TOWN CRIER.

Connecticut has gone Democratic by a small majority.

No election by the people in Rhode Island.

Old Tray, we have no doubt, was an honest dog, but it was his fault as well as misfortune to be found in bad company.

The Union Herald has called upon Judge Andrews to tell what he knows about the passage of "those claims."

The public schools in many of the districts have closed as a result of the information obtained at the trustee meeting of last Monday. The meeting was very successful in accomplishing its object.

We wish to explain to our readers the reason why several personal squibs appeared in our last issue. It is not our style to expose or attack any one unless first attacked or we see that the exposure is a matter of great public interest.

Orangeburg, April 6th, 1875. Editor Free Citizen:

Dear Sir:—Enclosed find an address written by William Auld and given to me just previous to his execution. I promised him that it would be published, so send your copy for Free Citizen.

Yours &c., J. S. ALBERGOTTI. WORDS OF WARNING, THANKS AND FAREWELL TO MY FRIENDS.

Orangeburg, C. H. S. C., Mar. 31, 1875.

My Friends:—I am truly sorry for the misdeeds which I have committed and brought disgrace to your county. I ask forgiveness of all, and especially the relatives of Butler Goldson and and hope that we may meet in heaven.

should be done to-day, for you may be disappointed in putting it off. I thank my Friends for their sympathy and visitations and prayers which they have made for me.

To Mr. J. S. Albergotti, Mr. Webster, Rev. Hough, Mr. Jno. Lucas, Mr. Hubbell, Rev. Mr. Brown, Rev. Campbell, Revs. Phillips, Young and Brisbane, my thanks to you all for your Gospel truths and for the great interest which you have taken to lead me into that everlasting light.

On Sunday last, Marshal Wolfe was informed by some of the workmen on Izlar & Dibbin's new office that a man was in this vicinity whom they recognized as one who had committed a murder in Augusta several months ago.

Banabus Williamson has sued the FREE CITIZEN for $20,000 damages done to his reputation! Think of the plethoric reputation of a county clerk being bled by a few squibs from our feeble organ to the tune of $20,000!

Next week we expect to publish the complaint of the same Banabus Williamson, omitting the chorus after the first verse. It displays great legal acumen, and is worthy the profound study of every aspirant to the legal profession.

All that we have said about said Barnabus Williamson has been stated from good motives and for justifiable ends and we have faith in our ability to prove in justification the truth of every assertion.

Senator Andrews introduced a bill passed through the Senate. Just resolution rebating the taxes on property lost by the late fire in our town, but the resolution was lost in the House.

We are quite willing to give Senator Andrews credit for any good work, and we object to the above extract only so far as it has a tendency to reflect upon the House delegation. A bill was introduced in the House to rebate the taxes on all the property destroyed by the fire, while the "joint resolution" provided for the rebate of taxes only on such property as was not insured.

Why the Ends do not Meet.

There are thousands of families in this country and abroad who have always difficulty in making ends meet. Many of them are diligent workers and earn well, but their purpose of cottage and comfort are frustrated, and their purses empty.

go on spending foolishly in the meantime. The wants of these people are never satisfied. Like spoiled children, that which hangs so gracefully upon the shoulders of rich neighbors they must have. Everything that contributes to manhood and independence is sacrificed in order to get it.

In the matter of domestic expenditures we have lost the common sense of our forefathers, and have consequently missed the contentment which distinguished them. We must, if we would be independent and able to help others, have reference again to first principles, and refuse to encroach upon capital, dealing sparingly even with the interest income.

What shall we say of that large class who daily waste, aye, worse than waste, dollar after dollar upon rum and tobacco? Who is surprised that these people after a while are unable to make ends meet, and that their families are thriftless and extravagant? There are thousands of families living in fashionable and expensive quarters, sweating and scheming to equal their neighbors in what is called gentility, ordering from the market canvass back ducks and the choicest cuts, who are wasting their substance and begging themselves.

St. Paul, had a trade. He always made the ends meet. He wasn't too proud to work at that trade for his daily bread even when he was the bearer of heaven's high commission. He would not be burdensome to any. Of course he never borrowed, for he always worked. No wonder the people were ready to give him themselves. St. Paul was a great doer. He had no difficulty in suiting himself to altered circumstances. He was content in any condition.

Do not, like our faculties, are from God, and if we misuse them, certain it is there will be difficulty in making the ends meet. There is nothing like the common sense of Christianity to make families comfortable. Investments for others never fail to dividends.

READ AN HOUR A DAY. There was a lad, who, at fourteen, was apprenticed to a soap dealer. One of his resolutions was to read an hour a day, or at least at that rate, and he had an old silver watch, left him by his uncle, which he timed his reading by. He stayed seven years with his master, and it was said when he was twenty-one he knew as much as the young squire did. Now let us see how much time he had to read in seven years, at the rate of one hour a day. It would be two thousand three hundred and fifty-five hours, which at the rate of eight hours a day, would equal to three hundred and ten days, equal to forty-five weeks; nearly a year's reading. That time spent in treasuring up useful knowledge will pile up a very large store. I am sure it is worth trying for. Try what you can do. Begin now. In after years you will look back upon the task as the most pleasant and profitable you ever performed.—Guiding Star.

Sensibility would be a good portress if she had but one hand; with her right hand she opens the door to pleasure, and with her left to pain.

God is on the side of virtue; for whoever dreads punishment, suffers it; and whoever deserves it, dreads it.

ADVERTISEMENTS. MISCELLANEOUS. THE SOUTHEASTERN ADVOCATE.

There is soon to be a paper entitled as above, issued from this office, and published in the interests of the M. E. Church in this portion of our work.

Since the unwise removal of the Charleston Advocate, our work has been enlarging and extending in this section and demands multiplying for a local organ. The Charleston Advocate was for two years published in Charleston. It was during this eventful period in the history of our cause in the South, one of the most important auxiliaries of our work. Its removal left a vacant place here which has not since been filled.

It will be larger than the FREE CITIZEN, will be
