

Columbia, Oct. 27.—School children all over South Carolina will soon be singing "Organize, Oh Organize," the battle song of the farmers, written by J. Skottowe Wannamaker, president of the American Cotton Association. The song is a stirring call to the farmers of the South organize. Copies of the song are being sent to all of the schools in the state and the teachers are being asked to distribute them among the children and to have them to sing it.

"All over the South today," says Mr. Wannamaker, "voices should be lifted up in these words to the tune of 'Maryland, My Maryland':"

Ye farmers of this mighty land,
Organize, oh organize;
Its bulwark ever more to stand,
Organize, oh organize.
For with the flag of right unfurled,
In spite of darts against you hurled,
You still must feed this hungry world.
Organize, oh organize.

If you would come unto your own,
Organize, oh organize;
Or be forever overthrown,
Organize, oh organize.
Yes, everywhere throughout this land,
The tillers of the soil must stand,
And be a firm, united band,
Organize, oh organize.

To firmly stand against each wrong,
Organize, oh organize;
Your only hope in union strong,
Organize, oh organize.
To break the bonds of slavery,
That bind you now from sea to sea,
And from oppression to be free,
Organize, oh organize.

Your calling was the first of earth,
Organize, oh organize;
And ever since has proved its worth,
Organize, oh organize.
Then come, ye farmers, good and true,
With good of all the world in view,
The die is cast, it's up to you,
Organize, oh organize.

Is there not need at this time of one great encompassing organization, well managed, well directed, which shall take cognizance of the unrest of millions and harness that unrest into greater happiness and usefulness, just as the genius of man has harnessed the wasteful waterfalls of yesterday and made them to do his bidding?

Hunger, disease and exposure were not all that Belgian children were subjected to, for enemy shells constantly dropped into what little of their country the invader did not hold. In this picture Red Cross nurses are seen taking some of the fifty babies from the American Red Cross nursery at La Panne into a bomb-proof structure as the Germans opened fire from the sea.

"The organization of the American Cotton Association is meeting with wonderful success. Farmers, merchants, bankers, and business men throughout the length and breadth of Dixie are behind this great movement. Men, women, girls and boys are talking about it. It will revolutionize the entire South. It will bring improvement that will result in blessings even to unborn generations. Many heroes are marching in its ranks. This great organization will long live in song and story."

ABERDEEN ANGUS SALE.

Clemson College, Oct. 24.—The general progress of livestock development and the rapid advance of the boll weevil are creating a much greater demand for breeding stock for purebred beef cattle in South Carolina. To help meet this demand a sale of Aberdeen Angus cattle will be held in Columbia, Nov. 7, at the State Fair Grounds.

This sale is put on by the American Aberdeen Angus Breeders Association, and the Extension Service Animal Husbandry specialists are calling particular attention to it as an opportunity to get good breeding stock for beef cattle. The cattle for the sale have been carefully selected by Dr. C. D. Lowe, a representative of the Association, and this fact insures first class offerings.

There will be on sale 22 cows, 18 heifers, 6 bred heifers, and 5 young bulls, a total of 51 head.

W. J. Sheely, beef cattle specialist of the Extension Service, expects to be at the sale, and his services will be available to farmers attending.

In this connection it is well to remind farmers wanting breeding cattle that the Extension Service Animal Husbandry forces are always ready to render every possible service in helping them to obtain good livestock.
