

YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

There are two ways to tell if you have weak kidneys. The first is backache. The second is a feeling of tiredness. If you suspect your kidneys, begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at once.

C. J. Shumaker, Church St., Tupelo, Miss., says: "My back was so sore and painful I could not work. I slept poorly, was nervous and easily started. After doctors without benefit, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and was soon a well man. I cannot recommend Doan's Kidney Pills too highly."

"What's in a Name?"

When you refer to pianos, there's a great deal in the name. The Steiff Piano has become a synonym for merit, and the name is a sufficient guarantee on which to purchase.

Motor Costume

A neat, natty and practical head-wear for women automobilists is this cap, which is modeled after the soft material college hats of dressy youths and retains all the jauntyness of the latter.

It is made of soft white felt, having a colored band; the veil being attached by an elastic silk weave; the color of both to match that of the machine.

The coat shown in the picture is of light weight Vienna, pliable and warm. It is cut pretty and has spacious pockets. The whole get-up is as workmanlike as it is fetching.

SAVE MONEY ON STOCKINGS
Judicious Selection Will Accomplish Wonders of Economy During the Year.

Many women do not give much thought to the matter of buying stockings. Their cost is so little that it would seem as if one could not save much, even if she were careful in this matter. But more can be saved by judicious selection than is thought, and in the course of a year or so this saving mounts up.

If suspension garters are worn, choose the double top, garter-welt stocking, and then do not fasten the garter below the garter top. Some buy the garter top stocking and then fasten the garter below it, where it immediately proceeds to tear out. Stockings without the garter top can be made strong at this point by running two or three rows of machine stitching where the garter fastens.

The white-foot stocking does not wear quite so well as the all-black foot. The white part is heavier than the black part, and is apt to break at the joining there is a slight thickening of the fabric scarcely visible to the eye, but the sensitive foot soon becomes conscious of it.

For an inexpensive dressy stocking the mercerized lisle is quite satisfactory. It has almost the luster of silk, costs little, and wears better.

EMPIRE BAG HERE TO STAY
In Present Stage It is Thing of Beauty and Joy of the Season.

There is no end to the variety of form and color assumed by the ever-increasingly popular empire bag. In its present stage it is a thing of beauty and a joy of the season, though, being a child of Dame Fashion, it cannot be a joy forever.

You have an idea how the money can be centered on the development of these handsome and thoroughly charming envelopes. Costly gilt ornaments are seen on many of the more elaborate ones, some of which are made entirely of gold, silver, copper or steel colored lace. Semi-precious stones are used to carry out a flower pattern or to lighten the effect of conventional designs. Inside are trappings of silver, gold or ivory, tiny vanity cases, mirrors, powder puffs, lip pencils and the like.

Another idea that has caught the fancy of the woman who counts not cost, is an empire bag of brocade, either velvet or satin, to match her hat or its trimmings. Usually this hat is one of the small bonnetlike models edged with bands of fur, such as moleskin, Persian lamb, chinchilla or ermine. A band of the fur outlines the bag and the flap, which buttons over envelope fashion. Of course, the plainest of autumn suits would assume a smart tone when worn with such ultra-fashionable foibles.

Bags of broadcloth of the same material as the suit have deep chenille fringes around the sides and bottoms, and correspondingly plain mountings of gun metal, old gold or frosted silver.

Any odd piece of silk or velvet picked up on the remnant counter may be transformed into a strikingly handsome empire bag in an afternoon. And there is a splendid chance for a display of individuality.

A PRETTY HAT.

Favorite Dishes.
A woman who enjoys having friends to lunch or dinner has the happy faculty of hitting on just the things her guests enjoy eating. For some years she has made it a point to jot down the favorite dishes of this friend or that in a tiny note book in her desk. When her cousin Molly is coming to lunch she looks up her name, and there finds recorded that the aforesaid Molly is particularly fond of custard desserts of any kind; clam is her favorite soup, and in meats she dotes on anything cooked en casserole. With these hints spread before her the matter of planning a meal is considerably simplified.

Another friend has often said she never tastes such pies as are served by her hostess; another likes tomatoes in any form, and still another prefers fish to meat.

The guests little know that they themselves have at some time given the hint as to their likings.

One sided disposition of frills and revers is a dominant note.

Washing New Curtains.
Before washing new lace curtains soak them overnight in water in which two heaping tablespoons of salt have been dissolved. This takes all the stiff dressing and lime out and saves much trouble when the actual washing is done.

Styles in Negligees.
The new season has opened up with few radical changes in style features, but with a stronger indorsement than ever of all kinds of the laces and soft clinging fabrics so favorable to negligee construction, says the Dry Goods Economist. Long tunics are again incorporated in the highest grade garments, all-over laces and fancy printed silks being largely used for these over draperies. While the strong colors are usually toned down considerably, brighter colors than usual are being shown this season, doubtless owing to the vogue of East Indian effects.

Longer Skirts.
The afternoon frock shows skirts just a little longer than we had in the summer. The innovation is to be greeted with joy, for the foot must be attractively shod and of the faintest proportions to withstand the shortness of the scant skirt that will ride up when the wearer is seated.

So longer skirts—and just a little fuller, if you would heed the mandate of the Paris designers.

MUSEUM OF LA PLATA, ARGENTINA

MUSEUM

LA PLATA, the second largest city of Argentina, is a university town of 100,000 inhabitants, suddenly become the capital of the province in 1882 by Dr. Alvear's growth of the important centers of the republic, not only scientifically, but for that which is to us foreign its halls of government and university. There is a museum in Argentina; but the museum of La Plata. Its population is 100,000; for it is not only a city, but a university which in the past has produced many of the nation's leading men, and its buildings, its parks and its avenues, render this fair city one of the most beautiful in the world.

The university of La Plata, when the former was founded on August 12, 1905, is a magnificent building, and its halls are filled with the most valuable and most useful articles of the older nations of the world. The museum of La Plata is a fine example of the science, to which the Argentine people have made such a contribution.

longed to South America. They represent man from the glacial period to the most recent Indian. It is quite probable that man, at various epochs, found himself driven by force of circumstances to the extreme south, and it thus happens that one finds in Argentina the remains of the gigantic Patagonian, such as excited the admiration of Magellan, as well as types said to be similar to that of Neanderthal. For Patagonian anthropology the museum of La Plata cannot be surpassed.

Another branch of anthropology of which the museum makes a specialty is that of the history of civilization. You will find here implements of the stone age, from Uruguay, from the provinces of Cordoba and Buenos Aires, and from Patagonia, that are quite unique, besides a section devoted to the prehistoric man of Europe for comparative study.

These remains of human industry appear to carry one back to a very remote antiquity. For instance, at excavations made for the port of La Plata bones of extinct animals were found that appeared to have been carved by man, at an epoch when the region must have been entirely different from what it now is, and at Rioja fragments of pottery were discovered at a depth of more than sixty meters. When it comes to determining the antiquity of man, the scientific value of such discoveries may be left to experts who, as a rule, are by no means harmonious in their conclusions, but further and more positive data must be awaited.

Neither has the moment arrived when the Argentine people have made such a contribution to the science of the world. The Argentine people have made such a contribution to the science of the world. The Argentine people have made such a contribution to the science of the world.

EVER TAKE A MUSIC BATH?

They Are as Good for the Soul, Holmes Says, as Water for the Body.

One must be educated, no doubt, to understand the more complex and different kinds of musical composition. Go to the concert where you know that the music is good, and that you ought to like it whether you do or not. Take a music bath once or twice a week for a few seasons, and you will find that it is to the soul what the water bath is to the body. I wouldn't trouble myself about the affectations of people who go to this or that series of concerts chiefly because it is fashionable. Some of these people whom we think so silly will perhaps find, sooner or later, that they have a dormant faculty which is at last waking up, and that they who came because others came, are listening with a newly found delight. Everyone of us has a harp under the bodice or waistcoat, and if it can only once get properly strung and tuned it will respond to all outside harmonies.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.
