The grand jury of Williamsburg county has been overhauling the bonds of the county officers and finds them almost worthless. They have, however, one thing to boast of over other counties, and that is a Probate Judge who cannot r ad and write.

The Attornev-General has brought suit against the bondsmen of ex-Comp troller T. C. Dunn, as receiver of Solomons' Bank for $25,000, the amount of his bond as such receiver, which, it is claimed, has been forfeited by his failure to discharge his duties and account for the property intrusted to his management. The value of the property is placed at $314,760. Dunn is absent from the State.

West Point is to have another colored cadet in the person of C. A. Minnie who won the appointment in a competitive examination in New York open to all. Minnie's record was so far ahead of all the other candidates that the Congressman who had the appointment was compelled to give it to him although a great pressure was brought to bear on him to prevent it.

A letter published today from Mr. Hutson gives a very satisfactory state ment of the present condition of the Prescott Fund, and of the faithful manner in which the Trustee has fulfilled his duties regarding his trust. The information will be gladly received by those of our citizens in Prince William's Parish who have felt aggrieved because they were not benefitted by the legacy of Mrs. Prescott, but who must now see that the only way it could be properly used was left to the discretion of the Trustee who has so ably fulfilled

F. Hay Gantt Esq. of Barnwell county has been appointed solicitor of this-the second-circuit in place of Lee resigned. Mr. Gantt was the Democratic nomince in the last campaign. "With but slender hopes of winning," says the Journal of Commerce "he entered into what was considered a profitless fight, and no more zealous or worthy worker shewed himself in that glor ous and exciting campaign. As a soldier he won distinction and eminent position. As a lawyer he has commanded the absolute confidence and respect of the bar for strict integrity, fine abilities, and a personal character far above reproach. The Governor has made a wise choice, and the administration of justice, in the Second Circuit will hereafter be something more than a mockery."

The famine now prevailing in the southern provinces of India is the most terrible of modern times; a region where famines are of frequent recurrence. The famine area contains a population of eighteen millions of inhabitants, of whom, says one account, a large proportion are dependent for their daily food on the exertions and activity of those who transport grain to the country. It is officially stated that the number of people now being fed is not less than a million and a half, while the deaths from want of food and the disease which famine engenders has been at least five hundred thousand.

The Democratic Convention of the State of Pennsylvania met at Harrisburg on the 22d, and after bitter speeches

The following resolution was adopted: "The Democratic party of Pennsylvania and its delegates in convention assembled do declare: First. That the induction of Rutherford B. Hayes into the office of President, notwithstanding the election of Samuel J. Tilden thereto, was a high crime against free government which has not been condoned and will not be forgotter. The same spirit of patriotism which forbore contest upo the first offence, will resist and punish any attempt at a second." The convention reaffirmed and adopted the financial resolution of the National Democratic platform adopted at St Louis in 1876.

The Chamber of Commerce (I presume) relied upon the knowledge and experience of Mr. Maillefert; they themselves had little, if any, personal knowledge of the bar of Charleston, and I suspect very few, if any, of them remembered that two boards of distinguished United States officers in 1852 had condemned all the Southern channels of Charleston bar, which includes the Pumpkin Hill Channel, and had pronounced it "inexpedient, not to say unwise, either to attempt to open or im-

"Advices from India report a steady increase in the cotton manufacturing interests of fithat country, and more machinery is being made at the present time, and has been for a year or more past for that far-off land than for America or any European city. Indeed, the mills of Manchester, England, and Lowell, Massachusetts, could find active employment to-day in India, whereas they now stand, for the most of the time idle. In the vicinity of Bombay, where there was once but two cotton manufactories, there are now about forty, and the progress is onward. England has lost her grip upon her hitherto lucrative India trade, and India is manufacturing for herself. It is a revolution in the trade, and the same revolution is being at 11 o'clock a.m. on Saturday September 1st 1877; every month more and more felt in our own Eastern manufactories. Where these once had an immensely profitable business with the South they now have next to no business, because of the South steadily building its own factories.
