PULL TOGETHER.
The prosperity of a town is not guarded by the wealth of its inhabitants, but by the uniformity with which they pull together when an important undertaking is to be accomplished. A man with a thousand dollars at his command and a love for his town in his heart can do more for its upholding than the millionaire who locks up his capital and snaps his fingers at home enterprise.

HARTH-BAXTER.

Columbians Bring Account of Marriage of Well Known Young Couple
Mrs. J. T. Harth, Mrs. Luther Garren and Miss Josephine Garren have returned home after attending the wedding Monday evening in Greensboro, N. C., of Mrs. Harth's son, William Henry Harth, to Miss Velda Baxter. It was a home affair at the residence of the bride's step father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Young, at Glenwood, just out of Greensboro, and the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock was followed by a reception for between 200 and 300 friends from the town and the country neighborhood.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Dr. Young, was smartly dressed in a French brown coat suit with hat, shoes and gloves to match and carried a bouquet of valley lilies and roses. Her maid of honor and only attendant was Miss Margaret gret Norfleet of Suffolk, Va., who wore a lovely pink evening gown of metal cloth and net and pink roses. Mr. Harth was attended by Charlton Keenan of this city as best man and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Walker, rector of the Episcopal Church of Greensboro. The house was elaborately decorated in sweet peas and carnations in a dainty pink effect.
Mr. and Mrs. Harth have gone to New York on their wedding trip and on their return will be at home at 1413 Hampton Street. Mr. Harth is the Columbia city electrician, a position which his father, the late, J. T. Harth, held before him.—The State.

CAYCE CO-OPERATIVE STORE.

The Cayce Co-operative Store is something new for Lexington county and promises to fill a long felt need in this community.

Most of the officers of the co-operative store are well known business men of Lexington county. Mr. T. I. Weston is president of the Weston & Broker Quarry Co., at Cayce, Mr. C. G. Guignard is connected with the Guignard Brick Works at New Brookland, Henry C. Moore is General foreman for The American Agricultural Chemical Company at Cayce, the people that make the Double A. Quality Fertilizer) Mr. Albert R. Taylor is a large and prosperous farmer near Cayce, Mr. J. H. Doyle is Master Mechanic for the S. A. L. Railway, at Cayce, Mr. Boyd Harrell is a well known business man of Cayce and for several years was manager of the Seaboard hotel, cafe and general mercantile business located at Cayce.

The following are some of the things they expect to do:
To start from a small beginning and gradually grow to a large and modern institution, handling food, clothes, fuel, hardware and all supplies needed in the community.

If we get together and pull together we will in time own our lot, store and plant.

The possibilities for accomplishment, co-operation and self-help are unlimited.

Let us all, each and every one, talk work, and promote in every way the Cayce Co-operative Store.

Wet Buckeye Hulls carry the feed perfectly

ROUGH-AGE is of little value if it allows the concentrated foods to sift to the bottom of the trough and become separated from it. There is no danger of this with

BUCKEYE HULLS
COTTONSEED LINTLESS

when they are wetted down a half hour or so before using. Then they combine more thoroughly and uniformly with the other forage than the old style hulls. Use Buckeye Hulls properly and you will find them a better roughage than old style hulls and far more economical.

Other Advantages

Buckeye Hulls cost much less than old style hulls.	2000 pounds real roughage to the ton—not 1500 pounds of roughage and 500 pounds of lint.
They allow better assimilation of food.	Sacked—easy to handle.
No trash or dust. No lint.	Take less space in the barn.

Mr. E. W. Leonard, Ellendale, Tenn.,

has been feeding Buckeye Hulls to three milch cows. He says that the cows are giving more milk and butter and are in fine condition. He prefers Buckeye Hulls.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free

Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.
