X-Rays Remove Smallpox Scars.

It is alleged that applications of the X-rays will remove the marks left on the skin by smallpox. Not only are we told that experiments have been successful with patients just recovering, but there is also reason to believe that pitting of many years' standing may be removed. The old scars of burns and tuberculosis are also removed by the X-rays.

Gotham's Former Mayors.

New York has seven surviving ex-mayors—Gilroy, Ely, Grant, Van Wyck, Cooper, Edson, and Low.

Young women may avoid much sickness and pain, says Miss Alma Pratt, if they will only have faith in the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months. I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—Miss ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO YOUNG GIRLS.

All young girls at this period of life are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women. Her advice is freely and cheerfully given, and her address is Lynn, Mass.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminaries. Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality—often it is never recovered.

A Young Chicago Girl Saved from Despair.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more."—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 23d St., Chicago Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life; with it she can go through with courage and safety the work she must accomplish, and fortify her physical well being so that her future life may be insured against sickness and suffering.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above test-witnesses, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

WORKING BY THE DAY.

Scottish Farmer of Experience Shows what the Americans...
John D. Macmillan Jr. was talking to his Sunday school class about his industry.

"Our industry," he said, with a faint smile, "should not be of such a nature that the remark once applied to a certain Scot could ever be applied to us."
"I'll tell you what the remark I allude to was."
"Two old farmers were walking down a road near Dunfermline when one of them pointed to a distant field and said, shading his eyes from the sun:
"That figure over there—I wonder if it's a scarecrow."
"He stopped and regarded the figure very attentively for a space. Then he concluded, in a satisfied tone:
"Yes, it's not moving. It must be a scarecrow."
"But the other farmer had sharper eyes and a better understanding, maybe, of certain types of human nature."
"No," he said, dryly; "no, it's not a scarecrow. It's a man working by the day."

Beggars in Spain.

There are 190,227 professional beggars in Spain, of whom 51,948 are women. In some of the cities beggars are licensed to carry on their trade. Seeking alms is recognized as a legitimate business, and the municipality demands a percentage upon the collections. Seville is the only city in the kingdom which forbids begging in the streets.

New Orleans, La., has 19 negro labor unions, numbering 11,000 men.

A GRANT IN FEATHERS.

The Experience of Young Pierre Chartonne on Madagascar.

John R. Corbett in St. Nicholas.

PIERRE CHARTONNE was not by any means the least excited person in the French fleet which cast anchor in Rafala Bay, Madagascar, on a certain day some 300 years ago. Pierre was to go ashore for the first time in more than a year. The captain had promised that in the morning he would accompany the men who were going to look for fresh water.

The next morning, with his beloved blunderbuss borne upon his shoulder, Pierre stepped proudly on the beach, ready and anxious to meet the savage men and curious wild beasts he felt sure he was going to see.

Shortly before dinner time it was proposed that some of the sailors should try to shoot a few of the birds of which the forest seemed so full; for fresh meat to a sailor is one of the greatest of luxuries, and it seemed a pity to do without it when it was directly at hand. Her was an opportunity which Pierre did not let pass. He entreated his commanding officer so earnestly to let him be one of the shooting party that consent was given.

Pierre, blunderbuss in hand, and three sailors started for the forest.

An hour later, the three men hurried down to the beach laden with game, but without Pierre. Where he was they did not know; they had missed him more than half an hour before, and supposed he had returned to the beach.

"Here he is now," suddenly exclaimed one of the men.

And there, indeed, he was, hatless and in haste. As quickly as his short legs could carry him, he was tearing through the underbrush; and as he drew nearer the men on the beach could see that he was frightened.

When he reached the alarmed sailors, he sank, panting and exhausted, on the sand. To their hurried questions he could only gasp out, "After me!" and point to the forest. Whereupon they all gathered eagerly about him to hear his story.

"After we had gone about two miles into the forest," he began, "I left the others, because I thought we would see more game in two parties than in one."

"A little while after I had left them I saw what looked like a large round white stone in the thick brush. I thought I might as well find out what it was, and made my way to it, and I give you my word, it was a great big egg—almost as big as a tar-bucket. I made up my mind to carry it back to the ship to take home, though it was heavy; but while I stood with it in my arms, brushing off the dirt that was on the under side, I heard a rustling in the bushes, and then I thought there must have been a big bird to lay that enormous egg, and then I shook so that I nearly dropped the egg."

"I got behind a tree near by and stooped down so I could see through the bushes what kind of a bird was coming."

"I never saw such a thing in my life before! Maybe you won't believe me, but that bird made so much noise as it came through the bushes that I thought it was a herd of cattle. And when it came to where I could see it, each of its legs looked as big around as my leg, and it was as tall as a small tree. And such a beak as it had!"

"It went directly to the spot where the egg had been, and then I was frightened, for I knew if it caught me with the egg I'd be eaten up in a minute. But I didn't dare to move. When the monstrous creature missed the egg, it set up an awful squawk. Then I dropped the egg and ran in the direction that seemed the clearest of trees."

"The bird ran, too, for I could hear it crashing through the bushes, and I expected every minute to be taken in its big mouth. By and by I couldn't run any more, and fell down, when five big birds similar to the one I had already seen came leaping along straight at me."

"I lifted my gun, but before I could shoot, the first bird had run over me and knocked me down."

"I jumped up and ran, and I didn't stop running till I found you, and here I am."

"Is that all?" asked one of the men, sarcastically, when Pierre had ceased speaking.

"Yes," answered the boy.

"Well," said the man, "if I were going to make up a yarn I'd try to have it reasonable, or end in something exciting."

"But I didn't make it up!" exclaimed Pierre, indignantly.

"All I'm sorry for," said one of the men, "is that he didn't bring the egg with him. It would have made such a rare omelet."

"As this the sailors laughed.

As long as Pierre lived he was known as Big-Bird Pierre, for he could get nobody to believe him. Since his time, however, more has been learned of Madagascar, and though nobody has seen a living bird such as Pierre described, eggs and skeletons of birds have been found, and, judging from them, it is no wonder that the little French boy was frightened.

The egg is larger than a football and would, it is calculated, hold as much as 160 hens' eggs. As for the bird, it was of the same family as the ostrich, but was more than twice as tall, and proportionately heavier, so that, towering as it did a man's height above the tallest elephant, it must have been a startling bird to see for the first time unexpectedly.

The aporornis, as the bird is called, does not exist now, but Mr. Wallace, the great naturalist, thinks that all the indications are that it may have lived within the last two centuries.

A Brussels expert, M. Paul Ollivier, estimates that from the invention of printing, in the middle of the fifteenth century to January, 1900, 12,163,000 different books have been issued. He also estimates that about 200,000 books are now annually used.

PACER OF REGENT ORIGIN.

No Facing Horrors of Consequence in the North West 1878.

Although pacing antedates trotting by several hundred years, and the first horse races on this continent were the Narragansett pacers, it is curious to observe that the popularity of pacing races is of comparatively recent origin. Descendants of the Narragansett were seen in the States bordering on the Atlantic Ocean years before, as well as at the time when trotting races first received popular approval on Long Island, at Boston, Philadelphia, Trenton and other points in the Eastern States. These pacers, as a rule, were very speedy, but for some reason the public did not care for pacing races, and except at some unimportant meetings, where contests between local pacers and trotters were arranged, there were no pacing races of any consequence in the Northern States until 1878.

Notwithstanding the fact that the development of the pacer was handicapped by reason of there being no classes made for him in the early history of light harness racing, still there were people in those days who loved the lateral gait, and occasionally fitted a horse of this kind for racing. Although until the past few years the trotters acquiring standard records outnumbered the pacers many times, yet from the beginning the pacing gait has ever been the faster.

What effect the barring of the pacer from racing contests and the prejudice against him by prominent breeders and horsemen had upon the evolution of the two minute harness horse years before he finally appeared is a matter of conjecture. But that many of the performers who are compelled to adopt an unnatural trotting gait by wearing so much weight on their front feet as greatly to handicap their speed development, would have made much lower records at pacing than they did at trotting there can be no doubt. Smugler was a natural pacer, and it was said could show two-minute speed at the pace when not carrying weight. But, as when he was at the meridian of his prowess, the trotting gait was the more popular, he was made to carry fully two pounds on each front foot in order to make him trot, and with this burden he trotted a mile and acquired a record of 2:15½, which was at least ten seconds slower than his known ability at the pacing gait when not thus handicapped.—Illustrated Sporting News.

The Shetland Pony.

When at home the pony is left very much to himself, and during his earlier years runs wild. But he is easily reformed, and speedily abandons his wild and odd ways and becomes a devoted friend of man and an admirable worker. So great is their affection for the ponies that the islanders never kill them, but when they are too old for work they allow them to roam to the fields and hills and live out the rest of their days in peace. Sometimes the old animals, in their wanderings for food, will fall over cliffs and so perish. They still reach the age of thirty years or more in their native land, and there is a case on record—but it is probably apocryphal—of a Sheltie which lived to be a hundred years old.

Like every other good thing for which a demand has arisen, the prices of Sheltie have increased in recent years. There has been for a considerable period a large export trade in the ponies, of which there were at one time 10,000 in the islands, but, according to Government returns, the number is now about half. In the eighteenth century it was possible to obtain a good Sheltie for fifty shillings (about $12), and the average price in 1800 was $3 more. Half a century ago a pony could be bought for from $7 to $30, but in 1871 males ranged from $40 to $50, the mares fetching only half that sum, as they were not suitable for pit work, for which the Shelties were most needed. Since then prices have greatly advanced, and large sums are obtained for choice specimens of the pony, especially when they are wanted for children's use. A yearling will now command from $50 upward, and a four or five year old, and does not reach maturing until it is aged eight or nine years.—Illustrated Sporting News.

Watches blower at Night.

"You know that the vital energies are at lower ebb at night than in the daytime," said an old watchmaker. "Would you believe that some watches—especially the cheaper ones—are similarly affected."

"You know a good watchmaker always wants several days in which to regulate a timepiece. That is because the only way to regulate it properly is to compare it with a chronometer at the same hour every day. Otherwise the variations in the speed of the watch will baffle his efforts."

"The man to whom I was apprenticed told me this, and I thought the idea absurd. We were working late one night, and he called my attention to a lot of watches we had regulated and ready to deliver."

"The better timepieces had lagged behind some seconds. The cheaper watches were a minute or more out of the way. Next morning every one of the lot was exactly right."

"The fact is you can regulate a watch to make exactly twenty-four hours a day, but you can't persuade it to make just sixty minutes in each of the twenty-four hours. Why this is so no one can tell."—New York Times.

The Cat's Cleanliness.

The most fastidious mammals in matters of the toilet are to be found among the members of the cat family, as all must have noticed in domestic tabbies. The rough tongue makes an excellent brush, while the sharp claws are on occasion employed by way of combs, all these invaluable aids to cleanliness and neatness possessing the further advantage of always being at hand when required.

A healthy cat is not only clean but feline, not to say vain about her (or his) personal appearance. And (more) degeneration in pussy is accompanied by neglect of personal grooming. That the dog is as dirty as a boy must reluctantly be confessed. He was the first animal to be domesticated, and long association with man has perhaps led to do with his carelessness in the matter.—London Mail

UTILIZING THE SUN'S RAYS.

Cheap Fuel Used by Residents of Southern California.

The residents of Southern California have gone into partnership with the sun. There the sun is more plentiful than coal, and so they put the former to work, utilizing the heat rays for many purposes, one of which is known as the "solar water heater."

By the plan they have adopted they make the sun heat the water in the kitchens and bathrooms in the houses and for other domestic purposes. In California and other states where the sun may be depended on the item of fuel is entirely eliminated, and however cheap fuel may be, no fuel is cheaper than the sun.

The domestic arrangement for keeping water hot at all hours of the day or night is effected by inserting in the roof a solar heater, consisting of a number of mirrors reflecting the sun's rays, so that the heat is concentrated upon the water in metallic troughs, which absorb the heat rays and soon bring the water to a nearly boiling temperature.

Value of Eggs as Food.

The more thoroughly an egg has been cooked the more severe is the labor demanded of the stomach. If we would get from this article of food its utmost value it should be eaten either raw or underdone. Hard-boiled eggs are suggestive of picnics and dyspepsia. Raw eggs is a splendid stimulant when one is exhausted from any cause, whatever. It is by no means unpalatable when eaten with salt, pepper and a dash of vinegar. For weakly children raw eggs beaten with milk make a first class food. The mixture may be sweetened with sugar, and it is best to give it in small quantities at short intervals. The flavor is improved by adding port wine. One tablespoonful of wine will suffice for one pint of the mixture. The formula would run: Two raw eggs, one tablespoonful of wine and sufficient milk to make one pint.

TIME TO ACT.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures catarrh of the bladder, prostate gland, and urethra in any case it falls to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Having a Pic-nic.

There is something particularly enjoyable about going to a Pic-Nic. The very word Pic-Nic brings pleasant anticipations of a good time. The idea of going out to the woods and fields or down by some brook or lake, with luncheon to be served on the grass and under the trees, has a peculiar fascination. The fresh air and exercise are a relief to the weary appetite, and all and everything at luncheon seems far better than the finest course dinner that a French chef ever served. Wooden dishes supplant Dresden china, and paper boxes silver trays, when the "good things to eat" are spread upon the ground.

Pic-Nics are never complete without the sandwiches, sweet white bread with a generous layer of meat between. Libby's canned meats are ideal for Pic-Nics and outings. The cans are so easily opened and the contents so fresh and palatable that Pic-Nics are a success. Write about Libby's "Natural Flavor" Food Products.

DOCTOR ADVOCATED OPERATION—PE-RU-NA MADE KNIFE UNNECESSARY.

MRS. EVA BARTHO, 133 East 12th St., New York City, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for three years with leucorrhoea and ulceration of the womb. The doctor advocated an operation which I dreaded very much, and strongly objected to. Now I am a changed woman. Peruna cured me; it changed my bottles, but I felt so much improved I kept taking it, as I dreaded an operation so much. I am to-day in perfect health and have not felt so well for fifteen years."—Mrs. Eva Bartho.

Mrs. Senator Roach, of Larimore, N. Dak.; Mrs. Senator Warren, of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Elna Lockwood and Mrs. General Langstreet, of Washington, D. C., are among the prominent ladies who endorse Peruna.

Miss Helen Rolot, Kaukauna, Wis., writes: "Several times during the past two years or more my system has been greatly in need of a tonic, and it those times Peruna has been of great help in building up the system, restoring my appetite and securing restful sleep."—Helen Rolot.

Miss Muriel Armitage, 36 Greenwood Ave., Detroit, Mich., District Organizer of the Royal Templars of Temperance, writes as follows: "I suffered for five years with uterine irregularities, which brought on hysteria and made me a physical wreck. I tried doctors from the different schools of medicine, but without any perceptible change in my condition. In my despair I called on an old nurse, who advised me to try Peruna. She promised good results, if I would persist and take it regularly. I kept this up for six months, and steadily gained strength and health, and when I used five bottles I considered myself entirely cured. I am a grateful, happy woman to-day."—Miss Muriel Armitage.

Miss Lucy M. Riley, 33 Davenport St., Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "I wish to add my indorsement to thousands of other women who have been cured through the use of Peruna. I suffered for five years with severe backache, and when wearied or worried in the least I had prolonged headache. I am now in perfect health, enjoy life and have neither an ache or pain, thanks to Peruna."—Lucy M. Riley.

It is no longer a question as to whether Peruna can be relied on to cure all such cases. During the many years in which Peruna has been put to test in all forms and stages of acute and chronic catarrh no one year has put this remedy to greater test than the past year.
