

* SUPPLEMENT TO The People *

CAMDEN, SOUTH CAROLINA, OCTOBER 27, 1904

PERSONAL.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. Benton Bruce spent Tuesday in Bishopville.

—Mr. O. F. York has returned from a trip to Yorkville and other points.

—Miss Mary Young left Tuesday morning for Jacksonville, Fla., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Gus Young, who visited Camden a few weeks ago.

—The many friends of Master Waddy Hinson are glad to see him out again after a severe illness of a couple of weeks.

—Mr. K. G. Whistler and family have returned to the city from their Summer outing. All of their numerous friends are glad to have them with us again.

—We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. John C. West of Greenville, Fla. the other day and call him Frank. He left us more than fifteen years ago, and very soon made us aware of the fact that his name is J. C. and not J. F. He is down properly on our subscription books, and his life insured for one year.

—Mr. W. N. McNeil, Road-Master of the S. A. L. between this point and Hamlet was with us on Monday night. He is not only pleasant but companionable, and we will be glad to see more of him in the future.

Tailoring! Tailoring!

We hereby announce that we are prepared to do all kinds of tailoring. Dyeing a specialty. Prompt attention given to all work and satisfaction guaranteed. We respectfully solicit your patronage. Lower Main St., opposite bakery.

The One Day Cold Cure.

For colds and sore throat use Kermott's Chocolates Laxative Quinine. Easily taken as candy and quickly cure.

Respect For the Living.

"Did you go to the funeral?" one woman asked another. "Yes," was the reply. "I always feel it a duty to go to funerals and show my respect for the dead." The two moved on, but their conversation started a train of thought within me. Is it always a tribute of respect to go to funerals, irrespective of persons, as I am aware this woman does? No matter what the rank of the deceased, or how slight her acquaintance, whether private funeral or not, rain or shine, her presence may be counted upon.

It may be gratifying to the vanity of some to have a large crowd at the funerals of their beloved dead, but to most sensible people the occasion is too sacred and the sorrow too real to care for the sympathy of casual acquaintances. Friends' faces are always welcome during bereavement, and it is dutiful and beautiful to express a word of hope when most needed and to accompany the stricken ones to the last resting place of the dead. But what about the living around us, who are full of life and ambition, or those burdened with sorrow none may guess? Why not give them "a glad good morning," or an hour or two of your society at a time you feel they must be lonely? Wait not until death comes and then rush to the funeral as though you had always been a most cherished friend. I like it not—this custom prevalent in small towns which permits any and all to attend the funerals of those to whom they are almost unknown and whose motive for going is often only curiosity.—Housekeeper.

The One Day Cold Cure.

Cold in head and sore throat cured by Kermott's Chocolates Laxative Quinine. As easy to take as candy. "Children cry for them."

BREVITIES.

—The Democratic voters of South Carolina have not the slightest excuse for allowing even the shadow of a contest in the election of Congressmen in the coming election. Turn out and vote, and you can tell a Republican Congress to stand from under.

If the qualified voters of the Democratic party turn out and vote on election day as they should, we can safely tell those coons and semi coons who are oppsing the election of our nominees to go back to the farm or work-shop where they belong.

—Teddy Roosevelt may be elected. We are very much afraid that he will, but we do not want the shame and discredit of having any excuse given by our people of the fifth district for the seating of a negro contestant for the seat of Congressman Finley. Turn out and vote.

—Don't fail to read the little item on our first page, "Awed by Sight of Wealth." It reminds us forcibly of a tale that used to be told by Levin Roberson. Numbers of our citizens will catch the point.

—Where is your registration certificate? If you have one, and don't use it in the election of November 6th, you are not the good citizen that Kershaw County needs at this crisis.

—Are you a qualified voter? If so, turn out and vote in the election now pending. Don't plead your private business as an excuse for not performing your duty. An hour or more more or less doesn't amount to a row of pins when compared with the fact that you owe a solemn duty to your country.
