three little girls for the lovely banner presented to his company and then with a patriotic address to his men he delivered the banner to the color bearer. Long may the lovely Flag presented by girlish hands to the brave and loyal sons Say where you read this and send for catof old South Carolina, wave over the alogue and prices. borders of our redeemed State. FRANCESCA.
