Three of Them.
Dearborn—Do you know the seven wonders of the world? Wabash—Well, I know three of them. Dearborn—Only three? Wabash—Yes; I've only got three sons, you know.

Utterly Unreasonable.
Mamma—Don't you like Auntie Prue? Johnny—Oh, she's very kind, but she'd expect a boy to keep quiet on Christmas.

The charity that hastens to proclaim its good deeds ceases to be charity and is only pride and ostentation.—Hutton.

Wonderful Mechanical Fines.
It is not necessary to remark, especially after one reads the following, that it taxes credulity to the utmost to believe some of the old time stories: John de Montroyal presented Emperor Charles V. with an automatic iron fly which escaped, circled around his majesty's head a few times and then alighted upon his sleeve. Virgilius, bishop of Naples, made an iron fly which did not only fly, but kept all other flies out of the city.

Jealousy is the greatest of misfortunes and the least pitied by those who cause it.—Rochefoucauld.

WORK FOR YOURSELF.

Then You Will Have a Chance to Develop Your Individuality.
It is well known that long continued employment in the service of others often cripples originality and individuality. That resourcefulness and inventiveness which come from perpetual stretching of the mind to meet emergencies or from adjustment of means to ends is seldom developed to its utmost in those who work for others. There is not the same compelling motive to expand, to reach out, to take risks or to plan for oneself when the programme is made for him by another. Our self-made men, who refused to remain employees or subordinates, are the backbone of the nation. They are the sinews of our country's life. They got their power as the northern oak gets its strength, by fighting every inch of its way up from the acorn with storm and tempest. It is the hard schooling that the self-made man gets in his struggles to elevate and make a place for himself in the world that develops him.

Some employees have a pride in working for a great institution. Their identity with it pleases them. But their main business is to save their own, which grows up from the acorn and to be self-reliant, better than being a dependent upon a large institution, where you are merely one cog in a wheel of a vast machine.

The sense of personal responsibility is to itself a great educator, a powerful schoolmaster. Sometimes young women who have been brought up in luxury and who have known nothing of work when suddenly thrown upon their own resources by the loss of property or compelled even to support their once wealthy parents develop remarkable strength and personal power. Young men, too, sometimes surprise everybody when suddenly left to carry on their father's business unaided. They develop force and power which no one dreamed they possessed.

We never know what we can do until we are put to the test by some great emergency or tremendous responsibility. When we feel that we are cut off from outside resources and must depend absolutely upon ourselves we can fight with all the force of desperation.

The trouble with working for others is the lack of opportunity to expand along original and progressive lines—because fear of making a mistake and apprehension lest we take too great risks are constantly hampering the executive. Success, the original faculties.—Success.

Cap'n Bill's Explanation.
After the visitors to the island of Nantucket had covered the course over which sightseers are always conducted, says a writer in the Boston Herald, one of the ladies of the party requested that the drive be continued to "Sheep pond."
"The place where the natives used to wash the wool on their sheep in the old days," she supplemented. "Everybody goes to see it."
The driver and guide, Cap'n Bill, looked perplexed. He was evidently puzzled as to the location of this interesting sheet of water. But an old sailor and town character is rarely nonplused, and presently Cap'n Bill snapped his whip, determination in his eye. He drove to a neighboring hill and stopped his horses.
"Here 'tis," he said, with a sweep of his hand.
"I don't see any water!" was the general exclamation.
"Not now," Cap'n Bill gravely admitted. "You see, the sheep was so dirty that the bloomin' pond got filled up!"—Youth's Companion.

The Great Clock at Rouen.
The ancient city of Rouen, France, owns the very earliest specimen of the larger varieties of the ancient clock makers' triumphs. It was made by Jehan de Felains and was finished and set going in September, 1389. So perfect in construction is this ancient time recording machine that, although it has been regularly striking the hours, halves and quarters for centuries, it is still used as a regulator. The case of this early horological oddity is six feet eight inches in height by five inches broad. For 325 years it continued to run without a pendulum, being provided with what the old time clock makers called a "foliot."

CLARENCE THRAIKILL KILL NOT SERVING SENTENCE

BY BEING AT WORK ON POOR HOUSE FARM--GOV. HEYWARD'S INSTRUCTIONS TO SHERIFF.
Gov. Heyward has written to the sheriff of Saluda county that Clarence Thraikill should be sent to the State penitentiary unless he is to be put to work with the chain gang of Saluda county. The contention over this matter has been on for some time. Gov. Heyward referred all of the correspondence to Attorney General Youmans who states in a letter received by Gov. Heyward yesterday:
"I am in receipt of yours of April 23rd enclosing letters from R. A. Cooper, solicitor Eighth circuit, and Mr. D. W. Padgett, supervisor Saluda county herein. You say the question at issue is whether or not work upon a county farm, (such as I understand the one in question to be), can be construed as hard labor upon the public works of the county? I concur with Solicitor Cooper that work upon a county farm cannot be construed as hard labor upon the public works of the county, and I am of the opinion that such work, which I understand is usually performed by the inmates of the poorhouse, is not carrying out the sentence of the court in this case."
Upon receiving this opinion from Mr. Youmans, Gov. Heyward wrote Sheriff B. F. Sample:
"Some time ago I referred to the attorney general's office letters of Solicitor Cooper and Supervisor Padgett in regard to the way in which the sentence of one Clarence Thraikill was being carried out in your county."
"The claim was made by the supervisor that in being assigned to work upon the county farm Thraikill was carrying out the sentence of the court. You will notice that the attorney general gives the opinion a copy of which I enclose you, this work upon the county farm cannot be construed as hard labor upon the public works of the county as required by the sentence."
"My direction to you therefore is to carry out the sentence of the court fully carried out in this case, and I would refer you to this sentence as recorded in the office of the clerk of court for Saluda county."

BAXTER AND HULON.

This is the first day of May, and if the last one is much hotter we will have to go to the Mountains or down to the Spring under the old maple tree
It seems like Summer, and the forest and fields look like it.
The Birds are singing and the Bees are swarming, indeed every thing has taken new life, the corn is up to a good stand and needs work.
The early planting of cotton is finished and before another change of the Moon cotton chopping will be in order
Mrs. J. D. Whittle of Blackville S. C. has been visiting her sister-in-law Mrs. Y. B. Watson, who still remains very low.
We are pained to chronicle the death of Nancy Lowman, which occurred on last Sunday Morning, in the State hospital where she had been for some time for treatment. Her remains were brought up on the late train from Columbia and met by the Edwards & Co. Hearse and carried to the residence of R. W. Boatwright, where they remained until Monday morning when the body was taken to St. Peters church and after a very appropriate ceremony conducted by Rev. Groseclose of Leesville, the body was laid to rest in mother earth to await the resurrection morn. The entire family attended her burial. She has one sister that preceded her to the spirit land she leaves three sisters and two brothers and a large circle of friends to mourn her loss.

RIDGE SPRING.

Messrs T. B. Edwards and Jesse Timmerman have recently returned from Nashville, Tenn., where they were called as witnesses in case in the Federal Court.
Cotton is coming rapidly on the market, and the large depot platform is crowded with bales to its utmost capacity.
Dr. Ed Quattlebaum of Columbia was over on a visit a few days ago.
There was an all day meeting at Dr. Creek Church, near here, last Sunday the occasion being the Anniversary of the Ladies Mission Society and the Sunbeam Mission Band.
