Adjutant and Inspector General Moise has issued an order that. "All State property, such as Arms, Munitions and Equipments, must be put in good order, and such as are held by individuals, who are not members of regular commands, must be surrendered.

Persons having State Property who do not belong to regular commands, will be reported to the nearest Trial Justice for prosecution, and the utmost penalties of the law enforced.

Latest special news from the scat of war is to the effect that the defeat of the Russians at Plevna has altered their entire plan of campaign. They have virtually abandoned the expectation of pressing the war successfully across the Balkans. It will suffice them if during the three months still available for fighting they can sweep Bulgaria north of the Balkans clear of Turkish armies. The orders are to withdraw from all the trans-Balkan positions.

New York Sun, alluding to the investigation now going on in Columbia and the revelations made of frauds committed in this State under radical rule, concluded his letter by saying:

"I learn that so many leading Demo crats are implicated in the revelations made before the committee, t hat an organized effort, having the sanction of the highest authority, is being made to suppress the whole matter, and let the prosecutions already begun against the Republicans hang over them as an inducement to leave the State and hush their mouths concerning their Democratic accomplices."

This "insiguendo" is vehemently denied by the members of the Investigating Committee who declare their purpose to expose the wrong doings of every democrat, who may have been concerned in the rascalities of the past. The committee asserts, however, that thus far no to whom, as a South Carolinian he was of the Parish, for not making provision democrat has been implicated and that deeply indebted. She had given for the entire poor, &c. further than that the Radicals never gave them a chance to share in the spoils of the plundered treasury.

The alacrity with which the radical ring thieves seek a haven of safety from the penitentiary was never more striking- Mackey. Mr. Crayton, commenced by ly illustrated than in the case of Woodruff, who caps the climax of effrontery by endefend him in his extremity. It has in the past been no uncommon thing for this class of criminals to secure promi nent and representative democratic lawyers to apologize to the Courts for their "irregularities" and to interpret the law liberally in their behalf, but Josephus went direct to head-quarters when he enlisted the Chairman of the Demogratic Ecocative Committee of Charleston County to take his case. The junior member of the firm of Simonton and Barker, his counsel, is an intimate friend of Gov. Hampton and was chief of his staff during the war, while Col. Simonton is upon the editorial staff of that purely democratic daily, the Journal of Commerce, and will lend-all of his prestige and influence to the salvation of his client. Experience justifies the prediction that the form of a trial and of surprise to us that Woodruff's sublime impudence did not lead him to retain the Attorney General for his defence.

THE STATE GRANGE

Usury and the Fence Law Discussed.

The joint meeting of the State Grange and Agricultural and Mechanical Society of South Carolina assembled at Anderson last Thursday. The first subject un der discussion was the usury question: Col. McMaster opposed the law. He denied that money was made by the government; it is the outgrowth of the necessities of civilization, and was A Charleston correspondent of the as much a commodity as any other article of commerce. Interest is the profit of money, and is based on three things: the kind of business it is to be engaged in, the character of the man who is to use it and the character of the government or country in which the business is carried on. The reason why money is so dear in South Carolina is because the security is unsatisfactory, and because the money comes from the North and has to go through so many hands and run so many risks. Before the war money was not taxed, and now it is, which is another reason why the money must bring a higher interest. In alluding to the bloated bondholders, Col. McMaster said he rather liked that class of people. They did a great deal of good to other people. They the "Prescott Fund" of Prince Williams furnished money to South Carolina in Parish, and finds fault with the Trustee her time of need. There was one bloated and the committee appointed by him to bondholder in petticoats in New York establish a school in the upper portion $100,000 to Union College, Schenectady, New York, for the education of poor young men from the South. It was then announced that Mr. B. .F. Crayton, of Anderson, would read a the storm which threatens to land them in lowed by a speech from Judge T. J. gaging the services of the Head Centre farms except the fences, and that yet of the Democratic party of the State to in nothing was improvement more need-

Timber, he the Parish but from the very nature of said, was fast being destroyed. and the destruction could only be stayed by the fence law. The argument that the fence lie benefaction of any considerable law would be beneficial to large landholders only was refuted, by showing ministered to his wants at his option and that in proportion the cost of fencing on a small farm was much greater than on a large one. It was said that it would lations imposed by those who control the diminish the number of cattle, but if so fund or institution. it would do good, as this was not a grazing country, and by diminishing the number the quality of the stock would be improved.

Judge Mackey was then introduced and commenced his speech with allusions to the difficulties which confronted the probably conviction may be gone through advocates of the fence law in the genera with, but punishment never, with such disposition of mankind to resist the influences to ward it off. It is a matter change of their lifelong habits. He then announced that he took for his subject "The Farmer and the Fence," and proceeded to give a sketch of what he considered a South Carolina farmer. He represented him as borrowing money from year to year and giving up his crop to his creditors, and finally dying in debt

The Judge then went into the statis-

Col R. S. Bedon, from Colleton, said as a representative of Colleton, that they had passed, through untold trouble, and hope you will not force this matter upon us. When I tell you that the grass grows high and that cattle run at large and are fat, you will see the necessity for giving us a sufficient length of time to educate our people upon it. The question is one of fencing stock versus fencing crops. We say the obligation of fencing should be on the owners of stock. We agree with those advocates of the new law, but we cannot use it in our section. It is important to discuss the changes necessary and though no man has a right to turn stock on my land, yet the privelege has been so long used that a sudden change would be in the nature of a revolution, and would probably do more harm than good. Again, said the speaker in closing, I am in favor of the fence law myself, and know it will do great good in thos: counties where the people are prepared to adopt it, but I am sorry to say that Colleton is not one of those counties.

The Nathan murder, like the Charley Ross sensation, is a matter which will not keep quiet, but every now and then something regarding it is elicited. The latest report concerning this celebrated and mysterious crime, is that a man named James T. Huff, alias James T. Porter, has been arrested, who professes to know all about it. Huff is a noted confidence man and criminal. He was, it is said, the prime mover in the conspiracy to rob the tomb of Lincoln.

A revolution is reported to have broken out in the colored republic of Hayti, and stirring and bloody times may be expected if report be true. Latest news from there report the insurgents in force about ten miles from Port-au-Prince. A schooner laden with arms and ammunition for them was known to be in the vicinity, and a Haytian steamer-of-war had been sent to look after her. The city of Port au-Prince is declared in a state of siege. A large portion of the city was fired, and the conflagration continued for two days and had not been extinguished when the mail steamer left.

Gen. Field, of Fredericksburg, Va., has recently returned home from Egypt, where he held a high position in the army of the Khedive. His withdrawa from that army grew out of the Turko-1 Russian complications in which Egypt, through her vassalage to the Sultan, has been forced to take part. The American officers could not conscientiously take the field for the Crescent against the Cross, and so resigned. In fact, it is stated that about all the American officers in the Khedive's service have been gotten rid of in one way or another.
