WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1918.

We know some folks who have been feasting on strawberries and cream for several weeks.

It does not require near so much meat to do us now as it did a year or two ago.

The people of Lexington are a music-loving people. If you do not believe it just look at the large number of music pupils the three instructors in the town of Lexington have.

The banks of the county are in a prosperous condition—all of them having plenty of money to care for the needs of their patrons and friends.

We notice through the daily papers that the Chester postoffice sold $768.60 worth of war savings stamps during the first ten days in April. We want to call attention to the fact that the Lexington post office sold over $4,400.00 worth during the first 15 days in April. And Chester calls herself a city.

There is every prospect for a splendid grain yield on the farms of Lexington. Wheat is said to be unusually good, and oats are looking fair. What a glorious blessing this will prove to be! The oat crop last year was practically a failure, and farmers felt the heavy hand of high price foodstuffs. With a good grain crop coming, with the finest prospects of a large fruit crop in recent years, with larders filled plenty of lard and bacon, together with well-filled corn cribs, the average Lexington county farmer has all to be thankful for and nothing to fear.

FARM LABOR SCARCE.

As was to have been expected, there is now a great scarcity of farm labor in Lexington County. We know a number of farmers who have been forced to keep their favorite mules and horses in the stable for the reason that there is no one to work them in harness. We know in some instances, too, where the women are going out into the fields to help their husbands till the soil—women who heretofore have remained in the home and cared for their children and looked after their domestic affairs. But the great war is being felt and the devoted women on the farm are doing splendid service.

DR. J. B. GEORGE PASSES INTO BEYOND.

Dr. Joseph Brown George died at his home on Washington street last Friday morning at 5:15 o'clock from heart trouble, from which he had suffered for two and one half years past.

The funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, conducted by Dr. J. W. Quillian and Rev. G. M. Eakes, following which the interment took place at Alta Vista cemetery.

Dr. George was a native South Carolinian and was born near Wall-halla, October 19, 1831; and was therefore in his 87th year when the end came. He was married to Miss Lelia May Quillian of Easley, S. C., May 20, 1858.

He came to Gainesville in April 1890, to become associated with Dr. E. E. Dickerson in the drug business, and a little later became a partner in the business under the name of E. E. Dickerson & Co.

After Dr. Dickerson's death in 1903, Dr. George became sole owner and changed the name of the business to George's Drug Store.

Dr. George entered the drug business early in life and to perfect and broaden his knowledge of this chosen profession, and that he might attain the highest possible degree of efficiency in his knowledge of drugs and their therapeutical action, he attended the medical college of Charleston S. C. and graduated as an M. D., returning at once to the drug business without becoming a practicing physician.

He represented the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association several times at the National Druggists Association meetings, and was president of the State Druggists' Association for a number of years. He joined the Presbyterian church early in life and was deacon in the Presbyterian church here for several years after which he was made elder faithfully filling this office until his death.

He was active in civic affairs and was head of the greater Chamber of Commerce when it was organized a number of years ago.

He took a keen interest in educational matters and was a trustee of Emma College and a director of the State Military Academy.

He was one of the organizers of the Citizens Bank and had since been one of its valued directors.

He was a perfect host and all in his neighborhood but few men have enjoyed such paths of esteem and confidence as he enjoyed throughout his life. For his life-long work well done he was honored in church, state, civic and social circles.

His counsel was sought on practically every subject of moment, and he was always freely and conscientiously given.

A man of such mental power and such business sagacity was naturally a financial success, but this is the least of his great achievements, for his spiritual and moral worth to the community were greater than the mind of man can measure, and his genial nature made him one of the most lovable of men.

Dr. George is survived by his widow and three children, Mr. Roy R. George, Miss Lillian and Mr. Joseph Brown George, Jr., all of this city; two brothers, Mr. R. E. George, of Atlanta and Mr. Frank George of Lexington; three sisters, Mrs. Edmond Dreher and Mrs. Alonzo Hartley of Lexington, S. C., and Mrs. R. T. Stewart of Liberty, S. C.—Gainesville Eagle, Gainesville, Ga.

NOTE—Dr. George was well known in Lexington where he had frequently visited relatives, and had many friends here who regret to learn of his death. He was a man of sterling character and valuable worth to his community as is evidenced by the high tribute paid him by his home paper, The Gainesville Eagle.

Arter Treatment for Pellagra, Took Tanlac to Restere Stomach

A Greenville Man Declares He Found Tanlac Fine Medicine and Says He Gladly Recommends It.

Regarding the great relief Tanlac gave him from stomach trouble, which after five years developed into pellagra, F. S. Crumley, of No. 8 Buncombe St., Greenville, gave the following statement: "I suffered from stomach trouble about five years and it run into pellagra. I spent several weeks at a Government pellagra hospital at Spartanburg, but after I came home what I ate continued to hurt me. Gas formed on my stomach and I had pains in my abdomen. My appetite was not good, and I could not rest well at night.

"I began to take Tanlac, and it soon corrected my stomach trouble. In a couple of days I could tell a big difference. My food was digested, gas stopped forming on my stomach and those pains left me. The worse soon got me so I could eat as well as anyone, my nerves were quiet and I began to sleep soundly at night.

"I had been buying medicine for years but had not succeeded in getting relief until with such relief.

Tanlac, the master medicine, is sold exclusively at the various Drug Co., chemists, druggists and Wholesale New Yorkland, S. C.
