Miss Elsie Geiselman, of Baltimore, who is in charge of this department has recently returned from the most up-to-date Hat Shops in the East, and is prepared to design and make up the latest styles in Millinery. You are cordially invited to join the big crowd of Ladies who will visit OUR STORE ON OUR MILLINERY OPENING DATES.

CAUGHMAN-KAMINER COMPANY

LEXINGTON, S. C.

REAL ESTATE IS ACUTE

Notwithstanding the fact that several new homes are now under way in Lexington and other in contemplation, the need for homes is still acute and persons desirous of locating here find it hard to secure quarters. The scarcity of labor and material during the war period suspended all building operations and although these are being gradually resumed there is still some difficulty in securing some classes of material. Work on the Corley Bros. building, which will be occupied by the James L. Tapp department store, which has been seriously hindered for lack of material, has been resumed with vigor and is being rushed. Other construction work is being carried along as fast as conditions will permit. It is hoped that by the late fall Lexington will be provided with a sufficient number of homes to accommodate all who desire to make the town their home. The high price of labor and material, as well the advance in the price of desirable lots, almost precludes the hope of having any homes erected for those who desire to rent because at prevailing prices the margin of profit for the landlord is not sufficient to tempt investors.

There is, however, considerable activity in the local real estate market and some changes have recently taken place.

Among those who have recently purchased homes in Lexington are Mr. L. L. Parker, lumberman, who bought the John H. Meetze home place, near the high school building. Mr. J. M. Peake, Jr., manager of the DuPre Auto Company, has purchased the home of Postmaster George and will move his family to Lexington shortly. The list of those who are erecting new homes contains among others the following:

Mr. Richard Hook now has lumber on the ground for the erection of a new home at the old home place of Capt. W. D. M. Harman on upper Main street.

Mr. James Fox is erecting a new residence near his old home.

The new bungalow which Mr. C. E. Leaphart is building near Dr. C. E. Leaphart's home, is nearing completion.

Mr. J. Simon Caughman is improving his dwelling by the addition of a second story.

There is also great activity in the market for lands and many tracts are being offered. The latest enterprise along this line is the Homeseekers Realty Company, which was recently organized for the purpose of buying and selling real estate. Col. T. C. Callison is the secretary and attorney and Messrs. C. J. Sox and J. H. Price are field agents.

The Home Seekers Realty Company Sells Land

Realizing the need of a live Real Estate Agency for Lexington County, and feeling that we can be of real service to the people by affording them a medium through which they may buy, sell or exchange real estate. For this reason has been created, and in entering into the Real Estate business we solicit the patronage of the people of Lexington County. We guarantee prompt service, fair dealing.

We invite parties throughout Lexington County to list their lands with us at once as we already have applications for places, and those desiring to purchase lands should call upon us and look over some of the tracts already in our hands for sale, a partial list of which follows:

Tract No. 1—212 acres one and one-half miles from Lexington, on public road, well watered; good buildings, land in high state of cultivation; good fish pond. The very place for an ideal home.

Tract No. 2—22 acres in the Town of Gilbert. Large dwelling; barns, outbuildings and water. Land in high state of cultivation.

Tract No. 3—112 acres eight miles west of Lexington on Columbia-Augusta National Highway, near Craps Cross Roads. Well improved; a great portion of this tract in high state of cultivation.

Tract No. 4—SOLD.

Tract No. 5—49.6 acres in lower part of county, lying on Southern railroad; good level land. This tract can be bought for only $20 per acre to quick buyer.

Tract No. 6—155 acres in lower part of county on Southern railroad, adjoining tract No. 5, good level land and dirt cheap to quick buyer.

Tract No. 7—27 acres lying on both sides of Columbia-Augusta highway, four miles west of Columbia. The location for truck growing. Better see this quick.

Tract No. 8—31 acres about five miles west of Columbia, near Columbia-Augusta highway, on Bear Branch; well adapted to truck growing, and in easy reach of market. This is the greatest bargain offered.

Tract No. 9—3.4 acres three miles west of Lexington on Columbia-Augusta highway; splendid location; covered with wood and saw timber.

Tract No. 10—Ninety (90) acres about seven miles from Columbia on Platt Springs road; good barn; 15 acres cleared and in high state of cultivation; enough timber to build house; near church.

Tract No. 11—One four-room cottage on North Depot street, in Town of Lexington.

Tract No. 12—One good six-room residence on acre lot on Hendrix street, good well of water, garden and orchard; good community; ideal home—better see us at once.

Tract No. 13—180 acres, 25 or 30 in cultivation, near Midway school house, four and half miles from Lexington, 6 good shanty houses and good barn on place; good springs and branch, plenty of wood.

For further information about selling or buying lands you should see T. C. Callison, Attorney and Secretary, or C. J. Sox and J. H. Price, Field Agents of The Home Seekers Realty Co., Lexington, S. C.
