Germans Crushingly Defeat the Hostile

Natives.

THE CONFLICT LASTS ALL DAY

Ges. von Trotha Doubtiess Will Follow up Success and Pialsh the Robellion With the Waterberg Campaign-It Sooms Impr That Many of the Nativos Can llave Escape Through the German Porces.

Berlin, (By Cable) .- Four columns of German troops attacked the hostile natives known as Hereros, near Hame akari, German Southwest Africa, on the night of August 11.

The fighting continued all the next day. The natives were defeated with heavy losses.

Five German officers, including Count von Arnim, and 19 men were killed.

Six officers, among thom Baron vo Water, and 52 men were wounded, Two are missing.

Thousands of cattle are missing. General von Trotha, sending the particulars of the battle from Hama-kari, adds that his soldiers fought with the greatest bravery. The natives, who numbered about 6,000 fighting men, under old Chief Samuel Maherero, to whom the younger leaders turned after their former reverses, were concentrated in the Waterberg Mountains. With their women, children and flocks they occupied a plain of meadowland roughly estimated at 250,000 acres, on which they had 50,000 head of cattle and 50,000 sheep and goats. The approaches to the plain were difficult passes, so that the Germans had severe work forcing them. The number of the Germans in the fighting is not accurately known, but as nine companies and four and onehalf batteries, with some irregular troops, were engaged the total probawas about 2,000 men. bly

Deserters from the Hereros reinforcements at Swakopmund caused great depression in the native camp Chief Samuel spent much time in have ing the Bible read to him.

General von Trotha will doubtless follow up his success and finish the revolt with the Waterberg campaign. It seems improbable that many of the natives can have escaped through the German forces holding the mountain passes.

Japanese guns dominate the dock yards at Port Arthur, and in view of this fact it would seem to be impossible again to make seaworthy or fight-able the Russian battleships which have returned to Port Arthur. It is probable that the Russian battleship Czarevitch will disarm at Tsingchou. The best possible naval force that Russia can now concentrate at Vladivostok is four cruisers.

In the fight of August 10 the squad-ron under Admiral Togo was practi-cally uninjured. The battleship Mika-sa suffered the most, but she continues on the fighting line.
